Nationalist Hail U. S. Decision To Repel Red Thrust

TAIPEH, Formosa, Sunday, Jan. 29 (AP)—News of final United States approval of the resolution for defense of Formosa was greeted with satisfaction and relief by Nationalist Chinese.

The action, not unexpected, gave President Eisenhower authority to use American armed forces to evacuate Chinese Nationalist troops from the Tachen Islands.

There was no apparent rush to get such action under way. Unofficial quarters said the movement probably would start sometime this week.

The first artillery firing between the Tachens and Yikiangshan since the Reds captured the latter island Jan. 18 broke out yesterday, it was reported early today by the official Central News Agency.

Communists on Yikiangshan shelled upper Tachen Island Saturday and drew a vigorous response from Nationalist guns, Central News said.

Between 8:30 and 10 a.m. Communist artillery on Yikiangshan fired more than 40 shells sporadically at the hills on the northeastern area of upper Tachen.

Nationalist artillery replied immediately. The gunfire could be heard clearly on lower Tachen, Central News reported. At 3 p.m. the Communists on Yikiangshan resumed shelling and firing was still going on at 5 p.m. with Nationalist artillery retaliating heavily.

On Friday night Nationalist warplanes attacked six Red vessels in the Tachen area. The type of ships was undetermined but returning pilots said fires were started on all six after an interception attempt by Red planes failed, the Defense Ministry said.

Press reports said too that the Communists still were pouring men and equipment into Yikiangshan. In some quarters the lull in military action by the Reds was regarded as of possibly sinister portent.

Walter Koch To Take Post Here Feb. 1

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 29 (Special) — After five and a half years as industrial development director for the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce, Walter B. Koch will leave the organization February 1 to take a similar position in Monroe, La.

Kentucky's strides in industrial expansion and community development since Koch joined the KCC staff in 1949 have attracted nationwide attention, and various phases of the Kentucky program have been taken as patterns by agencies of other states.

Since 1949, some 345 major businesses have located in Kentucky or have expanded their existing Kentucky plants. Almost two billion dollars has been invested in new or expanded industrial plants, and 59,000 new industrial jobs have been created. Fifty - five of the state's county seat towns, which had no manufacturing plant before 1949, now have one or more industrial payrolls.

Closely related to the industrial development program and contributing substantially to its success, the KCC community development program has resulted in measurable improvement of scores of communities throughout the state. The annual KCC - sponsored community development contest has attracted entrants in increasing numbers until this year's contestants total 108 and represent 92 counties.

Koch developed the Kentucky Chamber's "Maid Street Modernization" program, which has led to general improvement of business districts in many Kentucky towns and to improved sales techniques and other phases of commercial merchandising.

He also sparked the drive for enactment of House Bill 326 by the 1954 Kentucky General Assembly. This is a bill enabling insurance companies to purchase real estate in Kentucky for investment purposes, thus opening a new source of industrial financing.

"Walter Koch has been a valuable member of the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce staff," Harper Gatton, executive vice president of the Chamber, said. "His vision, wise planning, and tireless energy have contributed to many

AEC Executive To Quit Job Next May

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission confirmed today that Maj. Gen. Kenneth D. Nichols is resigning as its general manager about May 1 to enter private employment.

A commission spokesman said he had no further information on Nichols' plans, nor on his successor in the AEC post, which carries a maximum salary of $20,000 a year. The spokesman said the resignation was for personal reasons "and has nothing to do with any controversies inside or outside the commission."

President Signs Document, Warns Red Aggressors

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 (AP)—With his signature, President Eisenhower today attained complete, push-button power to fight Red China if necessary in defense of Formosa. He called this a step for peace in the war-charged area.

"We are ready," he said, "to support a United Nations effort to end the present hostilities in the area, but we also are united in our determination to defend an area vital to the security of the United States and the free world."

Eisenhower, Secretary of State Dulles and the Joint Chiefs of Staff had already worked out orders for initial use of the special authority—overwhelmingly voted by Congress.

Informants said the first problem was use of the U.S. 75th Fleet with air cover for evacuation of the division of Chinese Nationalist troops from the Tachen Islands,

U. N. Meeting On Cease-Fire Starts Monday

Both Nationalists And Red Chinese Voice Opposition

UNITED NATIONS, Jan. 29 —UP— The western powers went ahead Saturday with plans for a United Nations Security Council meeting Monday to discuss a Formosa area cease-fire despite flat rejection of the idea by both the Chinese Nationalists and the Communists.

Communist China will be invited to send representatives to New York to argue the case before the United Nations, which has repeatedly voted against seating the Chinese Reds as UN members.

Peiping radio broadcast another tirade against the United States Saturday, vowing to "strike back with heavy blows" if U.S. armed forces "dare attack Communist forces attempting to liberate" Formosa.

At the same time the Nationalists reiterated their "irrevocable" opposition to UN attempts to bring about an armistice in the Formosa area, maintaining that they had the right to reconquer the Chinese mainland—the same way the Reds do it—by force.

Despite the flat opposition of both belligerents, there was no let up in UN efforts to get a cease-fire. Sir Leslie Knox Munro of New Zealand, Security Council president for January, was expected to take the lead in inviting the Reds to send representatives to the debate, with India playing a prominent role as go-between.

Munro made it clear that the UN debate does not involve Formosa or the nearby Pescadores Islands, which President Eisenhower has been given congressional permission to defend. He said the debate will be confined to the "question of hostilities in the area of certain islands off the coast of mainland China."

The Security Council meeting was expected to be taken up by the adoption of an agenda and the sending of the invitation to Red China. It has been announced the invitation will not be vetoed by either the United States or Nationalist China. The council then would adjourn for sufficient time to allow the Communists' representatives to arrive here.

The Red rejection of a cease-fire was announced through the official government organ Peiping Peoples' Daily. The Nationalist position was explained in a United Press interview with a high-ranking government official.

Senator Warns Against Islands-For-Peace Swap

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 (AP)—Sen. Knowland (R-Calif), declared today that the price of a cease-fire between Red China and the Nationalists must not be an agreement to "pour more free territory down the Communist drain."

After a discussion with Secretary of State Dulles, the Senate Republican leader said he would oppose vigorously any move within the United Nations to surrender coastal islands to the Communists.

The U.N. Security Council meets Monday to discuss the possibility of obtaining an agreement to halt hostilities in the area that includes the Chinese Nationalist-held islands of Quemoy and Matsu. These outposts were included in authority given President Eisenhower by Congress to defend Formosa, Chiang Kai-shek's stronghold, and its approaches.

Without divulging Dulles' attitude, Knowland said he is convinced that "some of our allies"—and he specifically included Great Britain—are going into the meeting with the idea of bargaining outpost islands away to the Communists in return for a cease-fire.

"What they are proposing is that we pour more free territory down the Communist drain," Knowland asserted. "This is appeasement in its baldest form. It would be a pitiful proceeding if the Security Council decided to pay this sort of tribute to the Communists before the Reds even agreed to discuss a cease-fire."

The Peiping radio said the idea of a cease-fire with the Nationalists was "absolutely unacceptable," adding in a broadcast heard in London:

"We are determined to liberate Formosa. If the U.S. Armed forces dare attack us, we will firmly strike back with heavy blows."

In approving New Zealand's call for Monday's Security Council meeting to discuss a possible truce, Sir Anthony Eden, Britain's foreign secretary, pledged that Red China's claim to the off-shore islands now held by the Nationalists would receive fair consideration if the Communists join in the talks.

Knowland said he was "deeply concerned by the apparent viewpoint of some of our associates that any cease-fire discussions must be linked up with Chinese Nationalist withdrawal from these coastal islands."

He said that while Quemoy and Matsu may not be absolutely "vital" to the defense of Formosa, they are important because they command the ports of Amoy and Foochow, "where ultimately will be concentrated the invasion fleets of the Chinese Communists if they strike."

AT NEW TASK—Former U. S. Senator Robert C. Hendrickson of New Jersey has been nominated by President Eisenhower to be Ambassador to New Zealand.

Fast Progress In Nuclear Weapons Revealed By AEC

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission today held out the prospect of new "major developments" in the field of atomic weapons.

AEC said in a semiannual report that "new areas of research" were opened by last spring's Operation Castle tests in the Pacific.

It said also new tests to start in about two weeks at the Nevada test site are needed "to obtain scientific knowledge essential to development and utilization of nuclear weapons for defense of this nation and the free world."

AEC gave no details in the report and officials declined to elaborate on it.

There was unofficial speculation, however, that the "new areas" might have to do with (1) long-range hydrogen bomb guided missiles, (2) shorter-range missiles aimed at knocking down atomic-armed aerial invading craft, or (3) better ways of making atomic weapons.

Air Secretary Talbott told the House Armed Services Committee last Thursday this country has made a "marked advance" in a race with Russia to develop intercontinental missiles with atomic warheads.

Another possibility—that some sort of super hydrogen bomb might be in the works—appeared less likely. AEC Chairman Lewis Strauss has said there seems to be no need to develop a more powerful bomb than the existing type. Similarly there have been official throwdowns of speculation that an ultrapowerful cobalt bomb —which in theory could wipe out all life on earth—might be under study.

Today's report, covering the last half of 1954, said in part:

"Operation Castle, conducted in the spring of 1954 at the Pacific proving ground was the most extensive series yet conducted there.

"The evaluation of the results during this reporting period confirmed the pre-Castle promise if most significant progress in design, development and proof test of weapons."

As a result the weapons program was "directed toward new areas of research opened up by the Castle information that hold promise of additional major developments, and toward the stockpiling of weapons adding large potential to our defensive power," it added.

The AEC report gave these other progress highlights of the nation's atomic energy program, which it said has cost $13,200,000,000 since its beginning in World War II:

1. "Added emphasis" on peacetime uses of atomic energy as a result of new authority given by the Cole-Hickenlooper Act of 1954.

2. Greater participation by private industry in atomic development, especially in experimental production of atomic power for commercial use. The report said AEC now has "evolved a pattern for research and development from which it believes will come nuclear power plants that will

Slain Playboy's Mother Reveals Possible Clue

Angry Voices In Son's Apartment Night Of Slaying

NEW YORK, Jan. 29 (AP) —Serge Rubinstein's mother told reporters today she heard angry voices of strange men in their home a few hours before the financier was found bound, gagged and slain.

Mrs. Stella Rubinstein, 78, spoke to reporters at the funeral home where the body of the dead financier lay.

Later an official said she had told authorities about the voices on Thursday, the day of the murder.

The official quoted Mrs. Rubinstein as saying that when the voices woke her up, in her bedroom one flight above her son's, she turned the light on.

Then, hearing nothing further, she turned the light off and went back to sleep.

Mrs. Rubinstein said she could not say whether one of the quarreling voices was her son's.

She said she heard the voices about 1 a.m.

But according to one of Rubinstein's girl friends, he did not leave a night club until 1:30, and it was 2 a.m. before he and the girl finished a nightcap at his home and she left.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Alexander Herman said that Mrs. Rubinstein had told police she heard the sounds sometime before daylight on Thursday.

Asked if she had any idea who killed her son, she replied: "An enemy."

Meanwhile police explored numerous angles and theories in the case but gave no sign of making any progress.

As the body of the international financial schemer, draft dodger, playboy was put on public view in a $6,500 copper casket at a Manhattan funeral home, police concluded that his strangler entered Rubinstein's luxurious Fifth avenue home with a key.

There also appeared little doubt that it was a grudge killing.

The room in which Rubinstein's body was found was in considera-

Cold Wave Takes 15 Lives, Brings Much Suffering

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Deaths from exposure and overexertion mounted to at least 15 Saturday as winter's worst cold wave kept an unyielding grip on most of the eastern half of the nation.

Slight moderation in the abnormal cold was in prospect for the immediate gulf region and the Great Plains, but elsewhere no relief was in sight.

Subzero cold extended from Northern New England westward across the northern lakes region and the Upper Mississippi Valley and as far south as Northeast Missouri and Central Illinois.

Temperatures were only a few degrees above freezing along the immediate Gulf Coast from Northern Florida to Southeast Texas.

International Falls, Minn., achieved the national "ice box" ranking for the second time in three days with a -34 degree temperature.

This is the death count from causes attributed to cold and snow since Thursday, when the cold wave struck:

The U. S. Weather Bureau in Chicago blamed upper level winds 30,000 feet high for the marathon cold wave. These winds have been flowing steadily in a southeasterly direction, draining cold arctic air into the United States.

Industrial Group Seeks $20 Million Newsprint Plant For Monroe Area

The Ouachita Parish Industrial Development Committee has asked the International Paper Company, Inc., to consider the Monroe Area as a possible site for the company's proposed new $20,000,000 newsprint plant, Jack Howard, president of the parish committee, revealed Saturday.

Announcement of the company's intention to build the plant in some Southern state was made in New York early last week by John Hinman, chairman of the board, and the local industrial committee immediately went ahead with plans to submit a bid for the site, Howard said.

Telegrams from the mayors of both West Monroe and Monroe, and the president of the parish police jury were sent to R. C. Doane, president of the paper company in New York, at the request of the industrial committee.

The industrial committee also sent telegrams offering the full assistance of the committee in locating the plant in this area, such as making the necessary surveys and arranging for the land transfers.

Doans replied, according to Howard, in a telegram which advised the committee that there has been no decision made as yet to the information on what this community has to offer to the company official in handling such information.

"We have no assurance that the plant will be built in this area," Howard said, "but we want the citizens to know the industrial committee is going to do everything within its power to sell the com-

French Minister And Editor Decide To Call Off Duel

PARIS, Jan. 29—UP—The duel between Foreign Minister Edgar Faure and the prominent leftist newspaper editor he challenged has been called off, their seconds announced Saturday night.

A joint statement said the seconds decided at a meeting that the incident is to be "considered closed."

Faure, 47, had challenged Jean-Jacques Servan-Schreiber, editor of the leftist weekly l'Express, because of an article in the current issue. The article hinted at possible ministerial irregularities in a proposed bill which would have lowered the tax on the sale of race horses.

While Faure was not named in the article, the mentioned bill was prepared by the ministry of finance which he headed until being named foreign minister.

"There will not take place either an encounter nor any reparation and the incident is to be considered closed," the joint statement said. It was signed by Gaullist Deputy Edouard Corniglion-Molinier and lawyer Paul Weil, Weil, seconds for Faure, and Col. Louis de Foquieres and Socialist Deputy Alain Savary, seconds for Servan-Schreiber.

Almost coincidentally with the release of the statement, Premier Pierre Mendes-France's office issued a communique on the affair which admittedly had caused considerable concern in government circles.

The communique said that Mendes-France declared that the article in question "gives a fallacious relationship between the facts mentioned and the meaning attributed to them."

News of the Danish Social Democratic premier's death was read to the council, meeting for the second day, and the session was immediately adjourned. Flags in Copenhagen and Stockholm were lowered to halfmast.

Oil Well Afire Off Louisiana Coast

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 29 (AP) — An oil well 20 miles offshore burst into flames today, sending flames roaring more than 50 feet into the air.

The well, south of Venice, was burning tonight and Roy Newsom, a California Oil Co. petroleum engineer said officials sent to Houston, Tex., for specialists to extinguish the flames.

The rig and platform collapsed into the Gulf of Mexico soon after the well blew out.

Newsom said six men at the scene when the well ignited were removed by boat to Venice, and were unhurt. The rig was the s-44, he said, operated by Offshore Drilling Co. under contract to California. Venice is near the mouth of the Mississippi River.

Playful Whale Cavorts Around Naval Shipyard

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 29—UP—A none-too-bright whale dubbed Willie made his escape from Hunters Point naval shipyard Saturday, to the vast relief of the Navy.

The 30-foot, barnacle-encrusted blue whale somehow got himself trapped Friday in a 40 by 100 foot expanse of water bounded by the aircraft carrier Boxer on one side, a concrete pier on the other and barges at either end.

It was speculated that Willie had taken leave of a herd of whales completing their winter migration from Alaska to Mexico for the mating season.

Hundreds of Navy men and shipyard workers watched from the pier and the carrier as Willie puffed and snorted and blew 10-foot spouts of water.

But Willie couldn't find his way out.

Officers frantically scanned "Rocks and Shoals," the Navy's book of regulations, which supposedly has the answer to any problems concerning the sea and ships.

Under "W" there were such things as wharves, winds, waves, winches and windarms. But no whales.

Capt. W. L. Turney, yard commander, finally decided at noon Saturday that drastic steps were needed. He ordered one of the barges removed, leaving a free lane into the bay for Willie.

But do you think Willie would leave the easy way?

Then, as most of the Boxer's 2,300-man crew lined the starboard rail watching Willie's play area, an alert seaman on the port side cried:

"Thar she blows."

Sure enough, Willie was out in the bay. He had dived under the Boxer's keel and come up on the other side.

After a discussion with Secretary of State Dulles, the Senate Republican leader said he would oppose vigorously any move within the United Nations to surrender coastal islands to the Communists.

The U.N. Security Council meets Monday to discuss the possibility of obtaining an agreement to halt hostilities in the area that includes the Chinese Nationalist-held islands of Quemoy and Matsu. These outposts were included in authority given President Eisenhower by Congress to defend Formosa, Chiang Kai-shek's stronghold, and its approaches.

Without divulging Dulles' attitude, Knowland said he is convinced that "some of our allies"—and he specifically included Great Britain—are going into the meeting with the idea of bargaining outpost islands away to the Communists in return for a cease-fire.

"What they are proposing is that we pour more free territory down the Communist drain," Knowland asserted. "This is appeasement in its baldest form. It would be a pitiful proceeding if the Security Council decided to pay this sort of tribute to the Communists before the Reds even agreed to discuss a cease-fire."

The Peiping radio said the idea of a cease-fire with the Nationalists was "absolutely unacceptable," adding in a broadcast heard in London:

"We are determined to liberate Formosa. If the U.S. Armed forces dare attack us, we will firmly strike back with heavy blows."

In approving New Zealand's call for Monday's Security Council meeting to discuss a possible truce, Sir Anthony Eden, Britain's foreign secretary, pledged that Red China's claim to the off-shore islands now held by the Nationalists would receive fair consideration if the Communists join in the talks.

Knowland said he was "deeply concerned by the apparent viewpoint of some of our associates that any cease-fire discussions must be linked up with Chinese Nationalist withdrawal from these coastal islands."

He said that while Quemoy and Matsu may not be absolutely "vital" to the defense of Formosa, they are important because they command the ports of Amoy and Foochow, "where ultimately will be concentrated the invasion fleets of the Chinese Communists if they strike."

AT NEW TASK—Former U. S. Senator Robert C. Hendrickson of New Jersey has been nominated by President Eisenhower to be Ambassador to New Zealand.

Fast Progress In Nuclear Weapons Revealed By AEC

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission today held out the prospect of new "major developments" in the field of atomic weapons.

AEC said in a semiannual report that "new areas of research" were opened by last spring's Operation Castle tests in the Pacific.

It said also new tests to start in about two weeks at the Nevada test site are needed "to obtain scientific knowledge essential to development and utilization of nuclear weapons for defense of this nation and the free world."

AEC gave no details in the report and officials declined to elaborate on it.

There was unofficial speculation, however, that the "new areas" might have to do with (1) long-range hydrogen bomb guided missiles, (2) shorter-range missiles aimed at knocking down atomic-armed aerial invading craft, or (3) better ways of making atomic weapons.

Air Secretary Talbott told the House Armed Services Committee last Thursday this country has made a "marked advance" in a race with Russia to develop intercontinental missiles with atomic warheads.

Another possibility—that some sort of super hydrogen bomb might be in the works—appeared less likely. AEC Chairman Lewis Strauss has said there seems to be no need to develop a more powerful bomb than the existing type. Similarly there have been official throwdowns of speculation that an ultrapowerful cobalt bomb —which in theory could wipe out all life on earth—might be under study.

Today's report, covering the last half of 1954, said in part:

"Operation Castle, conducted in the spring of 1954 at the Pacific proving ground was the most extensive series yet conducted there.

"The evaluation of the results during this reporting period confirmed the pre-Castle promise if most significant progress in design, development and proof test of weapons."

As a result the weapons program was "directed toward new areas of research opened up by the Castle information that hold promise of additional major developments, and toward the stockpiling of weapons adding large potential to our defensive power," it added.

The AEC report gave these other progress highlights of the nation's atomic energy program, which it said has cost $13,200,000,000 since its beginning in World War II:

1. "Added emphasis" on peacetime uses of atomic energy as a result of new authority given by the Cole-Hickenlooper Act of 1954.

2. Greater participation by private industry in atomic development, especially in experimental production of atomic power for commercial use. The report said AEC now has "evolved a pattern for research and development from which it believes will come nuclear power plants that will

Angry Voices In Son's Apartment Night Of Slaying

NEW YORK, Jan. 29 (AP) —Serge Rubinstein's mother told reporters today she heard angry voices of strange men in their home a few hours before the financier was found bound, gagged and slain.

Mrs. Stella Rubinstein, 78, spoke to reporters at the funeral home where the body of the dead financier lay.

Later an official said she had told authorities about the voices on Thursday, the day of the murder.

The official quoted Mrs. Rubinstein as saying that when the voices woke her up, in her bedroom one flight above her son's, she turned the light on.

Then, hearing nothing further, she turned the light off and went back to sleep.

Mrs. Rubinstein said she could not say whether one of the quarreling voices was her son's.

She said she heard the voices about 1 a.m.

But according to one of Rubinstein's girl friends, he did not leave a night club until 1:30, and it was 2 a.m. before he and the girl finished a nightcap at his home and she left.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Alexander Herman said that Mrs. Rubinstein had told police she heard the sounds sometime before daylight on Thursday.

Asked if she had any idea who killed her son, she replied: "An enemy."

Meanwhile police explored numerous angles and theories in the case but gave no sign of making any progress.

As the body of the international financial schemer, draft dodger, playboy was put on public view in a $6,500 copper casket at a Manhattan funeral home, police concluded that his strangler entered Rubinstein's luxurious Fifth avenue home with a key.

There also appeared little doubt that it was a grudge killing.

The room in which Rubinstein's body was found was in considera-

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Deaths from exposure and overexertion mounted to at least 15 Saturday as winter's worst cold wave kept an unyielding grip on most of the eastern half of the nation.

Slight moderation in the abnormal cold was in prospect for the immediate gulf region and the Great Plains, but elsewhere no relief was in sight.

Subzero cold extended from Northern New England westward across the northern lakes region and the Upper Mississippi Valley and as far south as Northeast Missouri and Central Illinois.

Temperatures were only a few degrees above freezing along the immediate Gulf Coast from Northern Florida to Southeast Texas.

International Falls, Minn., achieved the national "ice box" ranking for the second time in three days with a -34 degree temperature.

This is the death count from causes attributed to cold and snow since Thursday, when the cold wave struck:

The U. S. Weather Bureau in Chicago blamed upper level winds 30,000 feet high for the marathon cold wave. These winds have been flowing steadily in a southeasterly direction, draining cold arctic air into the United States.

Industrial Group Seeks $20 Million Newsprint Plant For Monroe Area

The Ouachita Parish Industrial Development Committee has asked the International Paper Company, Inc., to consider the Monroe Area as a possible site for the company's proposed new $20,000,000 newsprint plant, Jack Howard, president of the parish committee, revealed Saturday.

Announcement of the company's intention to build the plant in some Southern state was made in New York early last week by John Hinman, chairman of the board, and the local industrial committee immediately went ahead with plans to submit a bid for the site, Howard said.

Telegrams from the mayors of both West Monroe and Monroe, and the president of the parish police jury were sent to R. C. Doane, president of the paper company in New York, at the request of the industrial committee.

The industrial committee also sent telegrams offering the full assistance of the committee in locating the plant in this area, such as making the necessary surveys and arranging for the land transfers.

Doans replied, according to Howard, in a telegram which advised the committee that there has been no decision made as yet to the information on what this community has to offer to the company official in handling such information.

"We have no assurance that the plant will be built in this area," Howard said, "but we want the citizens to know the industrial committee is going to do everything within its power to sell the com-

French Minister And Editor Decide To Call Off Duel

PARIS, Jan. 29—UP—The duel between Foreign Minister Edgar Faure and the prominent leftist newspaper editor he challenged has been called off, their seconds announced Saturday night.

A joint statement said the seconds decided at a meeting that the incident is to be "considered closed."

Faure, 47, had challenged Jean-Jacques Servan-Schreiber, editor of the leftist weekly l'Express, because of an article in the current issue. The article hinted at possible ministerial irregularities in a proposed bill which would have lowered the tax on the sale of race horses.

While Faure was not named in the article, the mentioned bill was prepared by the ministry of finance which he headed until being named foreign minister.

"There will not take place either an encounter nor any reparation and the incident is to be considered closed," the joint statement said. It was signed by Gaullist Deputy Edouard Corniglion-Molinier and lawyer Paul Weil, Weil, seconds for Faure, and Col. Louis de Foquieres and Socialist Deputy Alain Savary, seconds for Servan-Schreiber.

Almost coincidentally with the release of the statement, Premier Pierre Mendes-France's office issued a communique on the affair which admittedly had caused considerable concern in government circles.

The communique said that Mendes-France declared that the article in question "gives a fallacious relationship between the facts mentioned and the meaning attributed to them."

Premier Hedtoft Of Denmark Dies

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Jan. 29 —UP—Premier Hans Hedtoft of Denmark died in his sleep of a heart ailment Saturday. He was 51.

Redtoft came to Stockholm to attend the Nordic council meeting. His body was found in the bed of his hotel room by one of his secretaries Saturday morning. A police medical examiner attributed death to heart failure.

News of the Danish Social Democratic premier's death was read to the council, meeting for the second day, and the session was immediately adjourned. Flags in Copenhagen and Stockholm were lowered to halfmast.

Oil Well Afire Off Louisiana Coast

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 29 (AP) — An oil well 20 miles offshore burst into flames today, sending flames roaring more than 50 feet into the air.

The well, south of Venice, was burning tonight and Roy Newsom, a California Oil Co. petroleum engineer said officials sent to Houston, Tex., for specialists to extinguish the flames.

The rig and platform collapsed into the Gulf of Mexico soon after the well blew out.

Newsom said six men at the scene when the well ignited were removed by boat to Venice, and were unhurt. The rig was the s-44, he said, operated by Offshore Drilling Co. under contract to California. Venice is near the mouth of the Mississippi River.

Bomb Intended For Husband Of Woman Victim

Two Are Held On Murder Charges, In San Angelo

SAN ANGELO, Tex., Jan. 29 — UP — Texas Rangers and police routed wealthy Mrs. Helen Harris Weaver's former son-in-law and a jobless carpenter's helper from bed in Houston, Tex., Saturday and arrested them on charges of murdering Mrs. Weaver with a bomb planted in her automobile.

An informer turned in the two suspects. They got a quick questioning in Houston and were rushed to San Angelo and locked up in the Tom Green county jail. A Ranger plane flew them part of the way.

The ex-son-in-law is Harry L. Washburn, 38, who was indicted three years ago on a charge of threatening Mrs. Weaver, 52, with a gun. The unemployed carpenter's helper is Carlton G. Henninger, 37. They are both from Houston, Tex. Both are charged with murder.

Houston Police Capt Cecil Priest said he had asked Laredo, Tex., and Nuevo Laredo, Mex., police to try to find a Mexican cabinetmaker who is supposed to have

Playful Whale Cavorts Around Naval Shipyard

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 29—UP—A none-too-bright whale dubbed Willie made his escape from Hunters Point naval shipyard Saturday, to the vast relief of the Navy.

The 30-foot, barnacle-encrusted blue whale somehow got himself trapped Friday in a 40 by 100 foot expanse of water bounded by the aircraft carrier Boxer on one side, a concrete pier on the other and barges at either end.

It was speculated that Willie had taken leave of a herd of whales completing their winter migration from Alaska to Mexico for the mating season.

Hundreds of Navy men and shipyard workers watched from the pier and the carrier as Willie puffed and snorted and blew 10-foot spouts of water.

But Willie couldn't find his way out.

Officers frantically scanned "Rocks and Shoals," the Navy's book of regulations, which supposedly has the answer to any problems concerning the sea and ships.

Under "W" there were such things as wharves, winds, waves, winches and windarms. But no whales.

Capt. W. L. Turney, yard commander, finally decided at noon Saturday that drastic steps were needed. He ordered one of the barges removed, leaving a free lane into the bay for Willie.

But do you think Willie would leave the easy way?

Then, as most of the Boxer's 2,300-man crew lined the starboard rail watching Willie's play area, an alert seaman on the port side cried:

"Thar she blows."

Sure enough, Willie was out in the bay. He had dived under the Boxer's keel and come up on the other side.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

If you have a fair complexion be careful about using powder which is too white or too pink.

Choose Makeup Colors To Fit Your Complexion

Many women fail in the matter of makeup, which in a way is simple and yet is complex, if you take into consideration your skin tone (which you must) and then the way your makeup matches your costume.

We would not think of wearing a red hat with a wine colored dress and yet we often see such violation of color harmony in the choice of rouge and lipstick, to say nothing of the way the two do not match the costume.

If you live in a large city you will find trained personnel at the big cosmetic counter in one or more of your stores. They will help you discover the makeup shades best for your skin tone. If you live in a small community and cannot take advantage of skilled help, then you will have to do a little experimenting on your own. Here are a few suggestions which will help you.

Brunettes Avoid Bright Shades

1. If you have a brunette or olive skin, beware of powders and lip rouge which are too light or bright. Your powder should be in the darker category, and yet you may need a pickup in color. Investigate the Rachels. These are in between. Some of them are flattering to the olive complexion and some to the lighter ones. There is great variety here!

2. If you have a fair complexion be careful about using powder which is too white or too pink. Many fair-complexioned women look best with light makeup on the brows and lashes and lips in the daytime and no rouge except in the evening. The darker complexioned women may need some rouge during the daytime.

Darker At Night

3. Whether your coloring is light or dark, remember that you need more pink or red at night because the artificial light drains color from your face.

A light shade of lipstick which may be lovely in the daytime may be completely lost at night. It takes a deeper, darker, more vibrant shade.

State Bows To U. S. In Jobless Pay Controversy

BATON ROUGE, Jan. 28 (AP) — Louisiana, threatened with a loss of federal funds, agreed today to revamp regulations designed to half fraudulent jobless pay claims by some New Orleans stevedores.

"We think we can live under the re-written regulations," said state administrator J. Hadley Heard, "but it will be a whole lot harder to track down fraud on the waterfront.

"By giving in, it doesn't mean we're going to discontinue our efforts to detect illegal claims."

U. S. Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell gave Louisiana a 30-day extension on federal administrative funds after the regional office in Dallas threatened to cut off money to the state because waterfront restrictions were too strong.

The normal period for allocating administrative funds is 90 days.

The federal government objected to a Louisiana rule requiring unemployed stevedores to report every day or suffer automatic loss of claims.

In a letter to Gov. Robert Kennon, Mitchell complained the language was broad enough to require daily reporting in other types of hiring and left no discretion in granting applications.

Heard said the governor will advise Mitchell by letter that Louisiana has revamped the controversial "rule three" by agreeing to "consider an excuse" for a stevedore failing to report "and making certain other changes in the language of the regulation."

The agreement was reached after a conference between Heard, Jules Lamothe, director of the state unemployment insurance program; Wilburn Lunn, the governor's executive counsel; Ed McDonald and William Hainer of Dallas, representing the regional office of the Federal Bureau of Employment Security, and Dan Federoff, representing the New Orleans waterfront employers.

Heard stressed that unemployed waterfront workers "will still have to report every day . . . the main difference is if they don't show up, we'll listen to their excuse before deciding eligibility, instead of cutting them off automatically.

"This will take some of the teeth out of our law, but at least we won the battle about daily reporting."

Lamothe said last week some 1,500 of New Orleans' estimated 6,700 stevedores filed unemployment claims in 1954. Of these, 150 were penalized for making fraudulent claims and 75 indicted.

Cities Ask Share Of Revenues From Offshore Leases

NEW ORLEANS —UP— Louisiana Municipal Association leaders proposed at a meeting here today that from $10 to $20-million a year in tidelands oil revenues be given by the state to cities, towns and parishes for capital improvements, such as drainage, streets and schools.

The group urged that a state planning commission be set up to "prepare an over-all state plan" for these developments.

Under the proposal, towns and parishes would contribute one-fourth of the cost of the projects and the tidelands money would pay for three-fourths.

The resolution was adopted at a meeting of the executive committee of the association.

Mayor Armand Viator of New Iberia, LMA president, presided at the meeting.

The resolution said in part—The legislative committee of the LMA discussed this proposal with Gov. Robert Kennon and Sen. Charles Tooke, chairman of the Senate finance committee on Jan. 20, 1955.

"The association proposes that over and above the existing allocations of state revenues, that a further allocation of from $4 to $8 per capita per year be provided to parishes and municipalities throughout Louisiana. . ."

It said the proposed allocation would be confined exclusively to the public works projects, approved by state, parishes and municipal plans.

Mayor Curt Siegelin of Bogalusa introduced the resolution and Mayor Frank Kees of Natchitoches seconded it.

The Louisiana population by the 1950 census was 2,683,000. The total sums requested, at $4 to $8 per capita, would be approximately from $10-million to $20-million a year.

LEWIS C. SLATER

Lewis C. Slater Will Get Coveted Alumnus Citation

Louisiana State University will honor President Lewis C. Slater Tuesday night at the third annual banquet of university alumni in the 5th congressional district. He will be recognized as the most outstanding alumnus of 1955 in this area, according to C. D. Blalock, president of the Ouachita Parish chapter.

The banquet is scheduled at 7:30 p.m. on the Virginia Hotel roof. Reservations have been extended until Tuesday noon because of out-of-town persons. Reservations should be made by calling one of the following Ouachita Chapter officers: C. D. Blalock, Sidney Gill, Mrs. L. N. Blair, Miss Frances Barnes, Judge Howell Heard and Mrs. Credille Calhoun.

Featured speaker of the evening will be Dr. William W. Frye, dean of L. S. U.'s school of medicine. Other speakers are to be President Troy N. Middleton, of Louisiana State University, and President Slater.

Tuesday night's program also will include special music by the Northeast State string ensemble and the introduction of several special guests and former L. S. U. students from the Twin Cities. Among them will be Marvin Faller, president, L. S. U. Alumni Federation, and the N. C. A. A. champion track team of 1933, including Al Moreau, Slats Hardin, L. N. "Buddy" Blair, Jack Torrance, and Matt Gordy.

Special recognition of Mr. Slater will be given for his generous contribution to the civic and religious life of the community and to the educational welfare of the state, particularly Northeast Louisiana.

He taught science at L. S. U., his alma mater, and has been associated with various industries as a chemical engineer. He joined the faculty of the local college when it was a junior institution where he became head of the science department. When the school was expanded to senior college status by legislative act in 1950, Mr. Slater was elected president by the State Board of Education.

Growth of the college under his administration is reflected in the increased enrollment, faculty, staff, buildings, and equipment. From a student body of about 300 in the spring of 1950, Northeast has grown to a registration of 1316.

Additional housing accommodations for students have been a major improvement, a brick dormitory for women is being completed, and the contract for another men's dormitory recently was let. Construction of a classroom building and the expansion of the Student Center are on the building agenda.

Interest in bringing educational features to Northeast Louisiana resulted in Mr. Slater's accepting the major responsibility of having the L. S. U. operas brought to Monroe for several years.

He is past president of the local Rotary Club and a member of a regional planning committee interested in promoting a science fair.

Professional organizations with which he is affiliated include the American Chemical Society, of which he is a senior member, and Sigma XI, honorary chemical society.

Retail Sales In February Likely Will Show Gains

NEW YORK, Jan. 29 (AP)—Sales Management magazine said today retail sales in February will probably total about $12,500,000,000 for a gain of four per cent over the like month in 1954.

"The retailing picture now looks better than it has for over a year, for the current good performance is backed up solidly by continued pickup in most other factors of the economy," Sales Management said.

"These include the continuing construction boom, rising steel output and a promising expert situation. The primary fact for retailers however, is the continuing rise in disposable income, which did not even drop when output and employment were sliding downward last year.

"High purchasing power offers potential high level sales but can be tapped only when the right consumer cords are struck. In this respect, the phenomenal growth of discount house activity in recent years provides some intriguing figures. Recent estimates place the total volume of sales involved in all kinds of discount operation (including employe buying clubs, co-ops, etc.) at $25 billion. A sizable chunk of the nation's $170,800,000,000 diverted to a comparative newcomer in retail selling."

Pronghorns, the only antelope native to North America and among the swiftest of four-legged animals, have declined to only thousands.

Wheat Belt Ripe For Dust Storms, Erosion Damage

AMARILLO, Jan. 29—UP—Much of the wheat belt is ripe for wind erosion and result dust storms unless rain comes before howling winds, the Santa Fe crop report said Saturday.

The monthly survey said "the key to the situation is plenty of moisture and favorable growing conditions. Rain will put new vitality into the young wheat plants, establish a protective vegetative cover and build up the nearly depleted moisture reserves."

The big question of the southwestern wheat farmers, said the railroad report, is which will come first, the rain or the wind.

Alternate freezing and thawing has left much of the surface soil in a dry, loose condition.

"It has already been necessary to report to emergency tillage to control wind erosion in a few scattered areas," the railroad said. "With the period of greatest wind erosion hazard still ahead, additional moisture is needed to encourage growth of wheat to provide cover."

Condition of wheat has generally improved in eastern and south central Kansas, eastern and north central Oklahoma and most of Texas except in the High Plains area, the railroad said.

Much additional moisture, however, is still needed in those areas.

In western Kansas, eastern Colorado, western Oklahoma, eastern New Mexico and in the Texas High Plains, recent moisture generally has been light. About the best that can be said of the wheat crop there is that it is holding its own.

The report called range conditions in the west at 69 per cent on Jan. 1, compared with 71 per cent last month and 72 per cent a year ago. This is the fourth year with range feed conditions below average.

Eastern Colorado and western Kansas have poor range and pasture feed. Oklahoma had the lowest Jan. 1 condition on record. Texas had little range feed and the lowest Jan. 1 condition since 1935.

Wheat pasture in Kansas, Oklahoma, northwestern Texas and eastern Colorado provided little grazing and are about exhausted.

In many areas, supplemental feeding of livestock is necessary.

The report also said acreage of late spring onions in Texas is 11 per cent above that of last year, but 21 per cent below the 1949-53 average; picking of the 1954 cotton crop is nearly over, with yields above earlier expectations, and that cotton and cottonseed accounted for more than 64 per cent of the dollar value of all crops grown in New Mexico during 1954.

Eastern Colorado and western Kansas have poor range and pasture feed. Oklahoma had the lowest Jan. 1 condition on record. Texas had little range feed and the lowest Jan. 1 condition since 1935.

Wheat pasture in Kansas, Oklahoma, northwestern Texas and eastern Colorado provided little grazing and are about exhausted.

In many areas, supplemental feeding of livestock is necessary.

The report also said acreage of late spring onions in Texas is 11 per cent above that of last year, but 21 per cent below the 1949-53 average; picking of the 1954 cotton crop is nearly over, with yields above earlier expectations, and that cotton and cottonseed accounted for more than 64 per cent of the dollar value of all crops grown in New Mexico during 1954.

Thanks-For The Memory

The American people have lived in a dream for so long, so very long, that it seems never one to end.

Like all sleep, reality faces one on the awakening.

Individually speaking, Americans are sometimes inclined to be brash, to be overly optimistic and to regard reality as a thing of tomorrow. At one point in the life of every citizen, reality must be faced. The success of such an individual is determined at that moment in his existence.

Either the lesson at hand is carefully digested and stored away for future use, or it goes in one ear and out the other. The successful individual is the one who can rise above petty bickering and smallness, to heights which make his opponents dizzy. This success can be attained only if the hard lessons in life acquire a lasting meaning.

As a nation of people, the Americans are not humble. They are far from contrite. They brag; they boast and their sense of values is distorted all out of proportion by material things. They are living in a cloud and as everyone knows, clouds are pleasant, sometimes even beautiful, but they have no foundation on which to plant one's feet.

Maybe as a nation, we can all awaken from our wild dream to harsh reality before it is too late.

Maybe as a nation, we can all awaken to the fact that a sense of real values must be reattained in order to survive.

Before the nation can do this, every single individual inside this land must face complete reality, for how can a government be forced to adopt a new (or is it old?) standard of values when its citizens are still on the wildest of sprees, caring little about tomorrow or next week, only living for today.

In the life of every nation, there comes a series of hard knocks, as well as years of progress and happiness. The United States has been progressing through the years, progressing beyond the imaginations of those who dreamed (but who dreamed big dreams) its future. This nation as a whole has never known what suffering really meant. Save for one region, the South, there has not been real devastation and hard destructive times in its history. In later years, there has been no war. The U. S. is still a youngster in the records of mankind.

What are several hundred years as history records them? The U. S. is but a speck on the life story of the human race, and the human race but a tiny, almost microscopic incident on the historical record of the earth.

Yet in turn, the earth is hardly definable in space.

Even with these almost unimaginable comparisons, the American people had developed until the past four decades, the finest, freest, decent and most solid way of life ever recorded by men. Its constitution was molded on the mistakes of others. As a result, it was perhaps the most perfect article ever drafted on this earth. The American story was a great story.

Unfortunately, as happens with individuals, the nation strayed away from reality. Somehow, it began to think that it was the real hero in the world, that everyone depended upon it for salvation, that indeed, its type of government was the best—everyone should adopt it. Financially and otherwise, the weight of the world has descended on its shoulders. It is entirely possible that had the fiscal policy of this nation been more solid, this weight would not have been of such great harm. But, in order to survive, the sound financial policies, the mores and even the morals were changed to suit the times.

From one disaster to another, this worried nation has recently stumbled. It has spent itself into a state of panic and the American credit system is in some jeopardy. The glossy print magazines and feature articles attempt to run over the real facts, but facts are facts and they must not be forgotten.

As the fair weather friends hover around for the "fun of it," the real, the loyal and long lasting allies are deserted. No single American can possibly know the extreme danger in this folly. Instead of bolstering and building real friends, friends who will respect the nation and its people for what it can do, these allies are deserted, the fair weather friends supported.

This Sunday morning, there are many, many Americans awakening from this rosy experience to face the thorns below the flowers. In many a mind, the tried and true support of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, of President Sygnman Rhee, of the Turks, the Greeks and others who have always, or nearly always been friendly to this nation until the turn of the century, are now coming back to focus.

The deep humility of the knowledge of having real friends could be returning to many an American soul this morning.

Almost alone, in a sea of confusion and desperation, this nation stands. But there are still a few friends, real friends, tried and true friends who see the great good in this nation, who see in the average American, the traits of their forefathers and their grandfathers who are responsible for all that is, and who made the nation what it is.

It is these friends who know that in the deep recesses of the American soul, there is honesty, decency and integrity, and it is these friends to whom the American people must now turn. Moreover, every American must be humble in the sight of God for such staunch supporters.

It is late, very late, to turn around, to recap the losses and to put the ship on a straight course. The memory of "better times" (although false times) will be bitter, but in the body of every American, there must be that inner fire, that zeal and determination to make of a tragedy, crowning success. If ever before in the history of the United States, the lessons learned should be used, this crisis is the time.

With the knowledge that God is on our side and is watching everything which happens, every American should take His banners and carry them to a shining victory in both his national as well as his personal life.

There is no paradise on earth and the quicker we all realize it, the better off every citizen will be.

Trust in the strength of the Lord and God, for in that divine majesty alone rests salvation and eternal glory. As long as God is on our side (and the follies of the past combined with present and maintained national existence indicate that indeed, He is), we can't lose.

God bless this, our country today and every day.

God bless our people for they are great.

The blessings of God are too manifold to count.

What Is A Boy?

Between the innocence of babyhood and the dignity of manhood we find a delightful creature called a boy. Boys come in assorted sizes, weights, and colors, but all boys have the same creed: To enjoy every second of every minute of every hour of every day and to protest with noise (their only weapon) when their last minute is finished and the adult males pack them off to bed at night.

Boys are found everywhere — on top of, underneath, inside of, climbing on, swinging from, running around, or jumping to. Mothers love them, little girls hate them, older sisters and brothers tolerate them, adults ignore them, and Heaven protects them. A boy is Truth with dirt on its face, Beauty with a cut on its finger, Wisdom with bubble gum in its hair, and the Hope of the future with a frog in its pocket.

When you are busy, a boy is an inconsiderate, bothersome, intruding jangle of noise. When you want him to make a good impression, his brain turns to jelly or else he becomes a savage, sadistic, jungle creature bent on destroying the world and himself with it.

A boy is a composite — he has the appetite of a horse, the digestion of a sword swallower, the energy of a pocket-size atomic bomb, the curiosity of a cat, the lungs of a dictator, the imagination of a Paul Bunyan, the shyness of a violet, the audacity of a steel trap, the enthusiasm of a fire cracker, and when he makes something he has five thumbs on each hand.

He likes ice cream, knives, saws, Christmas, comic books, the boy across the street, woods, water (in its natural habitat), large animals, Dad, trains, Saturday mornings, and fire engines. He is not much for Sunday School, company, schools, books without pictures, music lessons, neckties, barbers, girls, overcoats, adults, or bedtime.

Nobody else is so early to rise, or so late to supper. Nobody else gets so much fun out of trees, dogs, and breezes. Nobody else can cram into one pocket a rusty knife, a half-eaten apple, 3 feet of string, an empty Bull Durham sack, 2 gum drops, 6 cents, a sling shot, a chunk of unknown substance, and a genuine super-sonic code ring with a secret compartment.

A boy is a magical creature — you can lock him out of your work shop, but you can't lock him out of your heart. You can get him out of your study, but you can't get him out of your mind. Might as well give up — he is your captor, your jailer, your boss, and your master — a freckled-face, pint-sized, cat-chasing, bundle of noise. But when you come home at night with only the shattered pieces of your hopes and dreams, he can mend them like new with the two magic words—"Hi Dad!"

Travelers Of Animal World

Dogs and cats that somehow find their way home across half a continent . . . migrating birds that fly thousands of miles to the same nesting grounds each year . . . fish that return from the sea to the same streams where they were born . . .

How do such "dumb" animals navigate, ofttimes showing amazing sense of direction?

In many cases, science plainly admits it does not yet know. But in other instances, clues are turning up to the inner compasses that guide animals of the earth, sea, and air in their travels.

The path of the sun plays an important part in direction-finding by some types of animal life, recent research has shown conclusively.

Honeybees, for example, use sun navigation in flying from the hive to a distant flower patch and back again on a true beeline. It has long been known that bees actually "tell" other members of the hive how to find a rich feeding place by doing a complicated waggle dance. Scientists now have proved that this dance shows the correct direction with relation to the sun's position in the sky.

Even if the sun is hidden by clouds, polarized light coming through a small patch of blue sky tells bees where the sun actually is. And as the day progresses, the dance changes to match the movement of the sun across the sky.

So also are ants able to follow a sun course. Experimenters have shaded migrating ants from the real sun and substituted a mirror image from another direction. With only a moment's hesitation, the travelers turn and set out on the new route.

Spiny lobsters have a proven homing instinct related somehow to polarized light. In experiments off Bermuda, tagged lobsters came "home" even when taken miles away and released in deep water. Likewise certain shellfish of Mediterranean beaches use light from the sun as a guide in finding their way back to water.

Homing pigeons, gulls, and starlings are known to take direction at least partly from the sun. Under a heavy overcast, they become disoriented. Even the lowly jellyfish has light-sensitive spots that show the way toward the surface.

Sun navigation, however, obviously is only one means by which animals know where they're going. Many birds, for instance, migrate by night. Bats not only can avoid obstacles by a natural echo-sounding ability but also seem to have a sense of absolute direction.

Other theories of navigation by the animal world, each supported by strong evidence, point to acute perceptions of the earth's magnetic field and its rotational force. Birds may also follow familiar landmarks, although this cannot explain many remarkable examples of the homing instinct.

Ordinary flies have tiny organs that function like miniature gyroscopes used in aircraft instruments. Eels apparently inherit a direction sense, for although both European and American eels hatch in the same region of the Atlantic Ocean, they migrate in opposite directions when the time comes to swim "home." And certain termites of northern Australia build their mounds only along a north-south compass line.

The mystery of direction sense and navigation by members of the animal kingdom remains largely unsolved, despite all man's study. Some naturalists think there may be a completely new and unknown sensory ability involved. They call it simply "psi."

Nation's Sugar Bowl Not Sweet To Visitor

Tampa, Fla.

Editor, Morning World:

M. H. Foster of Tampa, Fla., plans to fly to his boyhood home in Texas, next time he makes the trip. Foster has just paid a $50 fine in Jennings, La., for speeding . . . and Foster is quite indignant about it.

Mr. Foster was driving within the legal limits going from Baton Rouge to Lake Charles, when he noticed an unidentified car crowding him from the rear. Foster and his family agreed that the driver looked like a bandit, and Foster put on speed. The trailing car and its tough looking driver also stepped up speed and kept crowding Foster, which didn't reassure the Foster family one bit. They began to look for a police car to aid them.

Finally the pair reached a speed in excess of 75 miles an hour but still the chase continued. By this time the Fosters were convinced they were the intended victims of a hold-up man.

At the first stop light the stranger pulled alongside and identified himself as a police officer. Foster's explanation didn't register too well with the lawman, who resented being described as "looking like a bandit." The officer forced Foster to drive 45 miles back to Jennings, where the protesting visitor paid a $50 fine.

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

On the accompanying sheet, you will find some information that may be of some interest to you.

Stevens Point, Wis. — Pop. 16,564; people voted 2 to 1 to stop program Sept. 14, 1950.

What Good Has The United Nations Done?

Bastrop, La.

Editor, Morning World:

In the forum of this morning's paper date Jan. 23rd, I saw another letter that is enough to invite the criticism, not only of the prudent, but the most simple person; written by a man who is referred to in these parts as Mr. "Wise-acre." He attained this title by his continuous egotous inferences and implications that he is the only man in this whole countryside who has any sense, and that everybody else, including the editor, and the floor leader of the U. S. senate, and all others who favor dissolving our relations with the U. N., has nothing for heads but empty gourds with a few seed in them to rattle; like an empty wagon, to yak yak and make a noise.

If Mr. Wise-acre is half as astute as he thinks he is, then he should be able to point out just one thing that the U. N. has done for the benefit of the United States, or toward "world peace." I wish to call Mr. Wise-acre's attention to the fact that the U. N. has been in existence almost ten years, and that every resolution that has been offered to the U. N. for the maintenance of world peace, was vetoed by Russia. And further, that within the last decade, during the life of the U. N. communism has by force of arms and bloodshed, submerged four fifths of the population of the world; and the progress hasn't been checked: The shooting is still going on. The U. N. proved its inefficiency in the Korean conflict. Some folks call that Truman's war, but they should remember that two days before Truman ordered troops to Korea, the security council of the U. N. in the absence of the Russian delegate, ordered a military patrol in Korea. Subsequently the shooting temporarily ceased in Korea, but has continued elsewhere, and is yet going on. Does that look like "world peace" Mr. Wise-acre? Is that agreeable to you? Do you call that good sense?

Any Objections!

New York, N. Y.

Editor, Morning World:

Dag Hammarskjold's efforts on behalf of the United Nations to exchange either the first 17 or all 944 American POW's seem to be making very slow progress.

We should help the U. N. Let J. Edgar Hoover round up the 26,000 Communist Party members under the authority of the Lehman-Humphrey amendment to the McCarran Act — then authorize Dag to offer them to Chou En-lai in exchange for the real Americans he is holding.

Do I hear any objections?

ALFRED KOHLBERG.

Sherman, Texas.

Editor, Morning World:

Freedom is not free, it must be won and retained by continual vigilance and positive action. The founders of this Republic were not complacent, disinterested and selfish individuals when they created the most perfect form of government yet known to mankind.

We are now being challenged by pagan forces determined to enslave us and completely destroy those ideals for which our forefathers fought and died. Whether we are to become mere pawns in a one-world government with Un-American elements making our laws and collecting our taxes or whether we will retain our freedom, honor and self-respect by returning to our constitutional form of government must be decided now in 1955.

The Bricker Amendment may not be the answer to all our present problems, out should be adopted as a temporary and honorable truce permitting us to regain our senses and regroup our forces for combating the evils of CommUNism which have spread across most of the earth and now challenge America — the last bulwark of Christian civilization.

Some People Forget

Lafayette, La.

Editor, Morning World:

Life is a continual fight for some people to possess land.

Some people will stop at nothing to get their neighbors land. Leaders of countries will bomb an unprotected city and people just to get a little more territory.

Foolish heads of nations, in their mad plans for world conquest, would plunge the world in an all out Atomic war and destroy two thirds of the earth. They forget in their greed and covetousness there is one more powerful than all of them put together, who built this world, and someday when judgement day comes along will destroy it.

Timmons In Washington

By Bascom N. Timmons

Only Gamble With War

WASHINGTON, D. C. — President Eisenhower does not consider that he is gambling in waving under the nose of Chou-en-lai, Chinese Communist foreign minister a resolution agreed to by Congress giving him full authority to deal with the Formosan situation.

The only gamble is with war. The situation now confronting the United States is no more political than was President Truman's decision to intervene in Korea, which led to an undeclared war. In fact, Eisenhower has exactly as much authority to make military moves to sustain the foreign policy of the United States as did Truman, and the conclusion here is that he wishes to avoid Democratic recrimination if any fighting between U. S. and Communist armed forces should occur.

Republicans upbraided President Truman to the end of his term for the Korean war, including harsh criticism in the Republican platform of 1952, and it is instructive to see his successor moving carefully to protect himself against future partisan criticism. The political pattern changes, but it is always the same.

The White House doesn't think the resolution will get us in war, chiefly because the congressional action is only one more move to convince the Chinese Reds that we are not fooling. Since they have said repeatedly that they intend to have Formosa back, and are ready to take it by force, the U. S. retort of this week seems to be, "Why don't you try it?"

That may sound something like two boys with chips on their shoulders but it could result in a great loss of face by the Chinese Reds with their people, particularly with their own armies. The Oriental who makes his demands and then can't enforce them loses face, and so does the nation. Such a failure merely causes ridicule in the Occidental world but in the Far East it has a more humiliating result.

So far the humilitation has all been on our side. The Chinese Reds hold an undetermined number of U. S. military prisoners under one pretext or another, and sneer at us when we protest. They have made us look like fumblers in the never ending Korean "armistice" negotiations. And the rest of the world including some free nations have inclined to wonder how ridiculous the United States can get.

Now the picture may change a bit. The Communists have begun to nibble at the offshore islands, which the U. S. is urging the Chinese Nationalists to evacuate and fall back. The Red nibbling will continue and the Seventh Fleet may be forced into action under the Eisenhower administration pledge to defend Formosa. But that will not be war. Unless Russian sea forces should come to the aid of the Chinese Reds, the latter would not have enough equipment for mass landing operations.

The secondary question in this situation is whether Soviet Russia might back up the Chinese so strongly that both nations would be involved. Our big carriers in Chinese waters could be targets for the long range Russian submarines of which the Red sea force has a large number. But the president's civil and military advisers on Russian policy say that the two Red nations are not prepared to fight now, and won't before another three years. By then the possibility of disastrous defeat would be expected to make both Communist partners think again.

No exact precedent for the president's action is found in the records. When former presidents have asked for affirmation of their constitutional authority, which is included in a declaraton of war, the country has been on the brink of war or actually under attack. The latest move seems to be in the nature of a reminder that when we came to Korea's aid, a million Red Chinese became casualties and that they should be under no misapprehension now.

Financially and otherwise, the weight of the world has descended on its shoulders. It is entirely possible that had the fiscal policy of this nation been more solid, this weight would not have been of such great harm. But, in order to survive, the sound financial policies, the mores and even the morals were changed to suit the times.

From one disaster to another, this worried nation has recently stumbled. It has spent itself into a state of panic and the American credit system is in some jeopardy. The glossy print magazines and feature articles attempt to run over the real facts, but facts are facts and they must not be forgotten.

As the fair weather friends hover around for the "fun of it," the real, the loyal and long lasting allies are deserted. No single American can possibly know the extreme danger in this folly. Instead of bolstering and building real friends, friends who will respect the nation and its people for what it can do, these allies are deserted, the fair weather friends supported.

This Sunday morning, there are many, many Americans awakening from this rosy experience to face the thorns below the flowers. In many a mind, the tried and true support of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, of President Sygnman Rhee, of the Turks, the Greeks and others who have always, or nearly always been friendly to this nation until the turn of the century, are now coming back to focus.

The deep humility of the knowledge of having real friends could be returning to many an American soul this morning.

Almost alone, in a sea of confusion and desperation, this nation stands. But there are still a few friends, real friends, tried and true friends who see the great good in this nation, who see in the average American, the traits of their forefathers and their grandfathers who are responsible for all that is, and who made the nation what it is.

It is these friends who know that in the deep recesses of the American soul, there is honesty, decency and integrity, and it is these friends to whom the American people must now turn. Moreover, every American must be humble in the sight of God for such staunch supporters.

It is late, very late, to turn around, to recap the losses and to put the ship on a straight course. The memory of "better times" (although false times) will be bitter, but in the body of every American, there must be that inner fire, that zeal and determination to make of a tragedy, crowning success. If ever before in the history of the United States, the lessons learned should be used, this crisis is the time.

With the knowledge that God is on our side and is watching everything which happens, every American should take His banners and carry them to a shining victory in both his national as well as his personal life.

There is no paradise on earth and the quicker we all realize it, the better off every citizen will be.

Trust in the strength of the Lord and God, for in that divine majesty alone rests salvation and eternal glory. As long as God is on our side (and the follies of the past combined with present and maintained national existence indicate that indeed, He is), we can't lose.

God bless this, our country today and every day.

God bless our people for they are great.

The blessings of God are too manifold to count.

What Is A Boy?

Between the innocence of babyhood and the dignity of manhood we find a delightful creature called a boy. Boys come in assorted sizes, weights, and colors, but all boys have the same creed: To enjoy every second of every minute of every hour of every day and to protest with noise (their only weapon) when their last minute is finished and the adult males pack them off to bed at night.

Boys are found everywhere — on top of, underneath, inside of, climbing on, swinging from, running around, or jumping to. Mothers love them, little girls hate them, older sisters and brothers tolerate them, adults ignore them, and Heaven protects them. A boy is Truth with dirt on its face, Beauty with a cut on its finger, Wisdom with bubble gum in its hair, and the Hope of the future with a frog in its pocket.

When you are busy, a boy is an inconsiderate, bothersome, intruding jangle of noise. When you want him to make a good impression, his brain turns to jelly or else he becomes a savage, sadistic, jungle creature bent on destroying the world and himself with it.

A boy is a composite — he has the appetite of a horse, the digestion of a sword swallower, the energy of a pocket-size atomic bomb, the curiosity of a cat, the lungs of a dictator, the imagination of a Paul Bunyan, the shyness of a violet, the audacity of a steel trap, the enthusiasm of a fire cracker, and when he makes something he has five thumbs on each hand.

He likes ice cream, knives, saws, Christmas, comic books, the boy across the street, woods, water (in its natural habitat), large animals, Dad, trains, Saturday mornings, and fire engines. He is not much for Sunday School, company, schools, books without pictures, music lessons, neckties, barbers, girls, overcoats, adults, or bedtime.

Nobody else is so early to rise, or so late to supper. Nobody else gets so much fun out of trees, dogs, and breezes. Nobody else can cram into one pocket a rusty knife, a half-eaten apple, 3 feet of string, an empty Bull Durham sack, 2 gum drops, 6 cents, a sling shot, a chunk of unknown substance, and a genuine super-sonic code ring with a secret compartment.

A boy is a magical creature — you can lock him out of your work shop, but you can't lock him out of your heart. You can get him out of your study, but you can't get him out of your mind. Might as well give up — he is your captor, your jailer, your boss, and your master — a freckled-face, pint-sized, cat-chasing, bundle of noise. But when you come home at night with only the shattered pieces of your hopes and dreams, he can mend them like new with the two magic words—"Hi Dad!"

Travelers Of Animal World

Dogs and cats that somehow find their way home across half a continent . . . migrating birds that fly thousands of miles to the same nesting grounds each year . . . fish that return from the sea to the same streams where they were born . . .

How do such "dumb" animals navigate, ofttimes showing amazing sense of direction?

In many cases, science plainly admits it does not yet know. But in other instances, clues are turning up to the inner compasses that guide animals of the earth, sea, and air in their travels.

The path of the sun plays an important part in direction-finding by some types of animal life, recent research has shown conclusively.

Honeybees, for example, use sun navigation in flying from the hive to a distant flower patch and back again on a true beeline. It has long been known that bees actually "tell" other members of the hive how to find a rich feeding place by doing a complicated waggle dance. Scientists now have proved that this dance shows the correct direction with relation to the sun's position in the sky.

Even if the sun is hidden by clouds, polarized light coming through a small patch of blue sky tells bees where the sun actually is. And as the day progresses, the dance changes to match the movement of the sun across the sky.

So also are ants able to follow a sun course. Experimenters have shaded migrating ants from the real sun and substituted a mirror image from another direction. With only a moment's hesitation, the travelers turn and set out on the new route.

Spiny lobsters have a proven homing instinct related somehow to polarized light. In experiments off Bermuda, tagged lobsters came "home" even when taken miles away and released in deep water. Likewise certain shellfish of Mediterranean beaches use light from the sun as a guide in finding their way back to water.

Homing pigeons, gulls, and starlings are known to take direction at least partly from the sun. Under a heavy overcast, they become disoriented. Even the lowly jellyfish has light-sensitive spots that show the way toward the surface.

Sun navigation, however, obviously is only one means by which animals know where they're going. Many birds, for instance, migrate by night. Bats not only can avoid obstacles by a natural echo-sounding ability but also seem to have a sense of absolute direction.

Other theories of navigation by the animal world, each supported by strong evidence, point to acute perceptions of the earth's magnetic field and its rotational force. Birds may also follow familiar landmarks, although this cannot explain many remarkable examples of the homing instinct.

Ordinary flies have tiny organs that function like miniature gyroscopes used in aircraft instruments. Eels apparently inherit a direction sense, for although both European and American eels hatch in the same region of the Atlantic Ocean, they migrate in opposite directions when the time comes to swim "home." And certain termites of northern Australia build their mounds only along a north-south compass line.

The mystery of direction sense and navigation by members of the animal kingdom remains largely unsolved, despite all man's study. Some naturalists think there may be a completely new and unknown sensory ability involved. They call it simply "psi."

Nation's Sugar Bowl Not Sweet To Visitor

Tampa, Fla.

Editor, Morning World:

M. H. Foster of Tampa, Fla., plans to fly to his boyhood home in Texas, next time he makes the trip. Foster has just paid a $50 fine in Jennings, La., for speeding . . . and Foster is quite indignant about it.

Mr. Foster was driving within the legal limits going from Baton Rouge to Lake Charles, when he noticed an unidentified car crowding him from the rear. Foster and his family agreed that the driver looked like a bandit, and Foster put on speed. The trailing car and its tough looking driver also stepped up speed and kept crowding Foster, which didn't reassure the Foster family one bit. They began to look for a police car to aid them.

Finally the pair reached a speed in excess of 75 miles an hour but still the chase continued. By this time the Fosters were convinced they were the intended victims of a hold-up man.

At the first stop light the stranger pulled alongside and identified himself as a police officer. Foster's explanation didn't register too well with the lawman, who resented being described as "looking like a bandit." The officer forced Foster to drive 45 miles back to Jennings, where the protesting visitor paid a $50 fine.

What Good Has The United Nations Done?

Bastrop, La.

Editor, Morning World:

In the forum of this morning's paper date Jan. 23rd, I saw another letter that is enough to invite the criticism, not only of the prudent, but the most simple person; written by a man who is referred to in these parts as Mr. "Wise-acre." He attained this title by his continuous egotous inferences and implications that he is the only man in this whole countryside who has any sense, and that everybody else, including the editor, and the floor leader of the U. S. senate, and all others who favor dissolving our relations with the U. N., has nothing for heads but empty gourds with a few seed in them to rattle; like an empty wagon, to yak yak and make a noise.

If Mr. Wise-acre is half as astute as he thinks he is, then he should be able to point out just one thing that the U. N. has done for the benefit of the United States, or toward "world peace." I wish to call Mr. Wise-acre's attention to the fact that the U. N. has been in existence almost ten years, and that every resolution that has been offered to the U. N. for the maintenance of world peace, was vetoed by Russia. And further, that within the last decade, during the life of the U. N. communism has by force of arms and bloodshed, submerged four fifths of the population of the world; and the progress hasn't been checked: The shooting is still going on. The U. N. proved its inefficiency in the Korean conflict. Some folks call that Truman's war, but they should remember that two days before Truman ordered troops to Korea, the security council of the U. N. in the absence of the Russian delegate, ordered a military patrol in Korea. Subsequently the shooting temporarily ceased in Korea, but has continued elsewhere, and is yet going on. Does that look like "world peace" Mr. Wise-acre? Is that agreeable to you? Do you call that good sense?

Any Objections!

New York, N. Y.

Editor, Morning World:

Dag Hammarskjold's efforts on behalf of the United Nations to exchange either the first 17 or all 944 American POW's seem to be making very slow progress.

We should help the U. N. Let J. Edgar Hoover round up the 26,000 Communist Party members under the authority of the Lehman-Humphrey amendment to the McCarran Act — then authorize Dag to offer them to Chou En-lai in exchange for the real Americans he is holding.

Do I hear any objections?

ALFRED KOHLBERG.

Sherman, Texas.

Editor, Morning World:

Freedom is not free, it must be won and retained by continual vigilance and positive action. The founders of this Republic were not complacent, disinterested and selfish individuals when they created the most perfect form of government yet known to mankind.

We are now being challenged by pagan forces determined to enslave us and completely destroy those ideals for which our forefathers fought and died. Whether we are to become mere pawns in a one-world government with Un-American elements making our laws and collecting our taxes or whether we will retain our freedom, honor and self-respect by returning to our constitutional form of government must be decided now in 1955.

The Bricker Amendment may not be the answer to all our present problems, out should be adopted as a temporary and honorable truce permitting us to regain our senses and regroup our forces for combating the evils of CommUNism which have spread across most of the earth and now challenge America — the last bulwark of Christian civilization.

Some People Forget

Lafayette, La.

Editor, Morning World:

Life is a continual fight for some people to possess land.

Some people will stop at nothing to get their neighbors land. Leaders of countries will bomb an unprotected city and people just to get a little more territory.

Foolish heads of nations, in their mad plans for world conquest, would plunge the world in an all out Atomic war and destroy two thirds of the earth. They forget in their greed and covetousness there is one more powerful than all of them put together, who built this world, and someday when judgement day comes along will destroy it.

Timmons In Washington

Only Gamble With War

WASHINGTON, D. C. — President Eisenhower does not consider that he is gambling in waving under the nose of Chou-en-lai, Chinese Communist foreign minister a resolution agreed to by Congress giving him full authority to deal with the Formosan situation.

The only gamble is with war. The situation now confronting the United States is no more political than was President Truman's decision to intervene in Korea, which led to an undeclared war. In fact, Eisenhower has exactly as much authority to make military moves to sustain the foreign policy of the United States as did Truman, and the conclusion here is that he wishes to avoid Democratic recrimination if any fighting between U. S. and Communist armed forces should occur.

Republicans upbraided President Truman to the end of his term for the Korean war, including harsh criticism in the Republican platform of 1952, and it is instructive to see his successor moving carefully to protect himself against future partisan criticism. The political pattern changes, but it is always the same.

The White House doesn't think the resolution will get us in war, chiefly because the congressional action is only one more move to convince the Chinese Reds that we are not fooling. Since they have said repeatedly that they intend to have Formosa back, and are ready to take it by force, the U. S. retort of this week seems to be, "Why don't you try it?"

That may sound something like two boys with chips on their shoulders but it could result in a great loss of face by the Chinese Reds with their people, particularly with their own armies. The Oriental who makes his demands and then can't enforce them loses face, and so does the nation. Such a failure merely causes ridicule in the Occidental world but in the Far East it has a more humiliating result.

So far the humilitation has all been on our side. The Chinese Reds hold an undetermined number of U. S. military prisoners under one pretext or another, and sneer at us when we protest. They have made us look like fumblers in the never ending Korean "armistice" negotiations. And the rest of the world including some free nations have inclined to wonder how ridiculous the United States can get.

Now the picture may change a bit. The Communists have begun to nibble at the offshore islands, which the U. S. is urging the Chinese Nationalists to evacuate and fall back. The Red nibbling will continue and the Seventh Fleet may be forced into action under the Eisenhower administration pledge to defend Formosa. But that will not be war. Unless Russian sea forces should come to the aid of the Chinese Reds, the latter would not have enough equipment for mass landing operations.

The secondary question in this situation is whether Soviet Russia might back up the Chinese so strongly that both nations would be involved. Our big carriers in Chinese waters could be targets for the long range Russian submarines of which the Red sea force has a large number. But the president's civil and military advisers on Russian policy say that the two Red nations are not prepared to fight now, and won't before another three years. By then the possibility of disastrous defeat would be expected to make both Communist partners think again.

No exact precedent for the president's action is found in the records. When former presidents have asked for affirmation of their constitutional authority, which is included in a declaraton of war, the country has been on the brink of war or actually under attack. The latest move seems to be in the nature of a reminder that when we came to Korea's aid, a million Red Chinese became casualties and that they should be under no misapprehension now.

District Library News

School, college and public librarians are joining together during the spring to observe the Louisiana Reading Festival, designed to enrich living through reading. The festival will be held from the first of February through March and April.

In cooperation with parish libraries throughout this district, a column will run each week, giving special items of interest in each of the libraries in this area.

In the sixteen parishes covered in this area, twelve libraries serve a total of 275,122 persons, while four parishes within the Fifth Congressiinal District have a total population of 77,605. This means that the persons living in Union, West Carroll, Jackson and Lincoln have no parish libraries, but does not mean there are not books available. Private and school libraries in many instances provide reading pleasure for some of these residents. But that is not sufficient, librarians point out.

Presently being served with public parish libraries are Ouachita, Morehouse, Madison, East Carroll, Franklin, Richland, Tensas Catahoula, Concordia and Caldwell Parishes in the Fifth District, and LaSalle and Winn, whose librarians meet with the local group.

In Ouachita Parish alone a total of 291,628 books were read by patrons of the public library. This means that the four branches of the library have lent out approximately four books to each person in the parish.

In Morehouse Parish the total circulation for 1954 was 90,038, which is the largest in the history of the library. The outstanding increase was at the Bonita branch, where 3,968 were lent in 1953, with this number jumping to 6,185 last year. There are 271 registered borrowers at this branch, with Mrs. Agnes Baggett in charge.

The largest per registered borrower circulation in Morehouse Parish was in Oak Ridge, where 91 registered borrowers circulated 6,384 books.

While the Catahoula people are hunters and fishermen mainly, they are readers too. In 1954 they read 104,473 books and magazines, which with the parish's population of 11,834 means 8.8 books and-or magazines per person.

Members of the 4-H Clubs in Catahoula started reading this month for their special reading certificates to be awarded to those earning them on the annual 4-H Club Achievement Day in April. Six books must be read with one or the equivalent on the subject of their project.

In Caldwell Parish with a population of 10,293, a total of 82,099 books were borrowed from the parish library. This is an average of 7.9 books per person.

In Madison Parish this will be the first full year the parish library has operated on a tax income. A mill tax was voted last March 23 (1954) enabling the library to continue its existence.

This month the Madison Parish library celebrates its tenth birthday.

In LaSalle Parish the public library has been supplying mission study groups of the churches with information on India and Alaska.

The library cooperated in getting the books for background material and also procured films to be shown to four different groups.

The parish librarian, Lola Cooper, appeared before the group studying India and gave a review of the book "House of Earth" by Dorothy Wilson.

The outstanding activity of the Winn Parish library during the year was the construction of a modern library building at the approximate cost of $44,000 with new furniture and equipment valued at $12,000. Landscaping of the grounds is now in progress.

During last year 150,975 books were checked out from the Winn Parish library. Of this number 52,700 were checked out to rural readers from the six bookmobile routes that operate within the parish.

East Carroll residents set a record last fall by voting tax support for a library only four months after the service opened as a Louisiana State Library demonstration. Parish Librarian Elizabeth Cammack pointed out that the library service offers books and magazines to everyone in the parish through a branch in Lake Providence and the bookmobile to all other areas. A second branch in Lake Providence serves the Negro residents. The bookmobile goes out on five biweekly trips, making 80 stops throughout the parish.

In Franklin Parish, the librarian, Miss Eunice E. Heitman pointed out that the cost of circulating each book in 1954 was a nickel less than the previous year. New officers of the Franklin Parish library board, elected Jan. 14, are Mrs. C. R. Adams, Sr., president; Mrs. E. Asa Kiper, vice-president; and B. S. Landis, Sr., treasurer.

HIGHEST general honors at Louisiana Tech's recent commencement exercises went to Earline Marie Ogden, (above) of Oak Grove, who majored in social welfare. The West Carroll senior finished with summa cum laude distinction, having an over-all average of 2.93 for her last four semesters. She also received departmental honor in sociology.

Liquor Licensing Division Rapped, In New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS —UP— The city's licensing division Saturday was under fire for issuing 1955 liquor permits to establishments which were under scrutiny by the city for alleged violations in 1954.

Lee C. Grevemberg, chairman of the state board of tax appeals, criticized the action yesterday and said the city issued permits "in the teeth of its own petitions to stop these bar rooms from operating."

He called the licensing division "inept" and charged it with "goofing off."

Grevemberg's remarks came yesterday after Clarence Simmons, owner of the Cabaret bar, was found guilty in municipal court of allowing B drinking on his premises. But, he said, "There's nothing to suspend since the violation occurred in 1954 and that year's license has expired."

Grevemberg said, "Any further action must come from the city or state in the form of another petition seeking revocation of the 1955 license."

Louisiana Beauty Queens To Attend Washington Ball

WASHINGTON (AP)—A score of Louisiana beauty queens will come to Washington for the Louisiana State Society Mardi Gras ball Feb. 18.

Each of the girls has won a contest or festival in Louisiana the past year.

The ball, one of the most popular of the annual round of state society funcitons, this year will feature the Louisiana rice industry and the Louisiana Acadians.

A king and queen, to be named later, will preside over the ball in customary Mardi Gras style and a tableaux will tell the story of the French Acadians who settled in southern Louisiana's bayous and launched the rice industry. It is being prepared by society president Dan Broussard, Rep. T.A. Thompson D-La and other members of the delegation.

Louisiana queens who are to attend and the festival they represent include:

16,000 Veterans Seeking Beds In Mental Hospitals

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29—UP—Harvey V. Higley, administrator of veterans affairs, said Saturday that 16,000 veterans are on a waiting list for beds in mental hospitals.

Higley made the statement in a discussion of veterans affairs on the CBS radio program "Capitol Cloakroom."

He disclosed that of the $33 billion home and business loans made by the Veterans Administration, losses have totaled only $21 million, or .1 per cent.

"I think the program has been a great success," he said.

Higley said one of the great problems facing his agency is hospitalization for mentally-disturbed patients. He said there are 55,000 beds now available for this type of illness but the end of the hospital-building program is in sight.

After the addition of 3,000 more beds in three hospitals in the next few years, he said, the only hospital program in the offing will consist of possible replacements. He said this will not begin to take care of the 16,000 veterans waiting for beds.

Analytic Chemists To Meet At LSU

BATON ROUGE, Jan. 29 (AP) — Some 300 analytic chemists from colleges, industries and research laboratories across the country open a four-day symposium at Louisiana State University Monday.

Aching Back Is Problem Tackled At LSU Meeting

BATON ROUGE, Jan. 29 (AP) — Lawyers, doctors and insurance claims agents get together on the Louisiana State University campus March 25-26 to discuss the aching back as a problem in the insurance business.

Suits involving back injuries are among the most difficult to handle, said LSU law professor Wex S. Malone, who will act as chairman of the institute, jointly sponsored by the East Baton Rouge Bar and medical associations.

"We expect," said Malone, to acquaint attorneys with "those medical facts relating to back injuries that are essential to the successful conduct of workmen's compensation litigation.

"We also hope it will assist in promoting a better understanding between attorneys and physicians, who must work together to promote the interests of justice in this type of hotly contested controversy."

Dave Pearce Challenges Wisdom's Statement On Rare Charolais Cattle

BATON ROUGE, Jan. 29 (AP) — Louisiana Agriculture Commissioner Dave Pearce today branded as "ridiculous" an attorney's claim that the Charolais herd was smuggled from a section of Mexico "where there never has been an outbreak of hoof and mouth disease."

Why then, asked the commissioner, have 16 states threatened an embargo on Louisiana cattle and why has the U. S. Bureau of Animal Industry twice refused to admit the rare French breed?

He said the bureau advised him in a recent letter that imports still are restricted from the section of Mexico where the Charolais were purchased.

John Minor Wisdom, attorney for convicted smuggler A. A. Broussard of Lafayette, made the disease-free claim Friday night in announcing the herd would be returned to Mexico next week.

"Statements like this," Pearce countered, "come from people not familiar with the disease."

Pearce said he has been assured by the U. S. Customs office in New Orleans that the herd of 97 animals, quarantined for nearly two years near Lafayette, would be out of Louisiana by midnight, Feb. 3, with shipments starting a day earlier.

"As soon as that happens," he told reporters, "I am certain the 16 states will halt their embargo threats. The herd has cost Louisiana a lot of trouble and money.

"Already our cattle prices have dropped lower than other states because buyers don't want to get involved."

Wisdom returned recently from Mexico where he negotiated for return of the herd, smuggled across the Rio Grande in the summer of 1953. Broussard was ordered to pay either a million dollar penalty or pay quarantine and shipping costs.

District Library News

School, college and public librarians are joining together during the spring to observe the Louisiana Reading Festival, designed to enrich living through reading. The festival will be held from the first of February through March and April.

In cooperation with parish libraries throughout this district, a column will run each week, giving special items of interest in each of the libraries in this area.

In the sixteen parishes covered in this area, twelve libraries serve a total of 275,122 persons, while four parishes within the Fifth Congressional District have a total population of 77,605. This means that the persons living in Union, West Carroll, Jackson and Lincoln have no parish libraries, but does not mean there are not books available. Private and school libraries in many instances provide reading pleasure for some of these residents. But that is not sufficient, librarians point out.

Presently being served with public parish libraries are Ouachita, Morehouse, Madison, East Carroll, Franklin, Richland, Tensas Catahoula, Concordia and Caldwell Parishes in the Fifth District, and LaSalle and Winn, whose librarians meet with the local group.

In Ouachita Parish alone a total of 291,628 books were read by patrons of the public library. This means that the four branches of the library have lent out approximately four books to each person in the parish.

In Morehouse Parish the total circulation for 1954 was 90,038, which is the largest in the history of the library. The outstanding increase was at the Bonita branch, where 3,968 were lent in 1953, with this number jumping to 6,185 last year. There are 271 registered borrowers at this branch, with Mrs. Agnes Baggett in charge.

The largest per registered borrower circulation in Morehouse Parish was in Oak Ridge, where 91 registered borrowers circulated 6,384 books.

While the Catahoula people are hunters and fishermen mainly, they are readers too. In 1954 they read 104,473 books and magazines, which with the parish's population of 11,834 means 8.8 books and-or magazines per person.

Members of the 4-H Clubs in Catahoula started reading this month for their special reading certificates to be awarded to those earning them on the annual 4-H Club Achievement Day in April. Six books must be read with one or the equivalent on the subject of their project.

In Caldwell Parish with a population of 10,293, a total of 82,099 books were borrowed from the parish library. This is an average of 7.9 books per person.

In Madison Parish this will be the first full year the parish library has operated on a tax income. A mill tax was voted last March 23 (1954) enabling the library to continue its existence.

In LaSalle Parish the public library has been supplying mission study groups of the churches with information on India and Alaska.

The library cooperated in getting the books for background material and also procured films to be shown to four different groups.

The parish librarian, Lola Cooper, appeared before the group studying India and gave a review of the book "House of Earth" by Dorothy Wilson.

The outstanding activity of the Winn Parish library during the year was the construction of a modern library building at the approximate cost of $44,000 with new furniture and equipment valued at $12,000. Landscaping of the grounds is now in progress.

During last year 150,975 books were checked out from the Winn Parish library. Of this number 52,700 were checked out to rural readers from the six bookmobile routes that operate within the parish.

East Carroll residents set a record last fall by voting tax support for a library only four months after the service opened as a Louisiana State Library demonstration. Parish Librarian Elizabeth Cammack pointed out that the library service offers books and magazines to everyone in the parish through a branch in Lake Providence and the bookmobile to all other areas. A second branch in Lake Providence serves the Negro residents. The bookmobile goes out on five biweekly trips, making 80 stops throughout the parish.

In Franklin Parish, the librarian, Miss Eunice E. Heitman pointed out that the cost of circulating each book in 1954 was a nickel less than the previous year. New officers of the Franklin Parish library board, elected Jan. 14, are Mrs. C. R. Adams, Sr., president; Mrs. E. Asa Kiper, vice-president; and B. S. Landis, Sr., treasurer.

Liquor Licensing Division Rapped, In New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS —UP— The city's licensing division Saturday was under fire for issuing 1955 liquor permits to establishments which were under scrutiny by the city for alleged violations in 1954.

Lee C. Grevemberg, chairman of the state board of tax appeals, criticized the action yesterday and said the city issued permits "in the teeth of its own petitions to stop these bar rooms from operating."

He called the licensing division "inept" and charged it with "goofing off."

Grevemberg's remarks came yesterday after Clarence Simmons, owner of the Cabaret bar, was found guilty in municipal court of allowing B drinking on his premises. But, he said, "There's nothing to suspend since the violation occurred in 1954 and that year's license has expired."

Grevemberg said, "Any further action must come from the city or state in the form of another petition seeking revocation of the 1955 license."

Four Northeast Louisiana Firms Given Charters

Four Northeast Louisiana firms were given charters of incorporation by the Louisiana secretary of state's office during the past week, Wade O. Martin Jr., secretary of state, announced.

The four are:

Scott Truck and Tractor Company of Wisner, Inc., 720 DeSiard street, Monroe, a truck, tractor and road equipment company incorporated with a capital stock of $100,000.

Scott Truck and Tractor Company of Delhi, Inc., a truck and tractor company incorporated with a capital stock of $100,000.

Libert Loan Corporation of Bastrop, Inc., 910 Richards Bldg., New Orleans, a loan company incorporated with a capital stock of $10,000.

HIGHEST general honors at Louisiana Tech's recent commencement exercises went to Earline Marie Ogden, (above) of Oak Grove, who majored in social welfare. The West Carroll senior finished with summa cum laude distinction, having an over-all average of 2.93 for her last four semesters. She also received departmental honor in sociology.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29—UP—Harvey V. Higley, administrator of veterans affairs, said Saturday that 16,000 veterans are on a waiting list for beds in mental hospitals.

Higley made the statement in a discussion of veterans affairs on the CBS radio program "Capitol Cloakroom."

He disclosed that of the $33 billion home and business loans made by the Veterans Administration, losses have totaled only $21 million, or .1 per cent.

"I think the program has been a great success," he said.

Higley said one of the great problems facing his agency is hospitalization for mentally-disturbed patients. He said there are 55,000 beds now available for this type of illness but the end of the hospital-building program is in sight.

After the addition of 3,000 more beds in three hospitals in the next few years, he said, the only hospital program in the offing will consist of possible replacements. He said this will not begin to take care of the 16,000 veterans waiting for beds.

Ike On Links In Augusta; Enjoys Restful Weekend

AUGUSTA, Ga., Jan. 29 (AP) — President Eisenhower flew here today for a weekend rest and golfing respite from the Far Eastern crisis and other White House responsibilities.

The President arrived in his plane, Columbine III, a couple of hours after signing an extraordinary joint resolution of Congress empowering him to order armed action if necessary in defense of Formosa.

Eisenhower's press secretary, James Hagerty, was asked after the President's arrival if, as Pentagon sources reported, a series of orders to the U.S. 7th Fleet would follow quickly the signing of the almost unanimously adopted resolution. "No comment," Hagerty replied.

Eisenhower was greeted on arrival by a group including Brig. Gen. Francis E. Howard, commanding general of nearby Camp Gordon, and Elbert Peabody, Augusta banker and treasurer of Augusta National Golf Club.

He drove straight to his cottage on the golf course with Clifford Roberts, New York investment banker and a long time friend, who accompanied him on the flight from Washington along with a small White House staff.

The temperature was a brisk 38 degrees when Eisenhower landed. But it warmed up in the afternoon and the President, Roberts and others got in their first golf round of the trip.

Aides said the President's doctor, Maj. Gen. Howard Snyder, who came along from Washington, has been urging the chief executive for several weeks to get more outdoor exercise or at least more relaxation.

The staff members said Eisenhower has been kept busy virtually day and night ever since his Christmas stay here with the Far Eastern crisis and a series of messages to Congress and official evening functions.

Hagerty announced the President's health message, which for a second year will propose government backing of private health insurance systems to permit greater coverage, will be sent to Congress Monday.

This message originally was to have been submitted last Monday but was held up for Eisenhower's special message asking war powers to deal with the defense of Formosa.

There was an unscheduled occurance at the White House this morning before the President signed the Formosa resolution—a birthday kiss from Mamie Eisenhower for Sen. George (D-Ga).

George, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, was 77 today. He received congratulations from the President—and, to his blushing embarrassment, a birthday peck from Mrs. Eisenhower—in the President's office before the signing ceremony.

Hagerty said Eisenhower does not plan to attend church tomorrow. The President is scheduled to return to Washington probably Monday morning.

Monroe Boy, 15, Injured In Car, Bicycle Collision

A 15-year-old Monroe youth suffered minor injuries when struck by an automobile at the intersection of South Seventh and Plum street early yesterday afternoon.

According to the report of investigating officers, Harold Bolton, 20 of 1503 South Third street, was driving north in South Seventh street when Mickey Causey, 802 Winnsboro road, traveling west on Plum street on a bicycle, rode out in front of Bolton's car and was struck.

The youth was taken by Peters ambulance to Wright Bendel Clinic where he was treated for cuts and bruises about the face and a hip injury. He was hospitalized for further observation.

said that a killer could be provided for $1,500.

Houston police held John McKinnis, 45, an air conditioning installer, and James Fife, 35, a construction worker, but did not charge them immediately. McKinnis was the informer and may get a $10,000 reward offered by the Weaver family.

Mrs. Weaver, a descendant of pioneer West Texas settlers and a social leader, was murdered Jan. 19. When she pushed on the starter, nitrogel, packed around the floorboards and wired to the ignition, blew parts of her car half a block and horribly mutilated her.

Suspicion first alighted on Washburn, because of his trouble with Mrs. Weaver three years ago. He apparently was cleared and investigators told Harry L. Weaver, 67, an archeologist, rancher and architect who was her second husband, that he was their No. 1 suspect.

But the facts Saturday indicated that Weaver, far from being a suspect, was the intended victim and that Mrs. Weaver was killed because she tried to start an automobile that the killers suspected her husband would try to drive away in.

"That's wonderful; Wonderful;" Weaver said at his ranch home, 20 miles north of San Angelo when he heard the news. "I suspected Washburn did it.

"I was the intended victim. Washburn wanted me out of the way. I was a man. He couldn't handle me. If he could have killed me, he could have bullied Mrs. Weaver out of all the money she had.

"I am positive that was the reason."

Warrants for the arrest of Washburn and Henninger were issued in San Angelo at midnight by Justice of the Peace J. B. Holberg. Then before dawn, Texas Rangers and Houston police - Houston is 350 miles to the southeast - routed the suspects out of bed.

Ranger Ralph Rohatsch and District Attorney Aubrey Stokes of San Angelo took charge of Washburn and Henninger and returned them to San Angelo. On the way, they stopped in Austin, the state capital, long enough to fingerprint and photograph the suspects.

Stokes said a grand jury will be summoned into extraordinary session Monday to consider the evidence. Houston police said Washburn wouldn't talk but that Henninger "has admitted some part in the murder."

McKinnis met Houston detectives in an apartment and told them that Washburn had tried for many months to "hire a killer to take Weaver's life." According to Detective H. K. Thompson, McKinnis said that less than a week before Mrs. Weaver was murdered Washburn said: "If you don't do this job, I'll do it myself."

Last April, McKinnis said, Washburn rented him and Fife an automobile to drive to San Angelo. But they went on a spree in Laredo, along the border, instead. While there, they talked with a "Mexican cabinet maker" who told them a "killer" could be furnished for $1,500.

That was why Laredo and Nuevo Laredo police were asked to try to find the cabinet maker.

Washburn used to be married to one of Mrs. Weaver's two daughters. They were divorced and Washburn's ex - wife is now Mrs. Helen Willcockson of Billings Mont.

They had two children and Percy Foreman, Washburn's lawyer, said she gave them to Washburn two years ago on condition that she never see them again.

Mrs. Weaver's other daughter is Mrs. Ed Blackburn of Houston. Houston police said Washburn's appliance business in Houston failed last year and that he lost $114,000.

They said he apparently believed that if he could get Weaver out of the way, he could get some of Mrs. Weaver's money, which he needed badly.

Washburn's earlier trouble with Mrs. Weaver arose out of his charge that she broke up his marriage. He was indicted, but never tried and Stokes said the indictment was still "active."

One Killed And Four Injured In Head-On Wreck

NATCHEZ, Miss., Jan. 29—One person was killed instantly and four others injured, two critically, in a head-on collision 12 miles south shortly after 7 o'clock this morning.

William Aubrey Goss, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Goss, Sr., of Vidalia, La., was fatally injured and two companions, all employees of the Armstrong Tire and Rubber Company of Natchez, William Harold Partridge, 24, and John E. Sebille, 25, were hurt and two occupants of the other car, the driver, James W. Nicholson, 36, Baton Rouge, La., and his father, Malcolm M. Nicholson, 68, were injured, the son critically, as a result of the collision.

State highway patrolman I. H. Lee investigated the accident and the injured persons were brought to Natchez for treatment. The car driven by Goss was going south and the other car, coming from Baton Rouge, was en route to Monroe at the time of the wreck, which demolished both cars.

Sebille suffered a broken left arm and other injuries; Partridge had a broken jaw, cuts and bruises, while the younger Nicholson, an employee of the Esso Standard Oil Company in Baton Rouge, had internal injuries, and a possible ruptured liver, and was being given blood transfusions. His father a native of New Orleans, had a head injury, dislocated hip and cuts and bruises. The younger Nicholson and Partridge were most critically injured.

Goss, a graduate of the Cathedral High School of Natchez, where he was an outstanding football and basketball performer, was discharged 4 months ago from the U. S. Navy after serving for 4 years.

Services will be held in St. Mary's Cathedral Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock in charge of Baldwin Brothers Funeral Home.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Goss, Sr., of Vidalia; a sister, Helen Marie, Vidalia; and three brothers, James, Leroy and Robert E., of Vidalia and by other relatives in Natchez and Vidalia.

Father Thomas Tuite, assistant pastor, St. Mary's Cathedral will officiate and interment will take place in the Natchez City Cemetery.

pany on locating the plant here."

Hinman's announcement last week said the $20,000,000 plant would be "located somewhere in the south" but said no definite site has been picked.

"Our decision to build a newsprint mill in the south was motivated by our conviction that the south's population and general economy are in a continuing period of major expansion and this expansion will increase the local demand for newsprint," he was quoted as saying at the time.

He said the plant is expected to begin operation sometime in the latter part of 1956 and will employ initially about 425 persons.

The International Paper Co. Inc. owns nine pulp and paper board mills and eight converting plants in seven southern states, employing 18,000 persons.

The company owns or holds long-term lease on 3,500,000 acres of southern timberland and expects to supply its own timber for the proposed mill.

er's Formosa policy an indication that more and more Americans favor a firm stand against communism.

One newspaper commented that the Senate's endorsement of Eisenhower's plan would be helpful in "clarifying the past confusion and uncertainty of American policy in this part of the world." It said that the action would erect a gravestone on "America's past tendency toward appeasement in the Far East."

The Nationalist Chinese, however, were not enthusiastic over the scheduled meeting Monday of the U.N. Security Council to consider possibility of a cease-fire in the offshore island area. They expressed fear a cease-fire would react to the Reds' advantage.

The U.S. 7th Fleet now in Formosan waters is ready to cover evacuation of the 15,000 Nationalist troops and as many civilians from the Tachens.

Nationalist Defense Minister Gen. Yu Ta-wei, returned Friday night from a secret visit to the Tachens. It was believed he carried orders to the commander of the Tachen garrison for evacuation of troops.

Communist propaganda broadcasts from Peiping recently have been appealing to the Tachen Nationalist troops to defect. The troops, however, were said to have pledged full support for any decision taken by the Nationalist government.

Peiping radio asserted the Reds want no cease-fire. A broadcast of a lead article in the official Peoples Daily said the idea of a cease-fire "is absolutely unacceptable."

Commenting on President Eisenhower's Formosa policy, the Red radio said: "The Chinese people resolutely oppose and sternly condemn this U.S. war provocation. We are determined to liberate Formosa. If U.S. armed forces dare attack us, we will firmly strike back with heavy blows."

Dr. Johns will spend much time in travel, and his first assignment will be during the month of March, all of which will be spent, he states, in Alaska so as to become familiar with the local situation there.

West Monroe has a rather novel industry which is no more nor less than a "cricket farm." It occupies a plant at 1127 Wood street there and building recently erected and equipped is said to have cost more than $50,000.

The first batch of fishbaits, to the sum total of over a million, will be ready to be marketed March 15. Business will be chiefly wholesale and will be done through the mails.

Plans are complete for the annual mid-winter fifth district alumni banquet of Louisiana State University, states Alumnus Charles D. Blaylock. It will be held in Hotel Virginia February 1 at 7:30 p.m.

The principal address at the banquet will be by Dr. William W. Frye, dean of the L. S. U. school of medicine in New Orleans. President Troy H. Middleton will be honor guest.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Gates, West Monroe, will be honored by their daughters today on the occasion of their Golden Wedding anniversary. A tea is planned in their honor at 510 Clayton street, West Monroe, from three to six o'clock this afternoon.

F. M. Gates, a jovial soul whose friends are unnumbered, will be remembered, up to several years ago, when he retired from active service. He had become widely known as the "water man" who was accustomed to sing hymns as he delivered heavy water bottles to his clients. He got to be known as "Singing Gates."

The annual turkey dinner sponsored by the Catholic Daughters of America, will be held from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m., today in St. Matthew's cafeteria as benefit of the Monroe Maternity clinic, non-sectarian organization serving a worthy cause.

Those attending will be served a fine dinner with all the "trimmings" and at the same time will be assisting in a worth while project.

ble disorder. Servants, relatives said apparently nothing was missing.

Some money was found in drawers, and a wall safe in an adjoining dressing room contained miscellaneous papers which had not been touched.

Officers expressed certainty that the killer brought with him the adhesive tape and cord used to bind and throttle the 46-year-old Rubinstein.

They said there was no sign of forced entry at the six-story residence facing Manhattan's famed Central Park.

Rubinstein frequently had the locks changed at his home. He was in the habit of passing out duplicate keys to friends—many of them women.

Police laboratory technicians made a minute examination of the tape and cord in the slim hope they might establish the manufacturer.

Once this was done there would be the possibility of following through to the wholesaler, retailer and perhaps even the murderer.

Rubinstein's body, clad in black silk pajamas, was found in his third-floor bedroom at 8:30 a.m. Thursday by his butler.

It was soon established that he had been alive as late as about 2 a.m.

She said she and Rubinstein left a night club about 1:30 a.m. and went to Rubinstein's home for a night cap and Rubinstein told her he was tired.

He took her downstairs and saw her to the door, she said.

She walked a block south to the Hotel Pierre and took a cab there for her own residence, she said.

Nehru Ready To Try Mediation In Formosa Crisis

LONDON, Jan. 29 (AP) — India's Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru indicated today his country stands ready to try mediation in the tense Formosa crisis if called upon to do so.

Nehru, on his arrival here for the British commonwealth prime ministers meeting opening Monday, was asked by reporters whether India would consider mediating the dispute over Formosa. He replied:

"Whenever an opportunity offers itself and we can play a useful role, a helpful one, we think we ought to do it, provided there is that opportunity."

Adm. Stump Reaches Formosa For Talks

TAIPEH, Sunday, Jan. 30 (AP) — Adm. Felix B. Stump, commander in chief in the Pacific, arrived here this morning and went into immediate conference at Pine Hill airport with top American officials before calling on Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

It was believed Stump may have brought personally the orders necessary for the U.S. 7th Fleet to help the Chinese Nationalists withdraw their forces and civilians from the threatened Tachen Islands.

Car Leaves Road, Occupant Killed

VICKSBURG, Miss., Jan. 29 (AP)— A Lorman, Miss., man was killed instantly today when his car left U.S. Highway 61 and crashed into a ravine about 16 miles south of Vicksburg.

Highway patrolmen R. W. Hollingsworth and A. W. Sumerall identified the victim as James Brown, 33. Witnesses said Brown's car failed to straighten out after passing another car.

13 Relatives Of Captives Uphold State Department

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Jan. 29 (AP)—The State Department's refusal of passports to relatives of American airmen held in Red China as "spies" today met with approval of 13 of those relatives who met here for a dinner in their honor.

"As a group we feel the State Department's ruling x x x is in the best interests of all the members of this group, our loved ones in China and the nation as a whole," they said in a joint statement.

The visitors heard Herman Talmadge, former governor of Georgia, demand protection for U. S. nationals abroad and criticize this nation's leadership and foreign policy in the principal speech at the dinner.

"The United States has looked the other way for so long while its people have been mistreated by hostile governments that the rights of American citizens are no longer rspected in more than half the world," he said in a speech prepared for the dinner.

"We have lost ground because we have no strong foreign policy. We have been floundering with no direction. Our people want leadership which will set a course and follow through.

"The point has been reached when the President and members of Congress should declare as the policy of this nation the guarantee of the full protection of our armed might to American civilians and servicemen where ever they may go or be sent to serve in the world.

"We should spell out exactly what areas we will defend and make it perfectly clear that to violate this is to invite all out war."

Picket White House

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 (AP) — More than 50 pickets paraded before the White House for an hour today, carrying placards urging a peaceful solution of the Formosa issue and proclaiming "stop the drift toward war." Leaders described groups backing the march as "pacifist organizations" from New York and Philadelphia.

and that this operation would now proceed.

The President read a statement after affixing his signature at 8:42 a.m. to the joint congressional resolution for the defense of Formosa. He stressed both the warlike and the peaceful aspects of the unprecedented action, which began Monday when he asked Congress to endorse his Formosa policy and establish beyond question his power to carry it out.

The House first approved the joint resolution Tuesday by a vote of 409-3. Then Friday night, after a bitter argument over the extent of the President's powers and whether he could order a "preventive war" against Communist China, the Senate adopted the resolution 85-3.

Under it Eisenhower now has clear authority through his own constitutional powers and from Congress to use American armed forces to defend Formosa against any attack on the island itself or on any island off the Red China shore. He also has authority to use American forces against any concentration of troops assembled on the Communist mainland for the presumed purpose of invading Formosa.

The evacuation of the Tachen Islands 200 miles north of Formosa will involve grave risks of some American losses, administration officials believe, and so will the redeployment of Chiang Kai-shek's forces to Formosa or to such key offshore positions as the Quemoys and Matsus. It was understood here that American pilots will have the right of "hot pursuit" if Chinese jets attack and then run back over the China mainland, a right denied the Americans during the Korean War.

3. Continued stress on research into the uses of radioactive materials to treat cancer and other diseases. The report said the Argonne Research Hospital in Illinois has found it practical to treat cancer of the pancreas with radioiodine encased in plastic tubing. It says attempts are being made at Argonne to implant plastic envelopes containing another radioactive substance, cesium, in the brain and chest.

4. A heavy increase in the mining of uranium, the raw material for most atomic products. The report said ore is being mined in this country faster than it can be processed, resulting in large stockpiles at many points. Private drilling was said to be going on at twice the rate of government drilling.

Sebille, 25, were hurt and two occupants of the other car, the driver, James W. Nicholson, 36, Baton Rouge, La., and his father, Malcolm M. Nicholson, 68, were injured, the son critically, as a result of the collision.

State highway patrolman I. H. Lee investigated the accident and the injured persons were brought to Natchez for treatment. The car driven by Goss was going south and the other car, coming from Baton Rouge, was en route to Monroe at the time of the wreck, which demolished both cars.

Sebille suffered a broken left arm and other injuries; Partridge had a broken jaw, cuts and bruises, while the younger Nicholson, an employee of the Esso Standard Oil Company in Baton Rouge, had internal injuries, and a possible ruptured liver, and was being given blood transfusions. His father a native of New Orleans, had a head injury, dislocated hip and cuts and bruises. The younger Nicholson and Partridge were most critically injured.

Goss, a graduate of the Cathedral High School of Natchez, where he was an outstanding football and basketball performer, was discharged 4 months ago from the U. S. Navy after serving for 4 years.

Services will be held in St. Mary's Cathedral Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock in charge of Baldwin Brothers Funeral Home.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Goss, Sr., of Vidalia; a sister, Helen Marie, Vidalia; and three brothers, James, Leroy and Robert E., of Vidalia and by other relatives in Natchez and Vidalia.

Father Thomas Tuite, assistant pastor, St. Mary's Cathedral will officiate and interment will take place in the Natchez City Cemetery.

Hinman's announcement last week said the $20,000,000 plant would be "located somewhere in the south" but said no definite site has been picked.

"Our decision to build a newsprint mill in the south was motivated by our conviction that the south's population and general economy are in a continuing period of major expansion and this expansion will increase the local demand for newsprint," he was quoted as saying at the time.

He said the plant is expected to begin operation sometime in the latter part of 1956 and will employ initially about 425 persons.

The International Paper Co. Inc. owns nine pulp and paper board mills and eight converting plants in seven southern states, employing 18,000 persons.

The company owns or holds long-term lease on 3,500,000 acres of southern timberland and expects to supply its own timber for the proposed mill.

er's Formosa policy an indication that more and more Americans favor a firm stand against communism.

One newspaper commented that the Senate's endorsement of Eisenhower's plan would be helpful in "clarifying the past confusion and uncertainty of American policy in this part of the world." It said that the action would erect a gravestone on "America's past tendency toward appeasement in the Far East."

The Nationalist Chinese, however, were not enthusiastic over the scheduled meeting Monday of the U.N. Security Council to consider possibility of a cease-fire in the offshore island area. They expressed fear a cease-fire would react to the Reds' advantage.

The U.S. 7th Fleet now in Formosan waters is ready to cover evacuation of the 15,000 Nationalist troops and as many civilians from the Tachens.

Nationalist Defense Minister Gen. Yu Ta-wei, returned Friday night from a secret visit to the Tachens. It was believed he carried orders to the commander of the Tachen garrison for evacuation of troops.

Communist propaganda broadcasts from Peiping recently have been appealing to the Tachen Nationalist troops to defect. The troops, however, were said to have pledged full support for any decision taken by the Nationalist government.

Peiping radio asserted the Reds want no cease-fire. A broadcast of a lead article in the official Peoples Daily said the idea of a cease-fire "is absolutely unacceptable."

Commenting on President Eisenhower's Formosa policy, the Red radio said: "The Chinese people resolutely oppose and sternly condemn this U.S. war provocation. We are determined to liberate Formosa. If U.S. armed forces dare attack us, we will firmly strike back with heavy blows."

West Monroe has a rather novel industry which is no more nor less than a "cricket farm." It occupies a plant at 1127 Wood street there and building recently erected and equipped is said to have cost more than $50,000.

The first batch of fishbaits, to the sum total of over a million, will be ready to be marketed March 15. Business will be chiefly wholesale and will be done through the mails.

Plans are complete for the annual mid-winter fifth district alumni banquet of Louisiana State University, states Alumnus Charles D. Blaylock. It will be held in Hotel Virginia February 1 at 7:30 p.m.

The principal address at the banquet will be by Dr. William W. Frye, dean of the L. S. U. school of medicine in New Orleans. President Troy H. Middleton will be honor guest.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Gates, West Monroe, wil be honored by their daughters today on the occasion of their Golden Wedding anniversary. A tea is planned in their honor at 510 Clayton street, West Monroe, from three to six o'clock this afternoon.

F. M. Gates, a jovial soul whose friends are unnumbered, will be remembered, up to several years ago, when he retired from active service. He had become widely known as the "water man" who was accustomed to sing hymns as he delivered heavy water bottles to his clients. He got to be known as "Singing Gates."

The annual turkey dinner sponsored by the Catholic Daughters of America, will be held from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m., today in St. Matthew's cafeteria as benefit of the Monroe Maternity clinic, non-sectarian organization serving a worthy cause.

Those attending will be served a fine dinner with all the "trimmings" and at the same time will be assisting in a worth while project.

ble disorder. Servants, relatives said apparently nothing was missing.

Some money was found in drawers, and a wall safe in an adjoining dressing room contained miscellaneous papers which had not been touched.

Officers expressed certainty that the killer brought with him the adhesive tape and cord used to bind and throttle the 46-year-old Rubinstein.

They said there was no sign of forced entry at the six-story residence facing Manhattan's famed Central Park.

Rubinstein frequently had the locks changed at his home. He was in the habit of passing out duplicate keys to friends—many of them women.

Police laboratory technicians made a minute examination of the tape and cord in the slim hope they might establish the manufacturer. Once this was done there would be the possibility of following through to the wholesaler, retailer and perhaps even the murderer.

Rubinstein's body, clad in black silk pajamas, was found in his third-floor bedroom at 8:30 a.m. Thursday by his butler.

It was soon established that he had been alive as late as about 2 a.m.

She said she and Rubinstein left a night club about 1:30 a.m. and went to Rubinstein's home for a night cap and Rubinstein told her he was tired.

He took her downstairs and saw her to the door, she said.

She walked a block south to the Hotel Pierre and took a cab there for her own residence, she said.

Nehru Ready To Try Mediation In Formosa Crisis

LONDON, Jan. 29 (AP) — India's Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru indicated today his country stands ready to try mediation in the tense Formosa crisis if called upon to do so.

Nehru, on his arrival here for the British commonwealth prime ministers meeting opening Monday, was asked by reporters whether India would consider mediating the dispute over Formosa. He replied:

"Whenever an opportunity offers itself and we can play a useful role, a helpful one, we think we ought to do it, provided there is that opportunity."

Adm. Stump Reaches Formosa For Talks

TAIPEH, Sunday, Jan. 30 (AP) — Adm. Felix B. Stump, commander in chief in the Pacific, arrived here this morning and went into immediate conference at Pine Hill airport with top American officials before calling on Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

It was believed Stump may have brought personally the orders necessary for the U.S. 7th Fleet to help the Chinese Nationalists withdraw their forces and civilians from the threatened Tachen Islands.

Car Leaves Road, Occupant Killed

VICKSBURG, Miss., Jan. 29 (AP)— A Lorman, Miss., man was killed instantly today when his car left U.S. Highway 61 and crashed into a ravine about 16 miles south of Vicksburg.

Highway patrolmen R. W. Hollingsworth and A. W. Sumerall identified the victim as James Brown, 33. Witnesses said Brown's car failed to straighten out after passing another car.

13 Relatives Of Captives Uphold State Department

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Jan. 29 (AP)—The State Department's refusal of passports to relatives of American airmen held in Red China as "spies" today met with approval of 13 of those relatives who met here for a dinner in their honor.

"As a group we feel the State Department's ruling x x x is in the best interests of all the members of this group, our loved ones in China and the nation as a whole," they said in a joint statement.

The visitors heard Herman Talmadge, former governor of Georgia, demand protection for U. S. nationals abroad and criticize this nation's leadership and foreign policy in the principal speech at the dinner.

"The United States has looked the other way for so long while its people have been mistreated by hostile governments that the rights of American citizens are no longer rspected in more than half the world," he said in a speech prepared for the dinner.

"We have lost ground because we have no strong foreign policy. We have been floundering with no direction. Our people want leadership which will set a course and follow through.

"The point has been reached when the President and members of Congress should declare as the policy of this nation the guarantee of the full protection of our armed might to American civilians and servicemen where ever they may go or be sent to serve in the world.

"We should spell out exactly what areas we will defend and make it perfectly clear that to violate this is to invite all out war."

Picket White House

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 (AP) — More than 50 pickets paraded before the White House for an hour today, carrying placards urging a peaceful solution of the Formosa issue and proclaiming "stop the drift toward war." Leaders described groups backing the march as "pacifist organizations" from New York and Philadelphia.

President Signs

and that this operation would now proceed.

The President read a statement after affixing his signature at 8:42 a.m. to the joint congressional resolution for the defense of Formosa. He stressed both the warlike and the peaceful aspects of the unprecedented action, which began Monday when he asked Congress to endorse his Formosa policy and establish beyond question his power to carry it out.

The House first approved the joint resolution Tuesday by a vote of 409-3. Then Friday night, after a bitter argument over the extent of the President's powers and whether he could order a "preventive war" against Communist China, the Senate adopted the resolution 85-3.

Under it Eisenhower now has clear authority through his own constitutional powers and from Congress to use American armed forces to defend Formosa against any attack on the island itself or on any island off the Red China shore. He also has authority to use American forces against any concentration of troops assembled on the Communist mainland for the presumed purpose of invading Formosa.

The evacuation of the Tachen Islands 200 miles north of Formosa will involve grave risks of some American losses, administration officials believe, and so will the redeployment of Chiang Kai-shek's forces to Formosa or to such key offshore positions as the Quemoys and Matsus. It was understood here that American pilots will have the right of "hot pursuit" if Chinese jets attack and then run back over the China mainland, a right denied the Americans during the Korean War.

3. Continued stress on research into the uses of radioactive materials to treat cancer and other diseases. The report said the Argonne Research Hospital in Illinois has found it practical to treat cancer of the pancreas with radioiodine encased in plastic tubing. It says attempts are being made at Argonne to implant plastic envelopes containing another radioactive substance, cesium, in the brain and chest.

4. A heavy increase in the mining of uranium, the raw material for most atomic products. The report said ore is being mined in this country faster than it can be processed, resulting in large stockpiles at many points. Private drilling was said to be going on at twice the rate of government drilling.

BILLY R. MAY

Billy Ray May, 18, of Chatham, polio victim whose only means of getting around the house is in a wheel chair, and whose condition is such he can not even dress and undress unaided, is eagerly desirous of having a TV set. It would make the hours of the day much more pleasant for him.

Such a plea was made through the News-Star a few days ago, the request for $100 being made by C. E. Thompson, of Chatham, driver of a school bus who knows young May and his condition well. He asked that money be mailed for the boy to him. Apparently the plea fell on deaf ears for there was no reply, states Mr. Thompson.

He says that he used to take May to school in his bus and he was about to enter high school when polio got him down. He has been treated in a polio center, has been in an iron lung and has been given every possible means for improvement but in vain.

If as little as $100 can be raised, the rest of the cost of a TV set will be obtained, Mr. Thompson states. He is eager to see well disposed persons rally to the cause for the youth is highly deserving, it is stated.

Stowaway From Holland Fished From Icy River

HOBOKEN, N.J. Jan. 29 (AP)—A 31-year-old stowaway from Hungary, fished out of the icy Hudson River last night minutes after he leaped from the Dutch liner Ryndam, today said he was the only survivor of a trio which escaped from a Communist prison on Christmas Eve.

Nicolaus Almassy, the man who tried vainly to enter the United States, was back aboard the Ryndam tonight, awaiting his return to Holland. Immigration officials ruled he could not remain here.

He said a friend who escaped with him from the prison in Hungary also jumped off the Ryndam last night as the ship neared the Statue of Liberty. The friend, Ludwig Reiger, has not been found and Almassy said he probably drowned.

Almassy said he and Reiger had planned to go to Canada where he had been in a prisoner-of-war camp during World War II. He said he was a bomber pilot in the German Luftwaffe and was shot down over London.

"We hoped and prayed for 7,000 miles that we would be free, and then we failed in the last 10 minutes," Almassy said.

He said he and Reiger were from a German-speaking section of Western Hungary and had enlisted in the German services in 1942.

Imprisoned by the Communists for the last seven years, Almassy said, the pair escaped with another friend last Christmas Eve from the detention camp at Flegrivesohavan, Hungary. They made their way to Vienna where friends gave them clothing, he said.

BILLY R. MAY

Billy Ray May, 18, of Chatham, polio victim whose only means of getting around the house is in a wheel chair, and whose condition is such he can not even dress and undress unaided, is eagerly desirous of having a TV set. It would make the hours of the day much more pleasant for him.

Such a plea was made through the News-Star a few days ago, the request for $100 being made by C. E. Thompson, of Chatham, driver of a school bus who knows young May and his condition well. He asked that money be mailed for the boy to him. Apparently the plea fell on deaf ears for there was no reply, states Mr. Thompson.

He says that he used to take May to school in his bus and he was about to enter high school when polio got him down. He has been treated in a polio center, has been in an iron lung and has been given every possible means for improvement but in vain.

If as little as $100 can be raised, the rest of the cost of a TV set will be obtained, Mr. Thompson states. He is eager to see well disposed persons rally to the cause for the youth is highly deserving, it is stated.

Stowaway From Holland Fished From Icy River

HOBOKEN, N.J. Jan. 29 (AP)—A 31-year-old stowaway from Hungary, fished out of the icy Hudson River last night minutes after he leaped from the Dutch liner Ryndam, today said he was the only survivor of a trio which escaped from a Communist prison on Christmas Eve.

Nicolaus Almassy, the man who tried vainly to enter the United States, was back aboard the Ryndam tonight, awaiting his return to Holland. Immigration officials ruled he could not remain here.

He said a friend who escaped with him from the prison in Hungary also jumped off the Ryndam last night as the ship neared the Statue of Liberty. The friend, Ludwig Reiger, has not been found and Almassy said he probably drowned.

Almassy said he and Reiger had planned to go to Canada where he had been in a prisoner-of-war camp during World War II. He said he was a bomber pilot in the German Luftwaffe and was shot down over London.

"We hoped and prayed for 7,000 miles that we would be free, and then we failed in the last 10 minutes," Almassy said.

He said he and Reiger were from a German-speaking section of Western Hungary and had enlisted in the German services in 1942.

Imprisoned by the Communists for the last seven years, Almassy said, the pair escaped with another friend last Christmas Eve from the detention camp at Flogriyesohavan, Hungary. They made their way to Vienna where friends gave them clothing, he said.

Stocks Advance During Week To New High Level

NEW YORK, Jan. 29 (AP) — The stock market drove ahead this week to near record high levels.

The Associated Press average was up $3.20 on the week, best showing in a month. It stood at $155.50. The high of the year Jan. 3 was $156.40. The all-time high of $157.70 came on Sept. 3, 1929.

Steel companies provided the most excitement. U. S. Steel directors raised the dividend to $1 from 75 cents and proposed a two-for-one split. Big Steel shot up 7 points Wednesday. Bethlehem Steel that day was up 7¾ ,and all steels were strong.

On Thursday it was Bethlehem's turn. Directors declared a dividend of $2.25 as against $1.25 the previous quarter and $2 a year ago, but they didn't split the stock. Bethlehem plunged down 3¾. The rest of the market sold off too.

The five most active issues this week were Pennsylvania Railroad up 1½, U. S. Steel up 7½, Curtiss-Wright up 1¾, Sunray Oil off 1⅞ and Boeing up ¾.

Grains Advance On War Scare

CHICAGO, Jan. 29 (AP)—An increase in international tensions lifted grains out of the lethargy they had been in for several weeks on the Board of Trade this week.

The possibility America might become involved in a shooting war in the Far East scared some shorts in all cereals, particularly soybeans, and the market enjoyed a general but relatively small advance. There was plenty of selling pressure to restrain gains.

Wheat closed the week ⅞-3⅛ higher, Rye ⅜ to ⅝-½ higher, soybeans 2½ to 10 cents higher and lard 23 to 55 cents a hundred pounds higher.

Manslaughter Case Ends In Mistrial

NEW IBERIA, La. —UP— A mistrial was declared today in the case of Mrs. Electa Dore, charged with manslaughter and criminal abortion.

Judge S. O. Landry in 16th judicial district court ordered the mistrial after the jury reported it didn't believe a verdict would be possible. The case went to the jury last night.

Mrs. Dore was charged as the result of the death Sept. 27, 1954, of Helen Paul, 17-year-old Negro girl. Five doctors had testified she died from complications resulting from an abortion.

A new trial was expected to be set for next July.

The woman previously had been convicted and given a three-year term on another abortion charge. Her appeal from that conviction is now before the Louisiana Supreme Court.

Cuba And Peru Fight For U. S. Sugar Quotas

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 (AP)—Cuba "alarmed over reports" of a possible cut in U. S. imports of Cuban sugar and Peru served notice it wanted to sell more sugar in this country.

Dr. Aurelio Concheso, Cuban ambassador to Washington, presented his country's attitude to Henry Holland, assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs.

As Concheso, Amadeo Lopez Castro and Arturo Manas, two Cuban sugar experts, walked out of Holland's office, Peruvian ambassador Fernando Berckemeyer went in.

Concheso told reporters later his group "emphasized that the Cuban government and the Cuban people are alarmed over reports that segments of the United States sugar industry are seeking once again to reduce the Cuban sugar quota in the United States market which during 1954 was the lowest in the last 12 years."

Ambassador Berckemeyer said he had presented Holland a formal memorandum asking the United States to triple Peru's sugar marketing quota in this country.

The Peruvian said he "emphasized the fact that for Peru there is no relief that can substitute for the right to sell more sugar in the United States."

Meanwhile the White House earlier today emphasized that President Eisenhower had taken no decision on a proposal of domestic beet and sugar cane producers for an immediate revision of the U. S. Sugar Act which regulates marketing quotas for domestic and foreign suppliers of the domestic sugar market.

The domestic sugar industry has for some time been seeking an increase in the domestic sugar marketing quotas.

Sen. Ellender Opposes Cotton Acreage Hikes

WASHINGTON (AP)—The man who heads the Senate Agriculture Committee served notice tonight he doesn't look with much favor on bills to hike the 1955 cotton acreage allotment and thinks they have no chance of passage.

Sen. Ellender (D-La), however, promised full hearings on the matter before his Agriculture Committee.

"I will see that both sides of the acreage question are heard," Ellender said, "but I must be frank in stating that even if an acreage increase bill were reported to the Senate, I believe it would be voted down.

"For my own part, I do not believe such legislation is in the best interests of our farmers."

Elaborating, in an address for delivery over radio station WWL in New Orleans, Ellender said that if the acreage is increased then the support price for the 1956 crop "doubtless will fall" under the present program of flexible price supports for farm crops.

"Since the support price for cotton . . . has been set at 90 per cent of parity for the next crop year," he added, "it is my recommendation that our farmers try to live within the acreage allotments imposed upon them and that they thus reduce present carry-overs."

The next year, Ellender said, if support prices for cotton are set at less than 90 per cent of parity, a move to return to the old rigid price support program would be successful.

"Our farmers," he said, "must realize that they can not have both high support levels and increased acreage. A move to boost cotton acreages now would perhaps spawn similar increases for other price-supported commodities and the net result would be a complete abandonment of any semblance of acreage sufficiently controlled to appreciably reduce carry-overs and to provide 90 per cent of parity."

If farmers want high support levels, he said, they must stay within their allotments and rely on local allotment provisions to take care of hardship cases.

Ellender's position was taken in the face of the fact that many Southern cotton states senators and representatives have proposed bills to hike the allotment.

The allotment was set by Secretary of Agriculture Benson at 18,131,000 acres, compared with 21,376,000 acres last year. Many growers have complained they are being cut too sharply. Complaints have been numerous from the small farmer cut to two or three acres and there have been proposals for an increase to give this group a little more acreage.

Soldiers Offer To Donate Skin

MUNICH, Germany, Jan. 29 —UP— Five soldiers volunteered Saturday to donate 18-square-inch sections of their skin for a buddy who suffered burns over 75 per cent of his body.

Doctors gave Pfc. Walter Jindra of Fort Towson, Okla., a good chance of recovering as they began an operation on the engineer company soldier who was burned last week when a can of gasoline caught fire and enveloped him in flames.

Capt. J. W. Blunt of New York, the surgeon, called for volunteer skin donors when it became apparent that skin grafts would be needed to save the soldier's life.

Several Bills Of Importance To Oil Industry Pending

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29, (AP)—The oil and gas industry watched Washington this week. A flurry of activities affected the industry.

Walter Hallanan, chairman of the National Petroleum Council, said an "effort to keep natural gas production under federal control is just another crucial battle in the never-ending war between free enterprise and socialism." He pledged, "We will meet this challenge."

Officials of the Texas Co., Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey and others appeared before the House Ways and Means Committee in support of H. R. 1, the reciprocal trade agreement extension bill.

William Vaughy of Jackson, Miss. president of the Independent Petroleum Assn. of America, said a group of independent oil and gas producer organization had agreed to recommend that the Trade Agreement Act be amended to limit oil imports to not more than 10 per cent of domestic requirements.

Vaughy said legislation introduced to "give relief to the coal industry" by limiting imports of residual as well as other oil imports would "receive our active support."

Men of the coal industry appear Monday before the Ways and Means Committee in support of such legislation.

The National Petroleum Council, an industry advisory group, re-elected Hallanan as its chairman. He is president of the Plymouth Oil Co. of Pittsburgh.

The council adopted a committee report recommending that the Bureau of Mines discontinue its experiments at Rifle, Colo., in production of oil from shale but maintain its Rifle facilities in standby condition.

Rep. Harris (D-Ark) introduced a bill to give consent for renewal of the Interstate Oil Compact. The present authority expires Sept. 1, 1955. Renewals usually have been for four-year periods.

Rep. Steed (D-Okla) offered a bill to limit oil, oil products and residual fuel oil imports to 10 per cent of domestic demand.

Stocks Advance During Week To New High Level

NEW YORK, Jan. 29 (AP) — The stock market drove ahead this week to near record high levels.

The Associated Press average was up $3.20 on the week, best showing in a month. It stood at $155.50. The high of the year Jan. 3 was $156.40. The all-time high of $157.70 came on Sept. 3, 1929.

Steel companies provided the most excitement. U. S. Steel directors raised the dividend to $1 from 75 cents and proposed a two-for-one split. Big Steel shot up 7 points Wednesday. Bethlehem Steel that day was up 7¾ ,and all steels were strong.

On Thursday it was Bethlehem's turn. Directors declared a dividend of $2.25 as against $1.25 the previous quarter and $2 a year ago, but they didn't split the stock. Bethlehem plunged down 3¾. The rest of the market sold off too.

The five most active issues this week were Pennsylvania Railroad up 1½, U. S. Steel up 7½, Curtiss-Wright up 1¾, Sunray Oil off 1⅞ and Boeing up ¾.

Grains Advance On War Scare

CHICAGO, Jan. 29 (AP)—An increase in international tensions lifted grains out of the lethargy they had been in for several weeks on the Board of Trade this week.

The possibility America might become involved in a shooting war in the Far East scared some shorts in all cereals, particularly soybeans, and the market enjoyed a general but relatively small advance. There was plenty of selling pressure to restrain gains.

Wheat closed the week ⅞-3⅛ higher, Rye ⅜ to ⅜-½ higher, soybeans 2½ to 10 cents higher and lard 23 to 55 cents a hundred pounds higher.

Manslaughter Case Ends In Mistrial

NEW IBERIA, La. —UP— A mistrial was declared today in the case of Mrs. Electa Dore, charged with manslaughter and criminal abortion.

Judge S. O. Landry in 16th judicial district court ordered the mistrial after the jury reported it didn't believe a verdict would be possible. The case went to the jury last night.

Mrs. Dore was charged as the result of the death Sept. 27, 1954, of Helen Paul, 17-year-old Negro girl. Five doctors had testified she died from complications resulting from an abortion.

A new trial was expected to be set for next July.

The woman previously had been convicted and given a three-year term on another abortion charge. Her appeal from that conviction is now before the Louisiana Supreme Court.

Soldiers Offer To Donate Skin

MUNICH, Germany, Jan. 29—UP—Five soldiers volunteered Saturday to donate 18-square-inch sections of their skin for a buddy who suffered burns over 75 per cent of his body.

Doctors gave Pfc. Walter Jindra of Fort Towson, Okla., a good chance of recovering as they began an operation on the engineer company soldier who was burned last week when a can of gasoline caught fire and enveloped him in flames.

Capt. J. W. Blunt of New York, the surgeon, called for volunteer skin donors when it became apparent that skin grafts would be needed to save the soldier's life.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 (AP)—Cuba "alarmed over reports" of a possible cut in U. S. imports of Cuban sugar and Peru served notice it wanted to sell more sugar in this country.

Dr. Aurelio Concheso, Cuban ambassador to Washington, presented his country's attitude to Henry Holland, assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs.

As Concheso, Amadeo Lopez Castro and Arturo Manas, two Cuban sugar experts, walked out of Holland's office, Peruvian ambassador Fernando Berckemeyer went in.

Concheso told reporters later his group "emphasized that the Cuban government and the Cuban people are alarmed over reports that segments of the United States sugar industry are seeking once again to reduce the Cuban sugar quota in the United States market which during 1954 was the lowest in the last 12 years."

Ambassador Berckemeyer said he had presented Holland a formal memorandum asking the United States to triple Peru's sugar marketing quota in this country.

The Peruvian said he "emphasized the fact that for Peru there is no relief that can substitute for the right to sell more sugar in the United States."

Meanwhile the White House earlier today emphasized that President Eisenhower had taken no decision on a proposal of domestic beet and sugar cane producers for an immediate revision of the U. S. Sugar Act which regulates marketing quotas for domestic and foreign suppliers of the domestic sugar market.

The domestic sugar industry has for some time been seeking an increase in the domestic sugar marketing quotas.

Sen. Ellender Opposes Cotton Acreage Hikes

WASHINGTON (AP)—The man who heads the Senate Agriculture Committee served notice tonight he doesn't look with much favor on bills to hike the 1955 cotton acreage allotment and thinks they have no chance of passage.

Sen. Ellender (D-La), however, promised full hearings on the matter before his Agriculture Committee.

"I will see that both sides of the acreage question are heard," Ellender said, "but I must be frank in stating that even if an acreage increase bill were reported to the Senate, I believe it would be voted down.

"For my own part, I do not believe such legislation is in the best interests of our farmers."

Elaborating, in an address for delivery over radio station WWL in New Orleans, Ellender said that if the acreage is increased then the support price for the 1956 crop "doubtless will fall" under the present program of flexible price supports for farm crops.

"Since the support price for cotton . . . has been set at 90 per cent of parity for the next crop year," he added, "it is my recommendation that our farmers try to live within the acreage allotments imposed upon them and that they thus reduce present carry-overs."

The next year, Ellender said, if support prices for cotton are set at less than 90 per cent of parity, a move to return to the old rigid price support program would be successful.

"Our farmers," he said, "must realize that they can not have both high support levels and increased acreage. A move to boost cotton acreages now would perhaps spawn similar increases for other price-supported commodities and the net result would be a complete abandonment of any semblance of acreage sufficiently controlled to appreciably reduce carry-overs and to provide 90 per cent of parity."

If farmers want high support levels, he said, they must stay within their allotments and rely on local allotment provisions to take care of hardship cases.

Ellender's position was taken in the face of the fact that many Southern cotton states senators and representatives have proposed bills to hike the allotment.

The allotment was set by Secretary of Agriculture Benson at 18,131,000 acres, compared with 21,376,000 acres last year. Many growers have complained they are being cut too sharply. Complaints have been numerous from the small farmer cut to two or three acres and there have been proposals for an increase to give this group a little more acreage.

Several Bills Of Importance To Oil Industry Pending

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29, (AP)—The oil and gas industry watched Washington this week. A flurry of activities affected the industry.

Walter Hallanan, chairman of the National Petroleum Council, said an "effort to keep natural gas production under federal control is just another crucial battle in the never-ending war between free enterprise and socialism." He pledged, "We will meet this challenge."

Officials of the Texas Co., Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey and others appeared before the House Ways and Means Committee in support of H. R. 1, the reciprocal trade agreement extension bill.

William Vaughy of Jackson, Miss. president of the Independent Petroleum Assn. of America, said a group of independent oil and gas producer organization had agreed to recommend that the Trade Agreement Act be amended to limit oil imports to not more than 10 per cent of domestic requirements.

Vaughy said legislation introduced to "give relief to the coal industry" by limiting imports of residual as well as other oil imports would "receive our active support."

Men of the coal industry appear Monday before the Ways and Means Committee in support of such legislation.

The National Petroleum Council, an industry advisory group, re-elected Hallanan as its chairman. He is president of the Plymouth Oil Co. of Pittsburgh.

The council adopted a committee report recommending that the Bureau of Mines discontinue its experiments at Rifle, Colo., in production of oil from shale but maintain its Rifle facilities in standby condition.

Rep. Harris (D-Ark) introduced a bill to give consent for renewal of the Interstate Oil Compact. The present authority expires Sept. 1, 1955. Renewals usually have been for four-year periods.

Rep. Steed (D-Okla) offered a bill to limit oil, oil products and residual fuel oil imports to 10 per cent of domestic demand.

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

Leadership alignments for the new seasons of competition in three different sports have developed here this week for professional baseball, college football, and two area golf clubs.

There was the appointment yesterday of Ed Head to manage the Twin Cities Sports of the Cotton States League another year, selection of Leon Manley, Edmonton Eskimos tackle and former Oklahoma Sooner star, as the line coach at Northeast Louisiana State, and the shifts among golf professionals that sees Buster Cupit returning as pro at McGuire Park Golf Club, West Monroe, the departure of Leonard Warren from McGuire to take over as pro at Morehouse Golf and Country Club, Bastrop, succeeding Milo Mattinson who is taking a job at Houston, Tex.

The reappointment of Head to again lead the Sports came as no surprise although the New York Yankees, who a week ago made a full working agreement with the directors of the Sports, had the right to name a new manager if they chose. Head was their man. After all Ed is a long-time friend of Atley Donald, the chief Yankee scout for this section of the country, and they have shown in the past that they can work together. It figures that Head can expect better talent under the working agreement than he had in his first season with the Sports last year.

The news on Manley has been eagerly awaited by Northeast followers since Lewis C. Slater, college president, revealed at the recent Indian football banquet that the school was planning to hire two assistant coaches. At the time he revealed one had played for Oklahoma and was in pro football, without naming any names. Now we know he was speaking of Manley, a giant of a man who will give Head Coach Devone Payne valuable assistance. The "other coach," so far not obtained to our knowledge, is desired to assist with basketball and football. Northeast is hunting the right man.

We're glad to have Cupit back on the golf front, but only wish we could keep Warren and Mattinson as well. But Warren isn't going too far (he's still in our territory) and we'll be hearing from him from time to time just as was the case with Milo. It's been mighty good to work with our golf professionals when the occasions arise. They're among the most cooperative of men. This goes for Winnie Cole at Bayou DeSiard and Hugh Britt at Municipal as well.

Promoter Gus Kallio gets charitable again Tuesday night when he dedicates a share of returns from his weekly wrestling show to the March of Dimes campaign against infantile paralysis. In addition, Gus has supplied Sam Rubin Jr., Ouachita drive chairman, with enough free passes to take care of the young polio victims on the Ouachita roll who are able to attend.

Eight-year-old Bobby Bentz endeared himself to Kallio unknowingly when the promoter was personally presenting Bobby with his free pass. It seems Gus had some old boxing tickets that he was using for polio passes. As he was handing Bobby his, the youngster noticed the word "boxing" boldly printed on the pasteboard. "I don't like boxing, I want a wrestling ticket," declared Bobby.

Gus, associated with wrestling practically all his life and a former welterweight and middleweight world's champion, was grinning his broadest as he explained.

Yankees Certify Directors' Pick To Handle Club

Ed Head, manager of the Twin Cities Sports of 1954, yesterday was named to continue at the helm of the Cotton States League club here for another season.

The announcement of Head's reappointment came from the Sports board of directors after they had been notified through Atley Donald, Yankee scout of this territory, that Head's application for the job had been approved by Lee MacPhail, director of the New York Yankees farm system.

Head, after several years in the Brooklyn Dodger system as pitcher and farm manager, took over as skipper of the Sports last season. His home is in West Monroe.

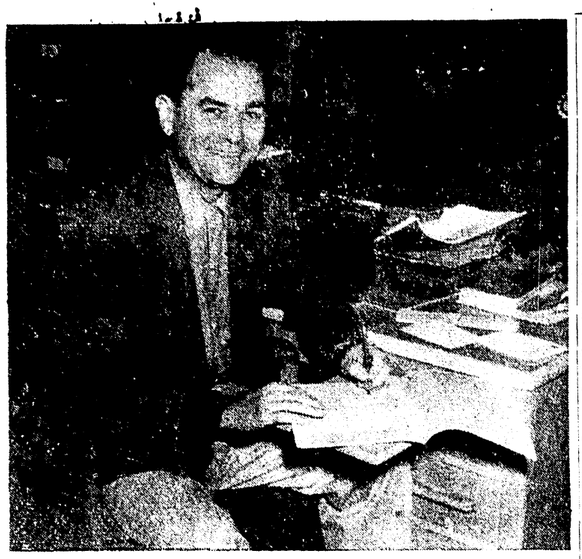
A week ago the Sports and Yankees reached terms of a full working agreement whereby the Twin Cities club becomes a member of the Yankee farm chain. Under the terms of the agreement, the Yankees could approve the manager, who also had to be acceptable to the directors of the home-owned club. Head met the approval of both.

"I'm mighty happy that the Yankees have seen fit to accept me into their organization," Head declared. "I believe a new era of baseball is beginning here and I'm glad to be a part of it."

"We're fortunate to have a man like Ed available for the job," Donald commented in behalf of the Yankees. "We are full aware of his abilities as a manager over the past seven or eight years in various classifications of baseball, and feel that we couldn't have done better in going along with the Twin Cities directors in the choice of Ed."

Meanwhile, Head is busy conducting such affairs of the club as selling season tickets, box seats, program advertising, and advertising on the park fence. So far the program that calls for a shortening on the left and right field fences at Legion Memorial Stadium hasn't started, but Head said the work will begin in the next few weeks.

Baseball fans interested in purchasing season book tickets, box seats, or advertising are invited to contact Head by telephoning 3-9461, or inquiring Saul Adler Tire Company, 3-8805.



HAPPY TO GO WITH YANKS — Edward M. Head (above), manager of the Twin Cities Sports last year, was all smiles yesterday at his office here when he received official notification that the New York Yankees, who recently accepted the Sports into a full working agreement for the approaching Cotton States League season, and the Sports board of directors had concurred on his reappointment as manager for another season. Head, a former pitcher and manager in the Brooklyn system, took over as pilot here last year. (Staff photo by John Oldenburg)

Determine Wins As 'Bump' Costs Miz Clementine

ARCADIA, Calif., Jan. 29 (AP) — Although beaten to the wire by a neck, the stretch running Determine won the $163,30 Santa Anita Maturity today when Calumet's Miz Clementine was penalized for bumping the little grey in the stretch drive.

The two battled head and head after coming out of the final turn with Miz Clementine pulling ahead after the bumping incident about a sixteenth mile from home in the mile and a quarter test of 4-year-olds.

Immediately after the race jockey Ray York, aboard Determine, charged a foul against Eddie Arcaro and Miz Clementine. The stewards upheld him and moved the filly into the No. 2 spot.

From the time they rounded the turn out of the back stretch it was strictly between Miz Clementine, the only gal in the race, and Determine, the leading money winner and Kentucky Derby champion of 1954.

But the bumping cost her the $87,000 top prize and boosted the earnings of Determine who in less than three years had won $374,535 prior to this race.

Determine paid $5.10, $.30 and $2.10. Miz Clementine returned $2.10 and $2.10 and James Session $2.20.

Cupit Back To McGuire; Warren In Bastrop Post

A turn-over in the professional golfing ranks of this section takes place tomorrow when Buster Cupit, former pro at McGuire Park Golf Club, West Monroe, returns to his old job and Leonard Warren, current McGuire pro, moves to Bastrop to replace the departing Milo Mattinson.

Clyde Nash, member of McGuire Park and spokesman for the club in its news release, last night said the movement among the pros began when Mattinson made an arrangement to leave Morehouse Golf and Country Club at Bastrop to accept new connections at Houston, Tex. Mattinson had been pro at Bastrop since leaving Bayou DeSiard Country Club here where he served a golf pro in the first year of the Bayou club's existence.

BUSTER CUPIT

Then Warren, who had taken over at McGuire when Cupit decided to give the tournament trail a whirl a year ago, snapped up the vacated position at Morehouse club.

Cupit, who left the tournament tours last fall, has been serving the past few months as an assistant pro at Longview, Tex., and was quick to accept the invitation of McGuire's members to return to his old post at West Monroe where he had served during 1953.

All the shifting pros will take over their new clubs tomorrow.

Said Cupit upon deciding to return to the Twin Cities: "This is the most progressive town I have visited in all my travels, and I am glad to return because the golf possibilities here are so great."

"We couldn't have found a better professional anywhere to serve our needs," declared Jimmy Green, McGuire club president. "We consider ourselves very fortunate to have found Cupit available. Our wishes for success go to Warren in his move to Bastrop, and to Mattinson with his new tasks at Houston."

It was also announced that McGuire has several openings for new members, and any golfers in this area who are interested are invited to contact Cupit or Green.

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 29 (AP)—Sea O Erin, mud-running son of Shannon 2nd out of Chantress, took the mile and a furlong Royal Palm Handicap before a top-coated crowd of 16,744 at Hialeah Park today.

With Kenny Church making up most of his 114 pounds, Sea O Erin took the lead passing the clubhouse and led six other distance runners home by three lengths, running the mile and an eighth in 1:53 flat over a slow track.

Bruce S. Campbell's Ram O' War made up ground to take second and L. Mantell's Immense finished third. Jaclyn stable's Hefast was fourth, with Sylvester Rich's entry of Varsity and Helianthus fifth and sixth, in that order.

Wheatley stable's full flight, top weighted at 119 pounds and second choice at $2.60 to 1, was last in the field of seven. The entry was favorite at $2.50 to 1.

Sea O Erin, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Allie Reuben of Hasty House farm, Toledo, Ohio, paid $10.60, $6.00 and $4.40 in the $2. Mutuels. Ram O' War returned $8.80 and $5.50. The show price on Immense was $4.80.

Touring Vagabonds Will Appear In Contest Here

The famed Vagabond Kings, touring professional basketball sensations of Dearborn, Mich., will appear in Neville High School gymnasium here Wednesday night against a selected men's team of Twin Cities All-Stars in what promises to be one of the cage sensations of the season in the Neville gym.

King Boring, owner of the Vagabonds, only recently acquired the services of Harry McLaughlin, the Tacoma, Wash., athlete who is known professionally as "the one-man basketball show." McLaughlin, who formerly starred at Pacific Lutheran College had been a sensation with the world-touring House of David until he joined the Vagabonds as a coach and player. His specialty is spinning six basketballs at one time.

Others traveling with the Vagabonds include Bill Ausmus, ex-Western Kentucky ace who spent one season with the whiskered wizards and another with the House of David; Bobby Dukes, the Atlanta, Ga., athlete who also is considered a great baseball prospect with the Atlanta Crackers of the Southern Association; Bob Keanum, a six-foot-four pivotman of Atlanta with a variety of two - hand and one - hand shots; Billy Saade, the 200 - pound "natural showman" of the troupe, also from Atlanta; and Elvin Coker, Knoxville, Tenn., refugee from Abe Saperstein's basketball syndicate as a former member of the Boston Whirlwinds. Coach Herschel McConathy of Neville, who is helping line up the opposing Twin Cities forces, expects to name his all-star lineup within the next day or two.

ANOTHER VAGABOND — Appearing in Neville gymnasium with the touring Vagabond Kings next Wednesday night will be Bill Ausmus (above), former Pacific Lutheran star who has seen service with the Wiskered Wizards and the House of David.

National League Erases Idea For 10-Team Circuit

NEW YORK, Jan. 29 (AP)—The National League today abandoned the idea of expanding to a 10-club league. President Warren Giles said "it is my conclusion there is no sentiment for any 10-club league now."

Giles said no "formal or informal" vote was taken at today's league meeting, but the expansion idea was discussed for an hour and a half.

Giles said the general sentiment of the clubowners seemed to be that expansion to 10 clubs might dilute the other eight teams already in the league. Other reasons cited, he said, were that there would be too many second-division clubs in a 10-club league and that there weren't enough ball players of major league caliber to go around.

Asked if the action, taken at a special league meeting to look over schedules of a possible 10-club league, did not give the American League an edge in the majors' battle for new territory, he replied:

"We realize all those things. If they (meaning the American League) want to go to 10 clubs, let them. Maybe we'll be better off than they."

The league head explained, however, that he did not want to shut the door on any future changes within the framework of an eight-club league.

"Practically everyone feels some cities not in the majors now eventually will be in the majors," he explained. "How and when I don't know, but it is inevitable. Maybe by transfer. Maybe by a third major league, but I don't think so."

Giles said he owners spent hardly any time at the meeting discussing the so-called "dry run" schedules for a 10-club league which he had sent them in advance.

Although Giles would not name any cities as possible future league cities — because, he said, the National League does not want to kill minor league interest in such cities. The ones that have been mentioned most prominently in the past include San Francisco, Los Angeles, Montreal, Toronto, Minneapolis-St. Paul, Houston and Dallas.

Spur On's Late Surge Captures Pelleteri Event

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 29 (AP) — Spur On, a stretch-running son of Whirlaway, made a late charge today to win the $13,570 Pelleteri Handicap, emblematic of the Fair Grounds sprint championship.

The seven-year - old son of the 1941 Kentucky Derby winner, recently purchased by Marvin E. Affeld, trailed in sixth place during the early running of the six-furlong feature as Martin Van Berg's Cajac and Mrs. J. H. Woodcock's Epic King fought for the lead.

Epic King set the pace as the field roared into the stretch, with Spur On running fifth. Joe W. Brown's Bobby Brocato made a bid for the lead midway through the stretch, but Jockey Hal Keene took Spur On to the outside to win by a neck over Bobby Brocato.

Spur On, part of the favored three-horse entry which included Two Fisted and Pursuance, returned $5.40, $2.60 and $2.20.

Wrestlers Battling Polio

Wrestling promoter Gus Kallio has dedicated his wrestling program Tuesday night to the March of Dimes fight on infantile paralysis, and in addition to donating a share of the three-match program's proceeds to the polio-fight fund, Kallio, through Ouachita Parish drive chairman Sam Rubin Jr., is mailing free passes to all young polio victims on the Ouachita rolls.

Gus, the bear, who gave the spectators such a thrill last week in his clear-cut win over Rasputin, the Mad Russian, returns Tuesday night to meet another husky, Danny Dusek, who thinks he has doped out a way to beat the "Gorgeous one."

The bear-Dusek match, billed as a semi-final, precedes the feature match pitting "Big Boy" Cronin against Chuck Molnar; a bout brought about by Cronin's challenge last week of the winner of the Molnar vs. Dusek main event.

A third match on the three-bout program sends popular Bill Barney, West Monroe garageman who has been handling the officiating duties here of late, against the bearded Rasputin. The Russian may think he may have an easier evening against non-bear Barney, but the former Louisiana amateur wrestling champion, especially before a hometown crowd, will be no pushover.

The Barney - Rasputin match opens the benefit program, and requires but one fall to win, with an hour time limit. The semi, between Gus, the bear, and Dusek, has no set number of falls, and no time limit. Neither will probably be necessary.

The Cronin-Molnar tussle is over the 90-minute time limit route, and requires two of three falls to win.

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

Leadership alignments for the new seasons of competition in three different sports have developed here this week for professional baseball, college football, and two area golf clubs.

There was the appointment yesterday of Ed Head to manage the Twin Cities Sports of the Cotton States League another year, selection of Leon Manley, Edmonton Eskimos tackle and former Oklahoma Sooner star, as the line coach at Northeast Louisiana State, and the shifts among golf professionals that sees Buster Cupit returning as pro at McGuire Park Golf Club, West Monroe, the departure of Leonard Warren from McGuire to take over as pro at Morehouse Golf and Country Club, Bastrop, succeeding Milo Mattinson who is taking a job at Houston, Tex.

The reappointment of Head to again lead the Sports came as no surprise although the New York Yankees, who a week ago made a full working agreement with the directors of the Sports, had the right to name a new manager if they chose. Head was their man. After all Ed is a long-time friend of Atley Donald, the chief Yankee scout for this section of the country, and they have shown in the past that they can work together. It figures that Head can expect better talent under the working agreement than he had in his first season with the Sports last year.

The news on Manley has been eagerly awaited by Northeast followers since Lewis C. Slater, college president, revealed at the recent Indian football banquet that the school was planning to hire two assistant coaches. At the time he revealed one had played for Oklahoma and was in pro football, without naming any names. Now we know he was speaking of Manley, a giant of a man who will give Head Coach Devone Payne valuable assistance. The "other coach," so far not obtained to our knowledge, is desired to assist with basketball and football. Northeast is hunting the right man.

We're glad to have Cupit back on the golf front, but only wish we could keep Warren and Mattinson as well. But Warren isn't going too far (he's still in our territory) and we'll be hearing from him from time to time just as was the case with Milo. It's been mighty good to work with our golf professionals when the occasions arise. They're among the most cooperative of men. This goes for Winnie Cole at Bayou DeSiard and Hugh Britt at Municipal as well.

Promoter Gus Kallio gets charitable again Tuesday night when he dedicates a share of returns from his weekly wrestling show to the March of Dimes campaign against infantile paralysis. In addition, Gus has supplied Sam Rubin Jr., Ouachita drive chairman, with enough free passes to take care of the young polio victims on the Ouachita roll who are able to attend.

Eight-year-old Bobby Bentz endeared himself to Kallio unknowingly when the promoter was personally presenting Bobby with his free pass. It seems Gus had some old boxing tickets that he was using for polio passes. As he was handing Bobby his, the youngster noticed the word "boxing" boldly printed on the pasteboard. "I don't like boxing, I want a wrestling ticket," declared Bobby.

Gus, associated with wrestling practically all his life and a former welterweight and middleweight world's champion, was grinning his broadest as he explained.

Those Vagabond Kings we were reporting a few weeks ago as seeking basketball dates in this area will be in town Wednesday night for a date with the Twin-Cities All-Stars at Neville High gymnasium. Yankees Certify Directors' Pick To Handle Club

Ed Head, manager of the Twin Cities Sports of 1954, yesterday was named to continue at the helm of the Cotton States League club here for another season.

The announcement of Head's reappointment came from the Sports board of directors after they had been notified through Atley Donald, Yankee scout of this territory, that Head's application for the job had been approved by Lee MacPhail, director of the New York Yankees farm system.

Head, after several years in the Brooklyn Dodger system as pitcher and farm manager, took over as skipper of the Sports last season. His home is in West Monroe.

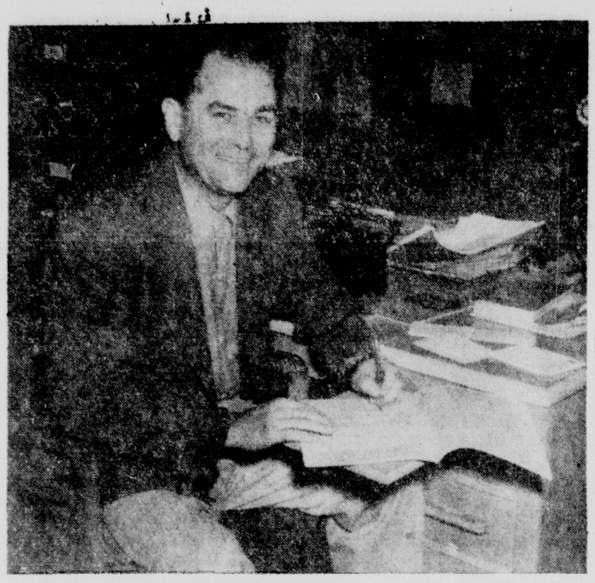
A week ago the Sports and Yankees reached terms of a full working agreement whereby the Twin Cities club becomes a member of the Yankee farm chain. Under the terms of the agreement, the Yankees could apprpve the manager, who also had to be acceptable to the directors of the home-owned club. Head met the approval of both.

"I'm mighty happy that the Yankees have seen fit to accept me into their organization," Head declared. "I believe a new era of baseball is beginning here and I'm glad to be a part of it."

"We're fortunate to have a man like Ed available for the job," Donald commented in behalf of the Yankees. "We are full aware of his abilities as a manager over the past seven or eight years in various classifications of baseball, and feel that we couldn't have done better in going along with the Twin Cities directors in the choice of Ed."

Meanwhile, Head is busy conducting such affairs of the club as selling season tickets, box seats, program advertising, and advertising on the park fence. So far the program that calls for a shortening on the left and right field fences at Legion Memorial Stadium hasn't started, but Head said the work will begin in the next few weeks.

Baseball fans interested in purchasing season book tickets, box seats, or advertising are invited to contact Head by telephoning 3-9461, or trying Saul Adler Tire Company, 3-8805.



HAPPY TO GO WITH YANKS — Edward M. Head (above), manager of the Twin Cities Sports last year, was all smiles yesterday at his office here when he received official notification that the New York Yankees, who recently accepted the Sports into a full working agreement for the approaching Cotton States League season, and the Sports board of directors had concurred on his reappointment as manager for another season. Head, a former pitcher and manager in the Brooklyn system, took over as pilot here last year. (Staff photo by John Oldenburg)

Spur On's Late Surge Captures Pelleteri Event

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 29 (AP) — Spur On, a stretch-running son of Whirlaway, made a late charge today to win the $13,570 Pelleteri Handicap, emblematic of the Fair Grounds sprint championship.

The seven-year - old son of the 1941 Kentucky Derby winner, recently purchased by Marvin E. Affeld, trailed in sixth place during the early running of the six-furlong feature as Martin Van Berg's Cajac and Mrs. J. H. Woodcock's Epic King fought for the lead.

Epic King set the pace as the field roared into the stretch, with Spur On running fifth. Joe W. Brown's Bobby Brocato made a bid for the lead midway through the stretch, but jockey Hal Keene took Spur On to the outside to win by a neck over Bobby Brocato.

Spur On, part of the favored three-horse entry which included Two Fisted and Pursuance, returned $5.40, $2.60 and $2.20.

Determine Wins As 'Bump' Costs Miz Clementine

ARCADIA, Calif., Jan. 29 (AP) — Although beaten to the wire by a neck, the stretch running Determine won the $163,30 Santa Anita Maturity today when Calumet's Miz Clementine was penalized for bumping the little grey in the stretch drive.

The two battled head and head after coming out of the final turn with Miz Clementine pulling ahead after the bumping incident about a sixteenth mile from home in the mile and a quarter test of 4-year-olds.

Immediately after the race jockey Ray York, aboard Determine, charged a foul against Eddie Arcaro and Miz Clementine. The stewards upheld him and moved the filly into the No. 2 spot.

From the time they rounded the turn out of the back stretch it was strictly between Miz Clementine, the only gal in the race, and Determine, the leading money winner and Kentucky Derby champion of 1954.

But the bumping cost her the $87,000 top prize and boosted the earnings of Determine who in less than three years had won $374,535 prior to this race.

Determine paid $5.10, $.30 and $2.10. Miz Clementine returned $2.10 and $2.10 and James Session $2.20.

Cupit Back To McGuire; Warren In Bastrop Post

A turn-over in the professional golfing ranks of this section takes place tomorrow when Buster Cupit, former pro at McGuire Park Golf Club, West Monroe, returns to his old job and Leonard Warren, current McGuire pro, moves to Bastrop to replace the departing Milo Mattinson.

Clyde Nash, member of McGuire Park and spokesman for the club in its news release, last night said the movement among the pros began when Mattinson made an arrangement to leave Morehouse Golf and Country Club at Bastrop to accept new connections at Houston, Tex. Mattinson had been pro at Bastrop since leaving Bayou DeSiard Country Club here where he served a golf pro in the first year of the Bayou club's existence.

BUSTER CUPIT

Then Warren, who had taken over at McGuire when Cupit decided to give the tournament trail a whirl a year ago, snapped up the vacated position at Morehouse club.

Cupit, who left the tournament tours last fall, has been serving the past few months as an assistant pro at Longview, Tex., and was quick to accept the invitation of McGuire's members to return to his old post at West Monroe where he had served during 1953.

All the shifting pros will take over their new clubs tomorrow.

Said Cupit upon deciding to return to the Twin Cities: "This is the most progressive town I have visited in all my travels, and I am glad to return because the golf possibilities here are so great."

"We couldn't have found a better professional anywhere to serve our needs," declared Jimmy Green, McGuire club president. "We consider ourselves very fortunate to have found Cupit available. Our wishes for success go to Warren in his move to Bastrop, and to Mattinson with his new tasks at Houston."

It was also announced that McGuire has several openings for new members, and any golfers in this area who are interested are invited to contact Cupit or Green.

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 29 (AP)—Sea O Erin, mud-running son of Shannon 2nd out of Chantress, took the mile and a furlong Royal Palm Handicap before a top-coated crowd of 16,744 at Hialeah Park today.

Bruce S. Campbell's Ram O' War made up ground to take second and L. Mantell's Immense finished third. Jaclyn stable's Helfast was fourth, with Sylvester Rich's entry of Varsity and Helianthus fifth and sixth, in that order.

Wheatley stable's full flight, top weighted at 119 pounds and second choice at $2.60 to 1, was last in the field of seven. The entry was favorite at $2.50 to 1.

Sea O Erin, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Allie Reuben of Hasty House farm, Toledo, Ohio, paid $10.60, $6.00 and $4.40 in the $2. Mutuels. Ram O' War returned $8.80 and $5.50. The show price on Immense was $4.80.

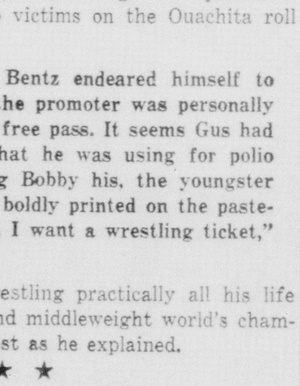
Touring Vagabonds Will Appear In Contest Here



ANOTHER VAGABOND — Appearing in Neville gymnasium with the touring Vagabond Kings next Wednesday night will be Bill Ausmus (above), former Pacific Lutheran star who has seen service with the Wiskered Wizards and the House of David.

The famed Vagabond Kings, touring professional basketball sensations of Dearborn, Mich., will appear in Neville High School gymnasium here Wednesday night against a selected men's team of Twin Cities All-Stars in what promises to be one of the cage sensations of the season in the Neville gym.

King Boring, owner of the Vagabonds, only recently acquired the services of Harry McLaughlin, the Tacoma, Wash., athlete who is known professionally as "the one-man basketball show." McLaughlin, who formerly starred at Pacific Lutheran College had been a sensation with the world-touring House of David until he joined the Vagabonds as a coach and player. His specialty is spinning six basketballs at one time.

Others traveling with the Vagabonds include Bill Ausmus, ex-Western Kentucky ace who spent one season with the whiskered wizards and another with the House of David; Bobby Dukes, the Atlanta, Ga., athlete who also is considered a great baseball prospect with the Atlanta Crackers of the Southern Association; Bob Keanum, a six-foot-four pivotman of Atlanta with a variety of two - hand and one - hand shots; Billy Saade, the 200 - pound "natural showman" of the troupe, also from Atlanta; and Elvin Coker, Knoxville, Tenn., refugee from Abe Saperstein's basketball syndicate as a former member of the Boston Whirlwinds. Coach Herschel McConathy of Neville, who is helping line up the opposing Twin Cities forces, expects to name his all-star lineup within the next day or two.

Wrestlers Battling Polio

Wrestling promoter Gus Kallio has dedicated his wrestling program Tuesday night to the March of Dimes fight on infantile paralysis, and in addition to donating a share of the three-match program's proceeds to the polio-fight fund, Kallio, through Ouachita Parish drive chairman Sam Rubin Jr., is mailing free passes to all young polio victims on the Ouachita rolls.

Gus, the bear, who gave the spectators such a thrill last week in his clear-cut win over Rasputin, the Mad Russian, returns Tuesday night to meet another husky, Danny Dusek, who thinks he has doped out a way to beat the "Gorgeous one."

The bear-Dusek match, billed as a semi-final, precedes the feature match pitting "Big Boy" Cronin against Chuck Molnar; a bout brought about by Cronin's challenge last week of the winner of the Molnar vs. Dusek main event.

A third match on the three-bout program sends popular Bill Barney, West Monroe garageman who has been handling the officiating duties here of late, against the bearded Rasputin. The Russian may think he may have an easier evening against non-bear Barney, but the former Louisiana amateur wrestling champion, especially before a hometown crowd, will be no pushover.

The Barney - Rasputin match opens the benefit program, and requires but one fall to win, with an hour time limit. The semi, between Gus, the bear, and Dusek, has no set number of falls, and no time limit. Neither will probably be necessary.

The Cronin-Molnar tussle is over the 90-minute time limit route, and requires two of three falls to win.

Inks Phil Contract

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 29 (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies announced today that right handed pitcher John Meyer has signed a 1955 contract.

Meyer, 22, of Medford Lakes, N. J., pitched for the Syracuse Chiefs last season. He had a 15-11 record and struck out 173 men. The young pitcher, a native of Philadelphia, also had an earned run average of 3.09.

Leon Manley Named Line Coach For Northeast State

Former Sooner Leaves Eskimos To Accept Post

Leon Manley, All-Western Canadian tackle with the professional Edmonton Eskimos in 1953 and two-time Sugar Bowl starter with coach Bud Wilkinson's Oklahoma Sooners, has been appointed line coach for the Northeast State Indians in Monroe, according to announcement made today by President Lewis C. Slater. He will assume his duties immediately, and is scheduled to arrive on the campus in time for the start of spring training on February 2.

Manley will join end coach George Luffey on the staff of head Indian mentor Devone Payne. Northeast State, building a new coaching staff with the hiring of Payne and Luffey last year and in process of re-building the team from last year's freshman-studded squad, considers the hiring of Manley a very important link in future athletic plans at Louisiana's newest four year college, according to athletic director Arnold Kilpatrick, who made the arrangements to secure Manley's services.

As Northeast State's line coach Manley will be assuming his first college coaching job. He comes to it with a background as one of the nation's best football players of the last decade. A first stringer for Oklahoma on the Sugar Bowl champions of 1949 and 1950, Manley has also four years of professional play behind him, two with the Green Bay Packers and two with the Edmonton Eskimos. He was starting left tackle on the College All-Star team in 1950 when Georgia Tech coach Bobby Dodd led the collegians in Chicago's Soldier's Field the last time the college team ever defeated the pros.

Oklahoma's Manley and Minnesota's great All-American Leo Nomellini were the tackles on the team which stopped the pros. Playing with Manley in that game were some of the greats of the American gridiron — players like end Art Weiner of North Carolina; Minnesota's famous center, Art Tonnemaker; the unforgettable Charlie "Choo-Choo" Justice of Sugar Bowl fame; S.M.U.'s immortal Doak Walker; Notre Dame's All-American Leon Hart at end; Baylor's Adrian Burk at quarterback, now considered by many as the best quarterback in professional football, with the Philadelphia Eagles.

Manley started his football career at Hollis, Okla., where he played both tackle and guard for three years. Enrolling at Oklahoma in 1946 he played on the freshman "B" squad, and moved up to the varsity in the 1947 season. Although a reserve tackle and guard in 1947, he saw action in the Gator Bowl played on January, 1, 1948.

In the 1948 and 1949 seasons he was first string tackle, and was used some at guard. He played in the Sugar Bowl both years. At the end of his senior year he was named to the College All-Star squad. With the Sooners he was a teammate of such remembered Sooners as Darrell Royal, now head football coach at Mississippi State, and Wade Walker, Royal's line coach with the Maroons; Leon Heath, considered by many as one of Oklahoma's all time great fullbacks; quarterback Claude Arnold, halfback Junior Thomas, and guard Stan West.

Turning professional, Manley played with the Green Bay Packers in 1950 and 1951, again playing side by side with some of the nation's best known grid talent. In 1953 he went to the Edmonton, Alberta Eskimos of the Canadian professional football league. He was named to the All-Western division team at the close of that season—the first Eskimo to make the coveted All-Western squad. Last fall in the 1954 season, he was injured during the fifth game of the season, and as a result of the injury has decided to end his playing days to join the coaching ranks.

In 1952, between his Green Bay and Edmonton playing days, he coached for one year in high school at McAlester, Okla.

A married man for nine years, he and his wife have two boys. They plan to move to Monroe immediately.

Tulane Battles From Behind To Down Ole Miss

OXFORD, Miss., Jan. 29 (AP)—Tulane came from behind in the last two minutes tonight to eke out a 83-82 Southeastern Conference basketball victory over a Mississippi team which was unable to freeze the ball.

Northwestern's Demons Squeeze By Southeastern

HAMMOND, La., Jan. 29 (AP)—Northwestern State pulled ahead early in the second half and then staged off a late rally to defeat Southeastern 84-82 in a Gulf States Conference basketball game tonight.

The victory was Northwestern's third in conference play against one defeat. Southeastern now has a conference record of two victories and three defeats.

Trailing 45-44 at halftime, Northwestern went ahead 47-46 when guard Richard Brown sank two free throws. Northwestern never trailed after that.

Redskin Cagers Tangle With Choctaws Monday

The Mississippi College Choctaws will get their final chance of the season for revenge against the Northeast State Indians for stopping their early season 11-game winning streak, when the two teams meet for their fourth rivalry of the basketball season at 8 o'clock Monday night in the Ouachita Parish High School gymnasium.

Choctaw Indian cage matches have been hard-fought, high scoring, closely duelled games all year so that Monroe fans should be in for a treat tomorrow night. Coach Jimmy Allen will bring his sensational Howard Sessums, one of the highest scorers in the nation, who habitually goes after 30-40 points per game, to match points with Coach Arnold Kilpatrick's one-two punch of Bill Bradley and Mel Gibson.

Tomorrow night's tussle will be the first of three straight home games for Northeast State to give Tribe sports fans a chance to catch up on seeing this Tribe team in action. Only seven of 22 games this season have been played in Monroe.

On Friday night the local collegians entertain the Southwestern Louisiana Institute Buildogs in a Gulf States Conference game in the Ouachita gym. The following Monday night the Cowboys of McNeese State also come in for an official G.S.C. affair.

High scoring spark-plug Mel Gibson has been in a slump the past three games, starting with the Louisiana Tech loss on Jan. 18 and extending through the Little Rock and Arkansas State games. On the other hand center Bill Bradley was especially hot on the recent road trip into southern Arkansas. Gibson is looking forward to getting back into form, against the Choctaws.

The Indians rested for the better part of this past week. At least, they rested from their cage duties to give time for first semester final examinations at the college. Tomorrow night's game marks the first of the new semester. The Tribe take a 14-8 record into the spring term, and look forward to bettering it, according to Coach Kilpatrick.

Bill McDonald, 6 foot-3 inch forward from McGregor, Texas has now become eligible and will play for the first time against Miss. College.

NFL Commissioner To Meet With Argonauts

NEW YORK, Jan. 29 (AP)—Commissioner Bert Bell of the National Football League said today he will meet with representatives of the Toronto Argonauts in Philadelphia Tuesday in an attempt to settle the differences of the two groups.

Bell said the meeting is being held at the request of Harry Sonshine of the Toronto club, a member of the Canadian Big Four League. The Big Four, with Toronto dissenting, this week sought to make peace with the NFL and stop raiding of players.

Pro Grid Wants All-Stars To Go By Their Rules

NEW YORK, Jan. 29 (AP) —The national football league took a couple of steps to level off competition and straighten out a few knotty problems in connection with the pre-season All-Star game at its final session of a three-day meeting today.

The pro club owners, who previously had agreed to provide professional coaching for the college All-Star team, voted today to allow the All-Stars one practice scrimmage prior to the Augusta exhibition, provided that the game itself is played under professional rules.

Then, for the benefit of the clubs which want to survey rookie talent, they voted a temporary increase to 35 men in the player limit to apply to players on the All-Star squad.

These decisions grew out of a lively rhubarb over rules that developed last season and a long-standing complaint that All-Star participation deprived the coaches of a chance to evaluate their new players.

The All-Star game, sponsored by the Chicago Tribune Charities, always has been played under college rules and a contract which has five years to run provides that future games shall be under the same rules.

Leon Manley Named Line Coach For Northeast State

Former Sooner Leaves Eskimos To Accept Post

Leon Manley, All-Western Canadian tackle with the professional Edmonton Eskimos in 1953 and two-time Sugar Bowl starter with coach Bud Wilkinson's Oklahoma Sooners, has been appointed line coach for the Northeast State Indians in Monroe, according to announcement made today by President Lewis C. Slater. He will assume his duties immediately, and is scheduled to arrive on the campus in time for the start of spring training on February 2.

Manley will join end coach George Luffey on the staff of head Indian mentor Devone Payne. Northeast State, building a new coaching staff with the hiring of Payne and Luffey last year and in process of re-building the team from last year's freshman-studded squad, considers the hiring of Manley a very important link in future athletic plans at Louisiana's newest four year college, according to athletic director Arnold Kilpatrick, who made the arrangements to secure Manley's services.

As Northeast State's line coach Manley will be assuming his first college coaching job. He comes to it with a background as one of the nation's best football players of the last decade. A first stringer for Oklahoma on the Sugar Bowl champions of 1949 and 1950, Manley has also four years of professional play behind him, two with the Green Bay Packers and two with the Edmonton Eskimos. He was starting left tackle on the College All-Star team in 1950 when Georgia Tech coach Bobby Dodd led the collegians in Chicago's Soldier's Field the last time the college team ever defeated the pros.

Oklahoma's Manley and Minnesota's great All-American Leo Nomellini were the tackles on the team which stopped the pros. Playing with Manley in that game were some of the greats of the American gridiron — players like end Art Weiner of North Carolina; Minnesota's famous center, Art Tonnemaker; the unforgettable Charlie "Choo-Choo" Justice of Sugar Bowl fame; S.M.U.'s immortal Doak Walker; Notre Dame's All-American Leon Hart at end; Baylor's Adrian Burk at quarterback, now considered by many as the best quarterback in professional football, with the Philadelphia Eagles.

Manley started his football career at Hollis, Okla., where he played both tackle and guard for three years. Enrolling at Oklahoma in 1946 he played on the freshman "B" squad, and moved up to the varsity in the 1947 season. Although a reserve tackle and guard in 1947, he saw action in the Gator Bowl played on January, 1, 1948.

In the 1948 and 1949 seasons he was first string tackle, and was used some at guard. He played in the Sugar Bowl both years. At the end of his senior year he was named to the College All-Star squad. With the Sooners he was a teammate of such remembered Sooners as Darrell Royal, now head football coach at Mississippi State, and Wade Walker, Royal's line coach with the Maroons; Leon Heath, considered by many as one of Oklahoma's all time great fullbacks; quarterback Claude Arnold, halfback Junior Thomas, and guard Stan West.

Turning professional, Manley played with the Green Bay Packers in 1950 and 1951, again playing side by side with some of the nation's best known grid talent. In 1953 he went to the Edmonton, Alberta Eskimos of the Canadian professional football league. He was named to the All-Western division team at the close of that season—the first Eskimo to make the coveted All-Western squad. Last fall in the 1954 season, he was injured during the fifth game of the season, and as a result of the injury has decided to end his playing days to join the coaching ranks.

In 1952, between his Green Bay and Edmonton playing days, he coached for one year in high school at McAlester, Okla.

A married man for nine years, he and his wife have two boys. They plan to move to Monroe immediately.

Tulane Battles From Behind To Down Ole Miss

OXFORD, Miss., Jan. 29 (AP)—Tulane came from behind in the last two minutes tonight to eke out a 83-82 Southeastern Conference basketball victory over a Mississippi team which was unable to freeze the ball.

Northwestern's Demons Squeeze By Southeastern

HAMMOND, La., Jan. 29 (AP) — Northwestern State pulled ahead early in the second half and then staged off a late rally to defeat Southeastern 84-82 in a Gulf States Conference basketball game tonight.

The victory was Northwestern's third in conference play against one defeat. Southeastern now has a conference record of two victories and three defeats.

Trailing 45-44 at halftime, Northwestern went ahead 47-46 when guard Richard Brown sank two free throws. Northwestern never trailed after that.

Redskin Cagers Tangle With Choctaws Monday

The Mississippi College Choctaws will get their final chance of the season for revenge against the Northeast State Indians for stopping their early season 11-game winning streak, when the two teams meet for their fourth rivalry of the basketball season at 8 o'clock Monday night in the Ouachita Parish High School gymnasium.

Choctaw Indian cage matches have been hard-fought, high scoring, closely duelled games all year so that Monroe fans should be in for a treat tomorrow night. Coach Jimmy Allen will bring his sensational Howard Sessums, one of the highest scorers in the nation, who habitually goes after 30-40 points per game, to match points with Coach Arnold Kilpatrick's one-two punch of Bill Bradley and Mel Gibson.

Tomorrow night's tussle will be the first of three straight home games for Northeast State to give Tribe sports fans a chance to catch up on seeing this Tribe team in action. Only seven of 22 games this season have been played in Monroe.

On Friday night the local collegians entertain the Southwestern Louisiana Institute Bulldogs in a Gulf States Conference game in the Ouachita gym. The following Monday night the Cowboys of McNeese State also come in for an official G.S.C. affair.

High scoring spark-plug Mel Gibson has been in a slump the past three games, starting with the Louisiana Tech loss on Jan. 18 and extending through the Little Rock and Arkansas State games. On the other hand center Bill Bradley was especially hot on the recent road trip into southern Arkansas. Gibson is looking forward to getting back into form, against the Choctaws.

The Indians rested for the better part of this past week. At least, they rested from their cage duties to give time for first semester final examinations at the college. Tomorrow night's game marks the first of the new semester. The Tribe take a 14-8 record into the spring term, and look forward to bettering it, according to Coach Kilpatrick.

Bill McDonald, 6 foot-3 inch forward from McGregor, Texas has now become eligible and will play for the first time against Miss. College.

NFL Commissioner To Meet With Argonauts

NEW YORK, Jan. 29 (AP)—Commissioner Bert Bell of the National Football League said today he will meet with representatives of the Toronto Argonauts in Philadelphia Tuesday in an attempt to settle the differences of the two groups.

Pro Grid Wants All-Stars To Go By Their Rules

NEW YORK, Jan. 29 (AP) —The national football league took a couple of steps to level off competition and straighten out a few knotty problems in connection with the pre-season All-Star game at its final session of a three-day meeting today.

The pro club owners, who previously had agreed to provide professional coaching for the college All-Star team, voted today to allow the All-Stars one practice scrimmage prior to the Augusta exhibition, provided that the game itself is played under professional rules.

Then, for the benefit of the clubs which want to survey rookie talent, they voted a temporary increase to 35 men in the player limit to apply to players on the All-Star squad.

These decisions grew out of a lively rhubarb over rules that developed last season and a long-standing complaint that All-Star participation deprived the coaches of a chance to evaluate their new players.

The All-Star game, sponsored by the Chicago Tribune Charities, always has been played under college rules and a contract which has five years to run provides that future games shall be under the same rules.

Holly Ridge 5, Baskin's Girls Win Tournament

HOLLY RIDGE, La., Jan. 29 (Special) —The Holly Ridge boys and the Baskin girls emerged as Holly Ridge cage tournament winners here tonight; the Eagles quintet defeating Ogden, 46-42, in the boys' final; and the Baskin sextette downing Start, 49-37, in the girls' championship tilt.

Carroll chalked up 27 points to pace the Holly Ridge boy champs, and Fain was high for Ogden, with 19.

Betty Ruth Jarrett was high scorer for the Baskin High state Class B champs of last season; and Kathy Fleischman sparked the Start sextette.

In the boys' consolation Central High took third place honors, by defeating Ouachita, 50-48; and the Mangham six won the girls' third spot, defeating Holly Ridge, 50-35.

In the semi - finals, the Ogden five defeated Ouachita, 65-46; Holly Ridge's boys won over Central, 61-52; the Baskin girls defeated Mangham's sextette, 39-33; and Start defeated the girl Eagles, 54-27.

The boys' all-tournament team was selected as Germany, Holly Ridge; Fain, Ogden; Farley; Central; Crocker, Ouachita; and Carroll, Holly Ridge; while the Misses Jarrett and Deer, Baskin; Sullivan and Fuller, Start; Arrant, Mangham; and Simmons, Ouachita made the all-tourney girls' team.

'Flu Epidemic Closes Arkansas Public School

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Widespread influenza has closed the doors of one southeast Arkansas school and two other heavily hit schools are waiting until Monday to make their decision.

After 450 pupils stayed home Thursday and officials at Crossett closed their school yesterday, Eudora and Desha Central of Rowher school officials will decide Monday whether to close.

Health department officials said the cases appeared to be concentrated in three southeast Arkansas counties—Desha, Chicot and Ashley.

Other points—including McGehee and Arkansas City—reported enrollment was approaching normal after heavy absences last week.

'Flu Epidemic Closes Arkansas Public School

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Widespread influenza has closed the doors of one southeast Arkansas school and two other heavily hit schools are waiting until Monday to make their decision.

After 450 pupils stayed home Thursday and officials at Crossett closed their school yesterday. Eudora and Desha Central of Rowher school officials will decide Monday whether to close.

Health department officials said the cases appeared to be concentrated in three southeast Arkansas counties—Desha, Chicot and Ashley.

Other points—including McGehee and Arkansas City—reported enrollment was approaching normal after heavy absences last week.

'Range Riders' Named For Stock Law Enforcement

The selection of "range-riders" to enforce a parish-wide stock law was announced Saturday morning by G. P. Avant, vice-president of the Ouachita Parish police jury, and chairman of a committee appointed to make the selection. The two men will begin work Tuesday.

The two were employed by the Ouachita Parish police jury, but will work out of the office of the sheriff. Complaints on cattle or other stock roaming at large on the highways are to be called into the sheriff office and will then be turned over to the two men.

In announcing the selection of the two men, Avant pointed out that the men are "working out of the sheriff's office through the cooperation of that department, but are employed by the police jury to enforce the stock law which the body passed." He emphasized that some people in the parish believed the duty of keeping stock off the highways belonged to the sheriff department, which was not adequately supplied to handle the problem.

Stock picked up by the range riders will be impounded until the owners retrieve them or until they are disposed of according to law.

Lake Charles Plans Religious Census

LAKE CHARLES, La. —UP— Some 900 persons representing 19 churches will make a city-wide religious census in Lake Charles Sunday, according to the Rev. Henry C. Hooter, census director.

The religious workers will represent six different denominations, including Methodist, Roman Catholic, Baptist, Nazarene, Assembly of God and Christian.

It will be the first interdenominational city-wide census since September of 1951, the Rev. Hooter said.

Grandmother Dies, Fourth Victim Of Mississippi Fire

BLUE MOUNTAIN, Miss., Jan. 29 —UP— A 40-year-old grandmother died today of burns received when her home burned after a daughter threw kerosene into a heater to kindle a fire.

The other three victims were Mrs. Akins' 6-year-old daughter, Janet; her 8-year-old daughter, Mrs. Omega Hall; and her 7-month old granddaughter, Debora.

Relatives said Mrs. Akins became ill Friday night and Mrs. Hall had arisen early to kindle a fire. The two children were nearby when she threw the kerosene into the heater and all three were killed in the flaming explosion.

Other relatives fled the burning house without injury.

DOG'S LIFE

HOLDREGE, Neb. —UP — A middle - aged woman, her daughter, her granddaughter and the family dog were out for an airing. The grandmother carried the baby, the daughter pushed the baby buggy and the dog, propped up comfortably on pillows, rode.

'Range Riders' Named For Stock Law Enforcement

The selection of "range-riders" to enforce a parish-wide stock law was announced Saturday morning by G. P. Avant, vice-president of the Ouachita Parish police jury, and chairman of a committee appointed to make the selection. The two men will begin work Tuesday.

The two were employed by the Ouachita Parish police jury, but will work out of the office of the sheriff. Complaints on cattle or other stock roaming at large on the highways are to be called into the sheriff office and will then be turned over to the two men.

In announcing the selection of the two men, Avant pointed out that the men are "working out of the sheriff's office through the cooperation of that department, but are employed by the police jury to enforce the stock law which the body passed." He emphasized that some people in the parish believed the duty of keeping stock off the highways belonged to the sheriff department, which was not adequately supplied to handle the problem.

Stock picked up by the range riders will be impounded until the owners retrieve them or until they are disposed of according to law.

Miss Peggy Strauss Becomes Bride Of James Greenbaum

A prominent wedding of the season was that of Miss Peggy Strauss and James Greenbaum which was celebrated last evening at the Bayou DeSiard Country Club.

Rabbi F. K. Hirsch officiated in the presence of members of the two families and a few close friends of the young couple.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford M. Strauss and Mr. Greenbaum is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Harold Greenbaum of Shaker Heights, Ohio.

The foyer of the club was decorated with numerous bouquets of white blossoms. The vows were pledged before an improvised altar with tall candelabra holding many lighted tapers and formal trees of woodwardia fern decorated with white stock, gladioli and large chrysanthemums, forming the background. Classic urns filled with the same blossoms outlined the front of the altar.

Wearing a gown of imported diamond white silk satin, the bride was given in marriage by her father. The satin bodice, veiled with large floral applique of handrun Alencon lace re-embroidered with seed pearls and iridescent paillettes were fashioned with a wide decollette tulip neckline. The long fitted satin sleeves tapered to petal points over her hands. Shaped apron panels outlined by floral lace applique, incursted with seed pearls and paillettes fashioned the extremely bouffant skirt, bordered by a deep gathered floor-length flounce that swept to a chapel train. Her veil of silk illusion extended in tiers beyond her fingertips from a satin cuff, accented by pearls and rhinestones. She carried a prayer book covered in old lace on which were mounted white orchids and lilies of the valley tied with white velvet.

The bridesmaids included Mrs. Lionel Greenbaum, sister-in-law of the bridegroom of Shaker Heights, Ohio, Mrs. Sam Strauss, Jr., Little Rock, Ark., and Miss Joan Sugar. They were identically attired in waltz length gowns of gold satin, fashioned with a deep envlope fold necklines incrusted with seed pearls and iridescent embroidery. The fold collar formed tiny cap sleeves complimented by long white gloves. The bodices were moulded with flared skirts with controlled fullness. They all wore narrow bow bandeauxs accented by long streamers and carried cascade bouquets of mystery gardenias.

After the ceremony the receiving line formed in the foyer of the club. Mrs. Strauss' gown as of champagne colored Chantilly lace with deep scalloped neckline and bodice detail in taffeta. A white orchid was worn at her waist line. The groom's mother was wearing a dress of gray lace fashioned with scalloped neckline and a corsage of white orchids.

The cake table in the lounge of the club, covered with a white satin cloth and garlanded with smilax and gardenias, was centered with a tiered wedding cake filled at the top with lilies of the valley and white roses. Placed on either side were crystal candelabra holding slender white tapers. The bridal table held a silver epergne overflowing with lilies of the valley, gardenias and white roses. Silver candelabra, linked with smilax and gardenias, were placed down the length of the table. Similar arrangements of white blossoms were used on the smaller tables, where the guests were seated for dinner.

B & PW Club Has Forum Discussion

The Business and Professional Women met at the Y. W. C. A. with the members of the International Relations Committee and the Public Affairs and Legislation Committee hostesses.

The rooms were beautifully decorated with white and red camellias and candles. The subject of discussion was "The Town We Want" or "Pull Your Weight on Main Street."

This was handled by a forum comprised of Mrs. Edna Vaughan, moderator; Mrs. E. A. Porter; Mrs. Mae Modes, Mrs. Marguerite Meek, Mrs. Irene Reid, Miss Betty Oxford and Mrs. Helen Trichel.

The club voted to send a letter of appreciation to the firemen of Monroe for the outstanding work they are doing for the Twin Cities in so many different ways. Three patriotic songs were sung, with Mrs. Louise Massey at the piano. The club was reminded of the convention in February.

News From The Public Library

Almost every day the postman delivers a package of new books to the Ouachita Parish Public Library. The winter publishing season is in full swing and there are so many exciting new books that it is hard to tell where to start. Personally I am going to start with "The Cornerstone" by Zoe Oldenbourg. This is another of her stories of medieval France and if it is asywhere as good as her first one "The World Is Not Enough," it should be wonderful. The interesting feature of Mrs. Oldenbourg's writing is that she makes the medieval period come alive and shows how little people have really changed during all these years. Another novel with the scene laid in the middle ages is "Sir Henry" by Robert Nathan. Written in his usual style, it is a charming fantasy of a knight, who was doing his best to get along in the world in which he found himself.

"Shadows in the Dusk" by John Jennings is a powerful new historical novel is called "Solomon and the Queen of Sheba" and the author is Czenzi Ormonde. This is an exciting story based on the Biblical love story. It is a compelling story of two people who discovered too late, the power of spiritual love.

Two outstanding modern English novelists have new books this month. They are "Money to Burn" by Elizabeth Cadell and "A World of Love" by Elizabeth Bowen. "Money to Burn" is another of those gay and witty novels which Miss Cadell does so well. One reviewer said that she had done more than most diplomats to improve Anglo-American relations. "A World of Love" is entirely different. It is a story of love, loss, death, youth and Ireland. Miss Bowen writes beautifully and although her book won't appeal to everyone, those who do like it, will be charmed with it.

Readers of Erle Stanley Gardner will welcome his latest offering, "The Case of the Glamorous Ghost." "Recollection Creek" is another delightful and nostalgic novel of American boyhood by Fred Gipson. It is one that will be eagerly read by everyone who liked his earlier "The Hound Dog Man."

We have ordered additional copies of some of the books which are proving to be extremely popular. Several of them arrived in the past week. "The Golden Wildcat" by Margaret Widdemer is an exciting historical novel of the Revolutionary War period. "No Time for Sergeants" by Mac Hyman is a very funny story of army experience and will be thoroughly enjoyed by everyone who has been in the army. "Soldier of Fortune" by Ernest K. Gann is a splendid story by the author of "The High and the Mighty." The fact that Clark Gable is making a picture of this book, makes it even more appealing.

The world of books is such an interesting place. If you are not in the habit of using your public library, let me urge you now to do so without delay. The staff is eager to help you find the book which will give you pleasure and information.

How To Check Out Of A Store

Here are some tips to help you get your shopping at the neighborhood market done quickly and efficiently and speed up the checking out process.

Keep all the multi-specials together in your shopping cart. This makes it easier for the checker to ring up the sale and assures you of the bargain.

Try to load your selections in the cart price side up.

Arrange your purchases on the checking stand in groups — canned goods, paper cartons, produce, meats. This makes for quicker tabulation and easier packing, with the heavier items at the bottom. When you unpack in your kitchen, there will be no damage and everything will be nicely organized for storage.

Miss Helen Ann Girard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Girard of El Dorado, Ark., became the bride of Rev. Aaron Gayle Mallette of West Monroe, son of Mrs. J. G. Mallette and the late Mr. Mallette of Alexandria, in an impressive double ring ceremony at three o'clock Saturday afternoon, January 29.

Miss Betty Fisher of West Monroe presented nuptial music at the piano and accompanied Mr. Mark Tullos of Alexandria as he sang "I Love You Truly," "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a waltz-length gown of white crushed faille with a Peter Pan collar and three-quarter sleeves. It featured a sculptured bodice and bouffant skirt. She wore white mitts of Chantilly Lace. Her shoulder - length veil of illusion was held in place by a lattice styled Juliet cap encrusted in seed pearls. She carried a white orchid atop an ivory bound bride's Bible. Her only jewelry was a single string of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom.

Miss Patricia Girard, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor. She was gowned in a ballerina length dress of rose taffeta with a scooped neckline and short sleeves. She carried a nosegay of pale aqua carnations.

The candles were lighted by Misses Martha Girard, sister of the bride and Leah Tabarlet of Jonesboro, niece of the bridegroom. They were attired in aqua taffeta frocks with headbands of rose carnations.

Miss Peggy Girard, sister of the bride, served as flower girl. Her dress was of rose taffeta fashioned with a scooped neckline and short sleeves. She wore matching mitts and a hair baret of aqua carnations.

Serving the bridegroom as best man was Mr. Tommy Harper of Lecompte. Charles Swanson of Monroe was usher.

The bride's mother chose for the occasion a light blue moire faille dress with navy and white accessories complemented by a corsage of pink carnations.

The bride's table was overlaid in a white lace cloth and centered with a bouquet of rose and aqua carnations. A crystal punch bowl and silver cake service was also placed on the table.

Miss Lilah Raburn provided music during the reception.

Assisting with the courtesies were Miss Mary Jo Ware, Miss Lucy Joyner, Miss Lynda Ball, Miss Ramona Phillips, all of El Dorado and Miss Lilah Rabun and Miss LaRue Jordan of West Monroe.

The couple will make their home at 207½ McGuire avenue in Monroe.

The bride is a graduate of Bolton High School in Alexandria and attended Louisiana Polytechnic Institute in Ruston.

Rev. Mallette is also a graduate of Bolton High School and attended Louisiana College in Pineville and Northeast State College in Monroe.

Art Program Presented To Lambda Kappa Club

Mrs. R. R. Rhymes was hostess to the Rayville Lambda Kappa Club at her home on Clear Lake Wednesday.

The business session was conducted by Mrs. R. S. Swetman, president, and matters of club business were presented and discussed.

Mr. Richard Downes, program chairman, presented the guest speaker for the afternoon, Mrs. Ryan Sartor of Alto.

In speaking to the group, Mrs. Sartor, an artist whose work has gained considerable recognition, told how she had turned to art as a hobby after her children were grown, and pointed out the value of such a hobby.

A number of her paintings in oil and water colors were exhibited, and her comments about the subjects and how she came to choose them were most interesting.

Several of her paintings were reminiscent of New Orleans, where she spent several months sketching and painting. Her love of birds and flowers was revealed in many of her works.

Concluding her talk, Mrs. Sartor urged club women to try painting or sketching as a hobby.

At the conclusion of the program, Mrs. Rhymes, assisted by Mrs. Pat Earle and Mrs. J. E. Hoben, served a delicious salad plate to Mrs. Lorna Collins, Mrs. G. D. Cain, Mrs. Richard Downes, Mrs. C. W. Earle, Mrs. T. L. Gates, Mrs. E. E. Keebler, Mrs. Fred Morgan, Mrs. Floy McKay, Mrs. Homer Norris, Mr. Douglas Robinson, Mrs. R. S. Swetman, Mrs. J. H. Wilson, members and Mrs. Ryan Sartor, guest.

FERRIDAY — The Tensas Garden Club held its regular monthly meeting on Monday night at the Community House in St. Joseph.

Hostesses for the meeting were: Mrs. Ed Lofton, Mrs. Burton Wade, Mrs. Fred Smith, Mrs. Vernon McBride and Mrs. John A. Schuchs. After a brief business session the meeting was turned over to Bob Gaines, director of the U. S. Dement of Agriculture experiment station in Tallulah, who is an authority on a great many subjects of interest to Garden Club members.

Mr. Gaines chose as his subject for this meeting, African Violets. The growing of African violets has long been a hobby of Gaines and due to his many years of experimentation and research on this interesting plant, he is well qualified to give advice to the violet growers in the club and he did, giving inspiration to the would be growers.

Alternate squares of beef tenderloin, small mushrooms and squares of green pepper and bacon on skewers. Dip in melted butter or margarine and broil. Serve with rice and tomato sauce.

ROAMIN' IN THE RURAL

—With Euna Spielman

Check Agents Itinerary

Roaming in the rural was truly a pleasure this past week as the agent visited several homes requesting help on beautifying the home surroundings. Among these homes visited was a new rambling ranch style house being built by the Dallas Jordans in the Eureka community. This ranch style house is in the correct setting — in the woods. Beyond the beautiful trees you see from the picture window a deep spring - fed ravine making one desire to venture deeper in the outdoors.

The panelling used in the living-dining areas, of this home, are of cypress which was cut from their land. A huge open fire place adds an inviting note to all the beauty and comfort of rural living.

Two other homes with beautiful settings are owned by Mr. and Mrs. Daniels of Eureka and Mr. and Mrs. Ware, 10 miles out just off the Arkansas Road to the left. These homes are convincing that the west side of this parish has many beautiful home sites — allowing plenty of space for a family.

Agent's Itinerary For February

The agent will have several changes in the home demonstration club itinerary as she must attend a training meeting February 14-18 at LSU on marketing. Please note these changes in the following: February 2, Lakeview; February 3rd, 9:30, Progressive and 2:00 p. m. Better homemakers; February 8th, 9:30 a. m. Fairbanks and 1:30 p. m. Lamkin; February 9th, 9:30 a. m. Thrifty Homemakers and 1:30 p. m. Lenwil; February 10th, 1:30 p. m. Cheniere; February 11, 1:30 p. m., Woodlawn; February 22, 1:30 p. m., Bosco; February 23, 9:30 a. m. Claiborne and 2:00 Cadeville; February 24, 2:00 p. m. Watson.

The second nutrition and food preparation leaders' training meeting will be 9:30 a. m. February 22nd. Can't we have a 100 per cent attendance this time. At least one leader from each Home Demonstration Club? (Had 3 of the 23 leaders absent at first meeting.) Mrs. Irene Turner, nutrition specialist of LSU extension will be in charge of this training.

Use Native Shrubs and Trees For Landscaping

Some of the most dependable plants to use in this area are our natives. The Yaupons which were planted on highway 80 several years are convincing evidence — they can take the drouth. They did not even wilt this past summer and are covered in beautiful red berries now. The mimosa, red bud, crape myrtle, also, stood the drouth test. Native holly — evergreen and decideous, the trinze tree commonly called Granny Gray Beard can be added to this group of strong heat enduring plants. Add color by planting Floribundas. It's rose planting time and if you want roses to add color to your landscape use floribundas. Summer snow (white.) Pinkie (pink), and Pigmy Red are dwarf and produced heavy clusters of blossoms in this area last year.

Fashion, Floradora, pinacelin and Goldilocks are varieties considered by the LSU research department as worthy of trial. These grow much taller and less compact.

How To Wash Wool Clothing

There are many washable woolens on the market today but the homemaker must know how to launder these or they may shrink and become hard and matted. Here are tips on this subject from the department of agriculture state and industry research. Handle wet wool gently, moving it as little as possible. Slightly soiled garments may become clean just by a brief soak in the washing solution and being turned over couple of times. avoid rubbing, wringing, and much agitation in the washer. Because any alkaline substance may injure wool, non-alkaline synthetic detergents are suggested. Work as rapidly as possible. Use lukewarm water for washing and rinsing. Dry in a warm but not hot place. To help knitwear hold its shape, lay flat on bath towels to dry or dry on forms or stretchers sold for this purpose.

Remember once wool has shrunk and become hard and matted, it will never fit so well or be so comfortable. You may pull it back to size but you can't bring back the elasticity that makes for comfortable wear.

Weight-watchers will be interested to know that there is now an apricot nectar on the market that has a non-nutritive sweetener—instead of sugar—added. The nectar comes in a 12-ounce can; each ounce of this nectar contains about 7 calories.

Girl Scout News

Wednesday's the night of the Girl Scout Council's annual dinner and there are several special things we'd like to tell you about it—things that don't get into the usual news stories. The first is that Senior Scouts have been invited to attend. For the past several years they have been invited to conferences and the national conventions. The planning committee thought it a shame for girls to miss Robbie McLendon's talk.

In case you haven't read, Robbie is the executive in New Orleans. She went with the girls from the United States and Canada to the Juliette Low encampment in Switzerland in 1953. At the annual meeting Robbie is going to tell about her experiences at "Our Chalet." Those who have heard her, say they are fascinated by her talk and by the slides she will show.

Another thing our girls will be interested in knowing is that Robbie was a Girl Scout herself in Georgia. When she reached the rank of Golden Eaglet, then the highest rank in Scouting, she received the award from Juliette Low herself.

Now that so many of our Scouts have heard of Robbie's coming, some of the Intermediates have requested that they be allowed to come to hear her. The committee is glad to hear of the interest and has decided that Intermediates and Seniors may come to the dinner or they may come at 8:00 o'clock and hear the program. There will be a special table for the girls. We've always had a few on the program and they've always acted like the perfect ladies we expect good Scouts to be. Whether you're a Girl Scout or an adult Scout, if you've delayed making your reservation for Wednesday night, phone the office tomorrow and put yourself on the list.

The tree planting day at Pine Wood last week was quite a success. Another one yesterday resulted in a lot of trees being placed in the bare spots at camp. Troop 19 made an interesting affair out of it, cooking a one pot meal, making salad and cocoa, going on a hike and planting three trees that Pat Porter's aunt gave them. Adults in charge were Mrs. E. A. Porter, Jr., Mrs. B. F. Bettis, Mrs. Leon Noland, Jr.

Troop 45, Brownies at Millsaps school, had their first trip to camp, accompanied by Mrs. J. H. Kelly and Mrs. Clell Thornton. They made a fire and made hot cocoa to go with the nosebag lunches they had brought from home. They explored the grounds and planted trees, too. Nobody had any more fun than Mrs. Kelly's two small boys who came along.

In the afternoon a troop of girls from Farmerville came out with trees to plant. Mrs. W. A. Downs, leader, Mrs. Jack Scott, Mrs. Read, and Mrs. Stein Baughman were with the girls. Soon, the way things are going, Farmerville and Ouachita parish will be in the same area council, and the Union parish girls can say "our camp," along with our girls.

Don't forget about Wednesday.

No corn popper in the house? Then heat three tablespoons of salad oil in a skillet that is 9 or 10 inches in diameter. When a drop of water added to the oil sizzles, it's time to add ½ cup of popcorn. Now cover the skillet and shake. When the corn begins to pop you can lower the heat, but keep shaking until you hear the last kernel pop. Turn into a big bowl, sprinkling salt over the popcorn as you do so.

Like mocha flavor? Put a teaspoon of instant coffee and a teaspoon of instant cocoa into a cup. Fill with boiling water and add cream and sugar to taste.

A PLANNING COMMITTEE met recently to formulate plans for the Louisiana Federated Women's convention which will meet in Monroe April 28, 29 and 30th with the members of the clubs of the Fifth District hostesses. Seated left, Mrs. Carl Stewart, state president of the Louisiana Federated Clubs, Mrs. Zell Smith, general chairman of arrangements, and Mrs. Claude Grimes, of Tallulah, Fifth District president. Standing, Mrs. A. T. White, publicity chairman for the convention, Miss Ethel Watson, of Mangham, first vice-president of L. F. W. C. and Mrs. C. C. Lucky, co-chairman of arrangements.

A planning committee headed by Mrs. Carl Stewart, president of the Louisiana Federated Women's Clubs met in the Flamingo Room of the Frances Hotel last week to formulate plans for the L. F. W. C. convention that will meet in Monroe, April 28, 29 and 30th. The members and clubs of the fifth district will be hostesses for the meeting.

Mrs. Zell Smith and Mrs. C. C. Lucky, are general chairman and co - chairman of arrangements. Serving with them will be Mrs. Carl Stewart, state president, Mrs. J. F. W. C. and Mrs. J. N. Coon, state chairman of music. Mrs. Tom Jett 5th district treasurer, and Mrs. A. T. White, publicity chairman.

Here's a delicious afternoon pick-up. Put a teaspoon of instant coffee and one of instant cocoa into a cup; add ¾ cup boiling water and stir well. Add sugar and cream to taste.

Preparing grapefruit halves for breakfast? As you cup pulp away from dividing membranes keep your small sharp knife in an almost vertical position for best results.

MRS. CAREY ARTHUR TRAMMELL

Trammel-Nichols Vows Said In Church Ceremony

Miss Shirley Jean Nichols, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Nichols of Rayville become the bride of Carey Arthur Trammell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd A. Trammell of Sterlington, on January 22 at 8 o'clock in the evening at the Bethel Baptist Church of Rayville. The Rev. W. A. Dearman, pastor of the church read the impressive double ring ceremony.

Vows were exchanged before an altar decorated with white gladioli, southern smilax and magnolia leaves. Branched floor candelabra held slender white tapers. A single white taper was placed in each window with an arrangement of magnolia leaves. Pews for the families were marked with frothy white bows.

Mrs. Leon Beasley played a program of nuptial music. The candles were lighted by Misses Barbara and Jo Ann Futch. Mrs. Beasley accompanied Mrs. Billy Adcock, soloist.

The lovely bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an original gown of bridal satin and Chantilly type lace. The skirt ended in a chapel train. The moulded lace bodice was fastened in the back with tiny satin covered buttons. Designs of lace were appliqued with seed pearls around the low neckline, forming small scallops on the tulle yoke. The long sleeves ended in lily points over the hands and were edged with seed pearls. Her finger tip veil fell from a lace over satin cap. Designs of lace were appliqued on with seed pearls forming a scalloped edge matching the neckline of her gown. She carried a cascade bouquet of feathered carnations and vanda orchids. Her only ornament was a single strand of pearls, a gift of the groom.

Mrs. James Futch of Monroe, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Gloria Bennett of Natchez, Miss., and Miss Merle Payne, cousin of the bride. The matron of honor wore a floor length dress of deep rose taffeta and net with pleated taffeta draped across the bodice front. She wore a fichu stole. The bridesmaids' dresses were of a lovely shade of pink, indentical in design. They wore matching headbands of taffeta and net and carried nosegays of rainbow asters.

The little flower girl, Diane Futch, wore a frock of rose taffeta with very full tiered overskirt of net. She wore a half bonnet of shirred net tied at the back with a taffeta bow. She carried a basket of rose petals. The ring bearer was Eddie Pearce.

Mr. Chester Trammell served his brother as best man. Ushers were Lester Nichols and Carroll Trammell.

For her daughters' wedding, Mrs. Nichols chose a dress in light beige, fashioned with a portrait neckline embroidered with pearls and sequins. She wore a small matching hat and her corsage was of pink carnations. The bride's grandmother, Mrs. R. L. Nichols, Sr., was wearing a honey beige crepe with a corsage of pink carnations.

After the ceremony a reception was held in the home of Mrs. W. M. Payne, aunt of the bride. White gladioli, roses and camellias were used in the reception rooms. The bride's table, overlaid with white cut work, had a central arrangement of pink camellias flanked with pink tapers in crystal holders. The beautifully embossed tiered cake, topped with a tiny bride and groom, was placed at one end of the table, and at the opposite end the crystal punch service was placed.

Mrs. Murl Hicks presided at the punch bowl and Miss Emily Fortenberry served the cake. Assisting were Miss Barbara Futch, Miss Grace Fortenberry and Miss Jo Ann Futch. Mrs. Gerald Ray Donald registered the guests.

After a short wedding trip the couple will make their home in Monroe.

Out - of - town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hammett and Pally, Mrs. A. D. World Crusade Seek Peace As Great Object

"What a force would be developed if ten million Methodists join with millions of other Christians in thinking seriously about peace!" Bishop Paul E. Martin, Methodist bishop of the Arkansas-Louisiana area, said in his call to Methodists to join the Crusade of World Order which will be conducted by the church during the month of February.

Every minister in Methodism has been requested to preach sermons on the first three Sundays in the month on "The Meaning of Peace," "The United Nations," and "Disarmament."

Bishop Martin also said the Methodist people have been requested to read and study the book, "Ploughshares and Pruning Hooks" published by the Crusade of World Order of the Church. The book is suggested for use in church schools, Methodist Men's Clubs, and discussion groups.

The Crusade for World Order was originated at the general conference of the Methodist Church in San Francisco in 1952, and the Council of Bishops was asked to give leadership to the movement. Since that time, various programs have been conducted by the group, but this is the first organized campaign to be carried on nationally.

"The human race stands today in greater jeopardy of its life than at any time in its history. Our church would like to participate in any undertaking that would contribute to the preservation of civilization. We believe the Crusade for World Order may be used of God to lead men to study the issue of peace," Bishop Martin added.

Bible Words for Today

I PETER 3:19—"In which he went and preached to the spirits in prison" (RSV).

Here is a questioning verse. There was our Master between the crucifixion and the resurrection? What was He doing then? He went and preached to the spirits in prison. We are those imprisoned souls. We are imprisoned by monotony, but Christ comes to the prison house and with the key of dedication He opens the door. We are imprisoned by the tension of our present day but Christ releases us by pointing us to the heavenly vision. We are imprisoned by the wickedness of sin but Christ has brought the key of God's forgiveness to us in His going forth to Calvary. We are imprisoned by the fear of death but Christ has released us with the key of immortality. Here then let us remember our condition, more confining than bars and guarded grey stone walls, and let us turn to Christ who has released us from monotony, tension, sin and death and has given to us the key of life.

World Crusade Seek Peace As Great Object

"What a force would be developed if ten million Methodists join with millions of other Christians in thinking seriously about peace!" Bishop Paul E. Martin, Methodist bishop of the Arkansas-Louisiana area, said in his call to Methodists to join the Crusade of World Order which will be conducted by the church during the month of February.

Every minister in Methodism has been requested to preach sermons on the first three Sundays in the month on "The Meaning of Peace," "The United Nations," and "Disarmament."

Bishop Martin also said the Methodist people have been requested to read and study the book, "Ploughshares and Pruning Hooks" published by the Crusade of World Order of the Church. The book is suggested for use in church schools, Methodist Men's Clubs, and discussion groups.

The Crusade for World Order was originated at the general conference of the Methodist Church in San Francisco in 1952, and the Council of Bishops was asked to give leadership to the movement. Since that time, various programs have been conducted by the group, but this is the first organized campaign to be carried on nationally.

"The human race stands today in greater jeopardy of its life than at any time in its history. Our church would like to participate in any undertaking that would contribute to the preservation of civilization. We believe the Crusade for World Order may be used of God to lead men to study the issue of peace," Bishop Martin added.

Bible Words for Today

I PETER 3:19—"In which he went and preached to the spirits in prison" (RSV).

Here is a questioning verse. Where was our Master between the crucifixion and the resurrection? What was He doing then? He went and preached to the spirits in prison. We are those imprisoned souls. We are imprisoned by monotony, but Christ comes to the prison house and with the key of dedication He opens the door. We are imprisoned by the tension of our present day but Christ releases us by pointing us to the heavenly vision. We are imprisoned by the wickedness of sin but Christ has brought the key of God's forgiveness to us in His going forth to Calvary. We are imprisoned by the fear of death but Christ has released us with the key of immortality. Here then let us remember our condition, more confining than bars and guarded grey stone walls, and let us turn to Christ who has released us from monotony, tension, sin and death and has given to us the key of life.

Fifth Sunday Singing Set For Jackson

JENA, La., Jan. 29 (Special) — "If you love to sing, you have a cordial invitation to attend the fifth Sunday hymn sing, sponsored by the LaSalle Missionary Baptist Association at the First Baptist Church of Tullos Sunday afternoon, Jan. 30, beginning at 2:30 o'clock," Allen Simmons, associational music director, announced this week.

The "hymn sing" is held on the fifth Sunday of each month which has five Sundays and is sponsored by the Baptist churches of LaSalle parish which are members of the association.

"The purpose of the 'fifth Sunday hymn sing' is not entirely one of entertainment but one that offers an outlet for the desire to sing," Mr. Simmons said. "It offers fellowship among the Baptist churches and Christian people of all denominations in an atmosphere different to that found in the usual associational meeting or singing convention and it has an educational value in the teaching of sound doctrine and spiritual truths to be found in the great gospel hymns and in the exchange of music ideas and plans."

The associational music director also pointed out that the fifth Sunday gathering "is inspirational in that many will be inspired to improve the music of their own church because of a practical example they have experienced."

The gathering, he stressed "is sponsored by the Baptist association's member churches "in such a way as to prevent commercialization of the great old gospel hymns."

The program for the Jan. 30 gathering at Tullos will consist of congregational singing and special messages in song to be brought by the choirs of various churches in the association.

"Again we say, if you love to sing, you will be cordially welcome and we feel you will receive a blessing by attending," Mr. Simmons added.

Azaleas That Stay In Bloom

Continuing our discussion from last week on azaleas, I find there are two ever blooming varieties being grown in Louisiana. One is a blue - red growing in Baton Rouge, the other a white growing in Baker, La. Of course, we grow this shrub for its bloom, but I wonder if we see the blossoms most of the year, if we won't lose our taste for azaleas. Even quail on toast every day in the year would grow tiresome, so it is said. Of course, we plant to have either foliage, berries or bloom at all times during the year. But azalea blooms are so beautifully over powering. These two ever blooming varieties are only checked by very cold weather, blossoming out again in a few weeks. However, I'm sure it will bea a number of years before we'll find this ever bloomer in our nurseries in the south.

January Garden Work

You can plant gladiola bulbs now. They like good loamy soil as most plants do. Good bulbs are your best buy.

It's time to fertilize your pecan trees. 8-8-8 or 6-8-8 or 5-10-5. Apply two pounds for each year of age of the tree. Punch a series of holes in the ground with a pipe around the tree and pour the fertilizer in the holes. Begin punching the holes well away from the trunk that is halfway between the trunk and the tips of the branches. Any shade tree can be fertilized by this same method.

Don't forget to get out some pine trees. You'll be growing your own mulch, shade and beauty. I met so many disappointed gardeners this last summer, those who didn't want to wait for pines to grow. They went to the woods and dug up four or five foot trees and of course they died. Your bucket plants will give you best results. They're cheap and grow fast and you get all of the tap root. Pines are clannish. They like to grow in a thicket.

I noticed my scilla bulbs are peeping out of the ground. I almost forgot these, there was such a heavy mulch in the beds. Pull the mulch back from around any bulbs that are coming up now and sprinkle a little 5-10-5 or 8-8-8 around each one. Water this down well.

FOOD NOTES

During National Egg Week, why not pep up the meat loaf with garnishes of hard boiled eggs: I noticed at the cafeteria last week that every man in the line chose deviled eggs. That's a dish we neglect preparing some time. So let's give Pop good deviled eggs more often.

Oranges and grapefruit were really cheap this week. While they're a good buy, it's a good idea to pep up winter - weary appetites with sparkling fresh citrus. When buying either at the store these fruits should be firm and heavy for their size, well shaped, and grapefruit skins should be fairly smooth. Of course both should be free from blemishes or bruises. Sometimes oranges have a slightly greenish tinge on the skins, but this does not affect the inside quality. Grapefruit sometimes has a russeting on the skin, but this reddish - brown color doesn't affect the flavor of the fruit. Keep both fruits in a cool place at home. All citrus fruit juices should be kept cold and covered. Oranges and grapefruit are two of our most dependalbe sources of vitamin C. This is the vitamin that can't be stored but must be taken in every day. It's the one that makes you glow and go and helps to keep down infectious colds.

Here and There

News for men! The president of the hat association of America says the hatless fad is dying out. Furthermore, men have a bigger variety of new styles and colors to choose from this spring than ever before.

Before long, it seems there will be no waste from anything in this great country of ours. A very smart gentleman has found a way to make a cheap plastic out of sawdust and resin. Also, croquet balls, chair seats, salad bowls, toys and women's shoe heels can utilize this sawdust. Please leave us some for mulching, Mr. Chemists.

A resourceful housewife, (she said not use her name) has the niftiest planting box in her kitchen window. She used a simple, unframed, rectangular plate glass mirror. Under it she fastened a painted wooden trough to be planted or to hold individual pot plants. The mirror furnishes her a mirror for nose powdering and at the same time the plants are reflected and it doubles the appearance of green.

Growing in popularity in north Louisiana homes are colorful and attractive old maps, mounted and framed. Some select a map of the country of their ancestors, some a place they have visited or hope to. They certainly make inexpensive and interesting wall ornaments.

While non-fat dry milk is plentiful, remember it can be whipped for toppings. Here is the recipe: ½ cup ice cold water; ½ cup nonfat dry milk; ½ cup sugar; 2 tablespoons lemon juice. Place water in bowl and add the nonfat dry milk. Beat with electric mixer or with a rotary beater until stiff. This will take less time if bowl and beater are ice cold. It can be done by hand in 5 to 10 minutes. Add sugar gradually, continuing to beat. Add lemon juice and beat until it is mixed in. About 2½ cups topping.

The calcium in milk helps muscles from getting tired, especially heart muscles. Have you had your three glasses today?

Want To Go?

A group of gardners are planning to charter a bus and go to Bellingrath Gardens next month. If you are interested, call Mrs. W. E. Young, telephone 2-1058. Correction! The azalea I mentioned last Sunday is Judge Solomon instead of King Solomon. See you next Sunday.

Garden Center Notes

By Mary M. Jardine

Growing Better Plants Is Clubs Objective

One of the main objectives of the Federated Garden Clubs of America is to stimulate interest in growing better plants. We are always so happy when our horticulture classes at the Garden Center have blue ribbon specimens in them. The Jonesboro - Hodge Garden Club had all blue ribbons in the horticulture class and two blue ribbons in the arrangement class. Mrs. R. L. Vining and Mrs. Malcolm Hood of Ruston served as judges. Blue ribbons were awarded as follows: Mrs. W. O. Corley for Professor Sargent camellia. Mrs. Wilbur McDonald for paperwhite narcissus and for Species Amaryllis Rutila variety fulgida. This is the dainty salmon pink with the chartreuse star in the throat. In the arrangement class first place blue ribbon was awarded to Mrs. Wilbur McDonald and Mrs. Lewis Waldrip. For a container these arrangers chose a free-form flat bowl in desert gold. The design was a most beautiful right angle triangle created with pale yellow gladiolus and native iris foliage. Deeper yellow carnations were effectively grouped in the focal area. Second place blue ribbon was awarded to Mrs. Ruby Cooper and Mrs. A. H. Mathews. In a round bowl of pale pink they created a mass arrangement of snapdragons, in purple shading into red - violet. The color combination was lovely. Third place was awarded to Mrs. Mabel Gatlin and Mrs. G. W. Acklin. Using a low black container these arrangers designed a striking mass arrangement of aspidistra leaves and large white daisy type chrysanthemums. The yellow - green of the centers was picked up in the foliage.

Mr. John A. Wright, flower show school chairman announces that school no. II is scheduled for March 14, 15 and 16, 1955 in Ruston. Mrs. R. E. Creighton and Mr. C. G. Hobgood are the instructors. Even if you missed school I you can start now and continue the series. Every garden club member who participates in helping to stage a flower show should attend the special demonstration by Mrs. Creighton, that is "Schedule Interpretation." This demonstration will be held at 2:00 p. m. on Friday, March 11, 1955. National council and the state officers are urging that we emphasize the value of these schools to gardeners and arrangers aside from the accredited-judge aspect. Club presidents! Please point out to your members these values (See your Louisiana Garden Club Newsletter of October, 1954.) It would be wonderful to have every garden club member a gardener and arranger!

As Wyndham Hayward so aptly expresses it, every year about this time we begin to feel the annual amaryllis fever. New amaryllis catalogs are at hand and the bulbs ordered earlier and potted up are beginning to bloom. Mrs. Ann Gossett has on display at the center this week her beautiful fantasy amaryllis. There are two bloom stalks, each one with four flowers to the scape. This is my favorite of them all and the following description does not express the delicate beauty of this lovely flower. A striking rose - pink base color with beautiful velvety broad petal texture, flat face type. The throat is white shading into chartreuse and a lighter pink coloring on the three lower petals. There is a wide variety of named varieties of the Dutch hybrid amaryllis on the market and the price range is well within the reach of all gardeners. Of course, the newer the variety, the higher the price. A good book to study is Peggy Schulz' "How to Grow Amaryllis" . . . Dr. Hamilton P. Traub's new book, "The Complete Amaryllis Handbook" written in popular style for dirt gardeners has been accepted for publication and will appear late in 1955. This will contain the last word in amaryllis information. Dr. Traub has been the editor of "Herbertia," yearbook of the American Plant Life Society for 20 years, an annual devoted mainly to the amaryllis and related subjects.

SOUTHERN GARDENER—

Camellias Need Care In Winter

It looks as if old man Weather may send us more sleet and snow before the Winter is gone. For this, we should all be thankful because it will mean less watering next summer. Sleet and snow are apt to pile up on the roof and then come down in an avalanche and simply decimate any shrubs which are right under the eaves and as far as five feet out from the house. Your favorite camellias should never have been planted in such a position if they were. You can see that they must be moved to some other position because we are on the snow line and can always expect to have some snow in most winters. It takes only one roof avalanche to chop up a fine shrub and break it all to pieces. If you have escaped so far with your foundation shrubs, you had better be ready with some long poles at hand to make a sort of Indian teepee-shaped protection around any vulnerable plants when the next sleet or snow falls on your roof. Of course, this is a nuisance, but the teepee will save your planting for this year, and you can transplant the shrubs next fall.

If your shrubs have become large during the past snowless winters, you will need a stepladder to get up high enough to set up the teepee. A piece of window sash cord can be tied firmly to one pole. As other poles are handed to you, make each one firm with the cord until all are very firmly tied together. Remember that the snow will simply demolish your structure if it is not very strong. The poles need to be placed about one foot apart to break the fall of the snow when it comes down. This kind of structure will scatter the mass of ice or snow and prevent it from smashing down onto a shrub with its full weight. If the ends of the poles are sharpened and stuck into the ground as you set it up, it will not be difficult to erect. A box or rectangular shaped protector has to be made out of really powerful lumber to resist the weight of snow because the snow hits it with all its weight whereas the teepee-shaped cover will break up the mass as it falls and scatter it.

Our lack of a winter cover of snow here in the South is the reason for our inability to grow all those beautiful little alpine rock plants we see in Northern catalogues. Don't get the idea, however, that those dazzling little blue gentians and bluebells are tough plants that can stand a lot of winter. They are not. They are sissies compared to our broadleaf evergreens here. Down under the alpine blanket of snow, it is always at least 15 degrees warmer than out in the open air. Furthermore, the air in between the particles of ice in snow is a marvelous insulator which keeps the plants from getting cold. Then there is another factor at work under the snow; the ground is still relatively warm from last summer's heat. Until the snow melts in the spring in the high mountains, the ground has lost very little of its summer temperature. It takes the soil all spring and up into half of the summer before the cold from melting snow can penetrate down as far as ten or fifteen feet. The lower or subsoil is thus always a whole season behind the calendar.

Here in the south where there is little or no snow protection, our plants have to stand out in the open and take the sudden drops of as much as ten degrees per hour for as long as four and five hours. Furthermore, the sudden drops come in on that worst of plant enemies: wind. So it is actually our own plants here which are the tough ones.

PREPAREDNESS FAILS

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. (UP) —A liquor store owner placed a loaded revolver in his coat pocket just in case holdupmen picked him for a New Year's Eve target. Two bandits, one carrying a gun, entered the store and took $225 from the cash register. They also took his gun, which fell out of his pocket during the stickup.

Under it she fastened a painted wooden trough to be planted or to hold individual pot plants. The mirror furnishes her a mirror for nose powdering and at the same time the plants are reflected and it doubles the appearance of green.

Growing in popularity in north Louisiana homes are colorful and attractive old maps, mounted and framed. Some select a map of the country of their ancestors, some a place they have visited or hope to. They certainly make inexpensive and interesting wall ornaments.

While non-fat dry milk is plentiful, remember it can be whipped for toppings. Here is the recipe: ½ cup ice cold water; ½ cup nonfat dry milk; ½ cup sugar; 2 tablespoons lemon juice. Place water in bowl and add the nonfat dry milk. Beat with electric mixer or with a rotary beater until stiff. This will take less time if bowl and beater are ice cold. It can be done by hand in 5 to 10 minutes. Add sugar gradually, continuing to beat. Add lemon juice and beat until it is mixed in. About 2½ cups topping.

The calcium in milk helps muscles from getting tired, especially heart muscles. Have you had your three glasses today?

Want To Go?

A group of gardners are planning to charter a bus and go to Bellingrath Gardens next month. If you are interested, call Mrs. W. E. Young, telephone 2-1058. Correction! The azalea I mentioned last Sunday is Judge Solomon instead of King Solomon. See you next Sunday.

Garden Center Notes

By Mary M. Jardine

Growing Better Plants Is Clubs Objective

One of the main objectives of the Federated Garden Clubs of America is to stimulate interest in growing better plants. We are always so happy when our horticulture classes at the Garden Center have blue ribbon specimens in them. The Jonesboro - Hodge Garden Club had all blue ribbons in the horticulture class and two blue ribbons in the arrangement class. Mrs. R. L. Vining and Mrs. Malcolm Hood of Ruston served as judges. Blue ribbons were awarded as follows: Mrs. W. O. Corley for Professor Sargent camellia. Mrs. Wilbur McDonald for paperwhite narcissus and for Species Amaryllis Rutila variety fulgida. This is the dainty salmon pink with the chartreuse star in the throat. In the arrangement class first place blue ribbon was awarded to Mrs. Wilbur McDonald and Mrs. Lewis Waldrip. For a container these arrangers chose a free-form flat bowl in desert gold. The design was a most beautiful right angle triangle created with pale yellow gladiolus and native iris foliage. Deeper yellow carnations were effectively grouped in the focal area. Second place blue ribbon was awarded to Mrs. Ruby Cooper and Mrs. A. H. Mathews. In a round bowl of pale pink they created a mass arrangement of snapdragons, in purple shading into red - violet. The color combination was lovely. Third place was awarded to Mrs. Mabel Gatlin and Mrs. G. W. Acklin. Using a low black container these arrangers designed a striking mass arrangement of aspidistra leaves and large white daisy type chrysanthemums. The yellow - green of the centers was picked up in the foliage.

Mr. John A. Wright, flower show school chairman announces that school no. II is scheduled for March 14, 15 and 16, 1955 in Ruston. Mrs. R. E. Creighton and Mr. C. G. Hobgood are the instructors. Even if you missed school I you can start now and continue the series. Every garden club member who participates in helping to stage a flower show should attend the special demonstration by Mrs. Creighton, that is "Schedule Interpretation." This demonstration will be held at 2:00 p. m. on Friday, March 11, 1955. National council and the state officers are urging that we emphasize the value of these schools to gardeners and arrangers aside from the accredited-judge aspect. Club presidents! Please point out to your members these values (See your Louisiana Garden Club Newsletter of October, 1954.) It would be wonderful to have every garden club member a gardener and arranger!

As Wyndham Hayward so aptly expresses it, every year about this time we begin to feel the annual amaryllis fever. New amaryllis catalogs are at hand and the bulbs ordered earlier and potted up are beginning to bloom. Mrs. Ann Gossett has on display at the center this week her beautiful fantasy amaryllis. There are two bloom stalks, each one with four flowers to the scape. This is my favorite of them all and the following description does not express the delicate beauty of this lovely flower. A striking rose - pink base color with beautiful velvety broad petal texture, flat face type. The throat is white shading into chartreuse and a lighter pink coloring on the three lower petals. There is a wide variety of named varieties of the Dutch hybrid amaryllis on the market and the price range is well within the reach of all gardeners. Of course, the newer the variety, the higher the price. A good book to study is Peggy Schulz' "How to Grow Amaryllis" . . . Dr. Hamilton P. Traub's new book, "The Complete Amaryllis Handbook" written in popular style for dirt gardeners has been accepted for publication and will appear late in 1955. This will contain the last word in amaryllis information. Dr. Traub has been the editor of "Herbertia," yearbook of the American Plant Life Society for 20 years, an annual devoted mainly to the amaryllis and related subjects.

SOUTHERN GARDENER—

By William Lanier Hunt

Camellias Need Care In Winter

It looks as if old man Weather may send us more sleet and snow before the Winter is gone. For this, we should all be thankful because it will mean less watering next summer. Sleet and snow are apt to pile up on the roof and then come down in an avalanche and simply decimate any shrubs which are right under the eaves and as far as five feet out from the house. Your favorite camellias should never have been planted in such a position if they were. You can see that they must be moved to some other position because we are on the snow line and can always expect to have some snow in most winters. It takes only one roof avalanche to chop up a fine shrub and break it all to pieces. If you have escaped so far with your foundation shrubs, you had better be ready with some long poles at hand to make a sort of Indian teepee-shaped protection around any vulnerable plants when the next sleet or snow falls on your roof. Of course, this is a nuisance, but the teepee will save your planting for this year, and you can transplant the shrubs next fall.

If your shrubs have become large during the past snowless winters, you will need a stepladder to get up high enough to set up the teepee. A piece of window sash cord can be tied firmly to one pole. As other poles are handed to you, make each one firm with the cord until all are very firmly tied together. Remember that the snow will simply demolish your structure if it is not very strong. The poles need to be placed about one foot apart to break the fall of the snow when it comes down. This kind of structure will scatter the mass of ice or snow and prevent it from smashing down onto a shrub with its full weight. If the ends of the poles are sharpened and stuck into the ground as you set it up, it will not be difficult to erect. A box or rectangular shaped protector has to be made out of really powerful lumber to resist the weight of snow because the snow hits it with all its weight whereas the teepee-shaped cover will break up the mass as it falls and scatter it.

Our lack of a winter cover of snow here in the South is the reason for our inability to grow all those beautiful little alpine rock plants we see in Northern catalogues. Don't get the idea, however, that those dazzling little blue gentians and bluebells are tough plants that can stand a lot of winter. They are not. They are sissies compared to our broadleaf evergreens here. Down under the alpine blanket of snow, it is always at least 15 degrees warmer than out in the open air. Furthermore, the air in between the particles of ice in snow is a marvelous insulator which keeps the plants from getting cold. Then there is another factor at work under the snow; the ground is still relatively warm from last summer's heat. Until the snow melts in the spring in the high mountains, the ground has lost very little of its summer temperature. It takes the soil all spring and up into half of the summer before the cold from melting snow can penetrate down as far as ten or fifteen feet. The lower or subsoil is thus always a whole season behind the calendar.

Here in the south where there is little or no snow protection, our plants have to stand out in the open and take the sudden drops of as much as ten degrees per hour for as long as four and five hours. Furthermore, the sudden drops come in on that worst of plant enemies: wind. So it is actually our own plants here which are the tough ones.

PREPAREDNESS FAILS

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. (UP) —A liquor store owner placed a loaded revolver in his coat pocket just in case holdupmen picked him for a New Year's Eve target. Two bandits, one carrying a gun, entered the store and took $225 from the cash register. They also took his gun, which fell out of his pocket during the stickup.

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D. Sc.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. No teenager, even the expert dater, knows it all, and he may be making serious mistakes without realizing them. The poor daters need such advice more than math or geometry. Indeed, healthy and carefree social life helps a young person to be better adjusted and more able to give attention to his studies. Our new booklet, "What Teenagers Should Know About Life and Love," will help teenagers on the dating problem. Non-profit. 15 cents (coin only) plus self - addressed, stamped envelope.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. No. Sociologist Howard Baker concludes from interviews with marihuana users that to get a kick out of marihuana is a long, hard learning process. At first, the smoker is disappointed, but he is egged on by other users until the habit finally "gets him." Fortunately, many give it up after trying their darndest to find any fun in it. Why start?

Answer to Question No. 3

3. Yes, when they find two marriages in five fail, several million children are without classrooms or teachers, few parents give adequate sex education to their children, millions of people die of cancer because they put off or fear seeking medical care, and many other foolish things. They will have every right to regard us as having been social and political morons if they are any better themselves.

How You, Too, Can Be Popular

Want people to like you? Then follow the simple methods outlined in the 28-page booklet, How You, Too, Can Be Popular. Contains tests and 14 easily applied rules. For your copy, send 15 cents (coin only) plus self-addressed, stamped envelope, give name of city and state to Dr. A. E. Wiggam, care of Morning World.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 heart	Pass	3 hearts	Pass
4 diamonds	Double	4 spades	Pass
5 clubs	Pass	5 spades	Pass
6 hearts	Pass	Pass	Double
Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Queen of diamonds.

The number of gadget happy bridge players has shown a marked increase in recent years. Nothing pleases these characters more than the development of a new convention to be added to their already great collection. So laden down with devices are some of these players that they cannot see the forest for the trees. I, for one, am not convention minded and where the natural common sense methods will serve the purpose just as well, I make every effort to avoid the artificial. However, there are some conventions which serve a purpose unattainable by natural methods and these I incorporate firmly into my system. One of them is the slam double convention which was designed to direct partner's lead against a slam. It provides that where a slam (particularly in a suit) is doubled by the player not on lead, partner must lead the first side suit bid by dummy. This would have called for a spade lead in today's hand against which declarer would have found himself helpless.

The bidding was natural enough though West's double of four diamonds was an empty gesture if ever there was one. He himself would be on lead against the eventual heart contract and the only purpose it could serve was to inform the enemy of his length in diamonds.

West opened the diamond queen, an act which placed East in the throes of agonizing pain. To declarer, however, it brought little comfort, for it appeared to him that he had been granted only a momentary reprieve. The double of six hearts left no doubt in his mind that the spade finesse would lose for East was marked with the king almost to a certainty.

South was about to resign himself to the forlorn hope of the spade finesse when it occurred to him that the hand could be won if he were lucky enough to find East with the lone ace of hearts. On this basis he cashed the ace and king of diamonds and then the three high clubs, taking a deep breath in the process. He then played the ten of hearts. East perforce won with the ace and could return nothing which would prevent declarer from running off with his contract.

Northeast State Registration Set Wed. And Thurs.

Spring semester registration at Northeast State is scheduled for Wednesday and Thursday, with regular classes meeting Friday.

Enrollment for Saturday morning studies is set for Saturday and students scheduling late afternoon or evening courses will register at the first meeting of the class.

Registration for regular students will follow an alphabetical procedure, which has proved convenient for them in past years, Northeast State officials announced.

The schedule for Wednesday is planned according to the following alphabetical arrangement: A-B, 8-9 a.m.; C, 9-10 a.m.; D, 10-11 a.m.; E-F, 11-12 a.m.; G-H-I, 1-2 p.m.; J-K-L, 2-3 p.m.; Mc, 3-4 p.m.

Registration for Thursday is scheduled as follows: MN, 8-9 a.m.; O-P-Q, 9-10 a.m.; R, 10-11 a.m.; S, 11-12 a.m.; T-U-V, 1-2 p.m.; W, 2-3 p.m.; X-Y-Z, 3-4 p.m.

Transfer students and others entering Northeast State for the first time are requested to bring their transcripts of credits to facilitate enrolling. Veterans who plan to register here for the first time are asked to have their certificates of eligibility to prevent delay in registering.

The spring program of studies is designed to offer enough beginning classes to prove second semester work practical for students who graduate at mid-term and for other persons who desire to schedule classes at this time. Students will have opportunity to carry a full program of courses, college officials announced.

Prospective enrollees who wish to obtain additional information pertaining to spring semester studies may call or confer with Dean William M. Smith, whose office is in Brown Hall. Information may concern regular classes or those which are being offered on Saturday morning, in the late afternoon or evening.

Concordia Jury Gives Decision

FERRIDAY, Jan. 29 (Special)—The Concordia parish police jury found in its lap last week two touchy subjects — liquor and a stock law, and after a show of heat by various factions involved arrived at decisions.

The liquor question concerned the eighth ward (Clayton), and a petition submitted by qualified voters asking for an election on the question if banning the sale of whiskey and wine in the eighth ward.

District Attorney D. W. Gibson, Harrisonburg, gave an opinion on the procedure of filing the petition which he said was short a day of the legal limit allowed before it can be considered at a regular meeting of the police jury. He said the petition was not properly certified.

Warren Hunt, Rayville attorney, said he represented a faction opposing the petitioners, and filed a written protest contesting the election.

W. Earl Hotalen, Baton Rouge, executive director, Louisiana Moral and Civic Foundation, Inc., contended that the proper time had elapsed and it was up to the police jury to call the election.

Police jurors voted to abide by the ruling of their legal adviser, the district attorney, and to ask that the eighth ward residents draw up another petition to follow the proper procedure.

Herman Gibson, Ferriday, president of the police jury, said that this would cause the eighth ward petitioners to lose 30 days, but that if the legality of the petition were brought into court that the petitioners would lose perhaps two years while the contest was on.

Little Theatre Curtain Call

By MARION FISHER

Hello there — Friday night wound up two and a half weeks of rehearsals of "Affairs of State," and brings the cast to the point of blocking Act III. Noticeably absent from the crew was Alice Magourik who plays the part of "Irene." She was kept at home by the illness of her small son. The players showed a feeling of being at home, less nervous tension, and an awareness of the characterization of their roles, which indicated a fair degree of progress. We feel that it is only fair to warn you, in advance, that there is a great deal of subtle plot development underlying the clever humor that enhances each scene of this amusing play.

Director Thom Feuerstein has received a letter of appreciation from Elmer D. Burke, chief of special services, Veterans Hospital of Alexandria, La. He wishes to thank the cast, the crew, and all others who accompanied them to Alexandira, to present "My Three Angels," for the entertainment of the veterans, in a pre - Christmas program, on Dec. 10.

The Twin Cities Concert Association, Inc. will present the internationally famous Yehudi Menuhin, on Wednesday February 2, at Neville High School auditorium. This is a rich treat, in store, for all who hold membership cards.

There will be a meeting of the Monroe - West Monroe Symphony Orchestra Association, Monday night, January 31.

Personal Notes — Willis "Lamar" Mullican, of L. T. I. will assume his new duties as teacher, on Monday January 31. He will conduct two classes in remedial speech corrections, two regular high school classes in speech, with emphasis on drama, and is also planning a major dramatic production, this spring.

TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT FOR:

JUNIOR EDITORS

A TOTEM POLE

Totem poles are carved by Alaskan Indians from the trunks of tall trees and are painted in bright reds, blues and greens. Each Indian tribe has a different pole. The strange figure at the very top of a pole represents the bird or animal believed to have founded the tribe. You can make your own totem pole.

1. Use crayon to color the designs and faces on the pole. Leave the teeth and eyeballs white to contrast with the bright colors.

2. Cut out the four large parts of the picture and arrange them in the proper order—first the largest part, then the middle, bottom and base. Make a tube about one inch in diameter by rolling up a piece of stiff paper. Fasten the pictures to it with paste, letting the wings of the thunder bird stick out. If the tube is too long, cut off part of it. Now your totem pole will look something like the one in the small drawing.

1. No teenager, even the expert dater, knows it all, and he may be making serious mistakes without realizing them. The poor daters need such advice more than math or geometry. Indeed, healthy and carefree social life helps a young person to be better adjusted and more able to give attention to his studies. Our new booklet, "What Teenagers Should Know About Life and Love," will help teenagers on the dating problem. Non-profit. 15 cents (coin only) plus self - addressed, stamped envelope.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. No. Sociologist Howard Baker concludes from interviews with marihuana users that to get a kick out of marihuana is a long, hard learning process. At first, the smoker is disappointed, but he is egged on by other users until the habit finally "gets him." Fortunately, many give it up after trying their darndest to find any fun in it. Why start?

Answer to Question No. 3

3. Yes, when they find two marriages in five fail, several million children are without classrooms or teachers, few parents give adequate sex education to their children, millions of people die of cancer because they put off or fear seeking medical care, and many other foolish things. They will have every right to regard us as having been social and political moronsif they are any better themselves.

How You, Too, Can Be Popular

Want people to like you? Then follow the simple methods outlined in the 28-page booklet, How You, Too, Can Be Popular. Contains tests and 14 easily applied rules. The number of gadget happy bridge players has shown a marked increase in recent years. Nothing pleases these characters more than the development of a new convention to be added to their already great collection. So laden down with devices are some of these players that they cannot see the forest for the trees. I, for one, am not convention minded and where the natural common sense methods will serve the purpose just as well, I make every effort to avoid the artificial. However, there are some conventions which serve a purpose unattainable by natural methods and these I incorporate firmly into my system. One of them is the slam double convention which was designed to direct partner's lead against a slam. It provides that where a slam (particularly in a suit) is doubled by the player not on lead, partner must lead the first side suit bid by dummy. This would have called for a spade lead in today's hand against which declarer would have found himself helpless.

Tht bidding was natural enough though West's double of four diamonds was an empty gesture if ever there was one. He himself would be on lead against the eventual heart contract and the only purpose it could serve was to inform the enemyof his length in diamonds.

West opened the diamond queen, an act which placed East in the throes of agonizing pain. To declarer, however, it brought little comfort, for it appeared to him that he had been granted only a momentary reprieve. The double of six hearts left no doubt in his mind that the spade finesse would lose for East was marked with the king, almost to a certainty.

South was about to resign himself to the forlorn hope of the spade finesse when it occurred to him that the hand could be won if he were lucky enough to find East with the lone ace of hearts. On this basis he cashed the ace and king of diamonds and then the three high clubs, taking a deep breath in the process. He then played the ten of hearts. East perforce won with the ace and could return nothing which would prevent declarer from running off with his contract.

Northeast State Registration Set Wed. And Thurs.

Spring semester registration at Northeast State is scheduled for Wednesday and Thursday, with regular classes meeting Friday.

Enrollment for Saturday morning studies is set for Saturday and students scheduling late afternoon or evening courses will register at the first meeting of the class.

Registration for regular students will follow an alphabetical procedure, which has proved convenient for them in past years, Northeast State officials announced.

The schedule for Wednesday is planned according to the following alphabetical arrangement: A-B, 8-9 a.m.; C, 9-10 a.m.; D, 10-11 a.m.; E-F, 11-12 a.m.; G-H-I, 1-2 p.m.; J-K-L, 2-3 p.m.; Mc, 3-4 p.m.

Registration for Thursday is scheduled as follows: MN, 8-9 a.m.; O-P-Q, 9-10 a.m.; R, 10-11 a.m.; S, 11-12 a.m.; T-U-V, 1-2 p.m.; W, 2-3 p.m.; X-Y-Z, 3-4 p.m.

Transfer students and others entering Northeast State for the first time are requested to bring their transcripts of credits to facilitate enrolling. Veterans who plan to register here for the first time are asked to have their certificates of eligibility to prevent delay in registering.

The spring program of studies is designed to offer enough beginning classes to prove second semester work practical for students who graduate at mid-term and for other persons who desire to schedule classes at this time. Students will have opportunity to carry a full program of courses, college officials announced.

Prospective enrollees who wish to obtain additional information pertaining to spring semester studies may call or confer with Dean William M. Smith, whose office is in Brown Hall. Information may concern regular classes or those which are being offered on Saturday morning, in the late afternoon or evening.

Concordia Jury Gives Decision

FERRIDAY, Jan. 29 (Special)—The Concordia parish police jury found in its lap last week two touchy subjects — liquor and a stock law, and after a show of heat by various factions involved arrived at decisions.

The liquor question concerned the eighth ward (Clayton), and a petition submitted by qualified voters asking for an election on the question if banning the sale of whiskey and wine in the eighth ward.

District Attorney D. W. Gibson, Harrisonburg, gave an opinion on the procedure of filing the petition which he said was short a day of the legal limit allowed before it can be considered at a regular meeting of the police jury. He said the petition was not properly certified.

Warren Hunt, Rayville attorney, said he represented a faction opposing the petitioners, and filed a written protest contesting the election.

W. Earl Hotalen, Baton Rouge, executive director, Louisiana Moral and Civic Foundation, Inc., contended that the proper time had elapsed and it was up to the police jury to call the election.

Police jurors voted to abide by the ruling of their legal adviser, the district attorney, and to ask that the eighth ward residents draw up another petition to follow the proper procedure.

Herman Gibson, Ferriday, president of the police jury, said that this would cause the eighth ward petitioners to lose 30 days, but that if the legality of the petition were brought into court that the petitioners would lose perhaps two years while the contest was on.

Little Theatre Curtain Call

By MARION FISHER

Hello there — Friday night wound up two and a half weeks of rehearsals of "Affairs of State," and brings the cast to the point of blocking Act III. Noticeably absent from the crew was Alice Magourik who plays the part of "Irene." She was kept at home by the illness of her small son. The players showed a feeling of being at home, less nervous tension, and an awareness of the characterization of their roles, which indicated a fair degree of progress. We feel that it is only fair to warn you, in advance, that there is a great deal of subtle plot development underlying the clever humor that enhances each scene of this amusing play.

Director Thom Feuerstein has received a letter of appreciation from Elmer D. Burke, chief of special services, Veterans Hospital of Alexandria, La. He wishes to thank the cast, the crew, and all others who accompanied them to Alexandira, to present "My Three Angels," for the entertainment of the veterans, in a pre - Christmas program, on Dec. 10.

TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT FOR:

JUNIOR EDITORS

A TOTEM POLE

Totem poles are carved by Alaskan Indians from the trunks of tall trees and are painted in bright reds, blues and greens. Each Indian tribe has a different pole. The strange figure at the very top of a pole represents the bird or animal believed to have founded the tribe. You can make your own totem pole.

1. Use crayon to color the designs and faces on the pole. Leave the teeth and eyeballs white to contrast with the bright colors.

2. Cut out the four large parts of the picture and arrange them in the proper order—first the largest part, then the middle, bottom and base. Make a tube about one inch in diameter by rolling up a piece of stiff paper. Fasten the pictures to it with paste, letting the wings of the thunder bird stick out. If the tube is too long, cut off part of it. Now your totem pole will look something like the one in the small drawing.

In Hollywood

By Jimmy Fidler

By HERB ROGERS
(Guest Columnist)

Good Old Days

HOLLYWOOD, January 29 — Far too many hopefuls, ambitious for careers in Hollywood and other phases of show business, in my humble opinion are trying to imitate somebody else instead of just being themselves.

Years ago, when Hollywood was lusty and young, the screen's leading personalities had an individual flavor. Even if you don't remember those "good old days," just look at some of the old - time movies, now being shown on television, and the chances are you'll realize how individual many of the early stars were in that era. Great personalities like Valentino, Fairbanks, Pickford and so on (and I'll admit this was before my time in the entertainment business) were not regimented in their appearance.

Nowadays, there seems to be a tendency, clearly expressed in Hollywood in many instances, to mold a young player in a certain approved pattern. Some of this fault, too, may be due to studio casting, which is seeking for another Marilyn Monroe or another Robert Taylor. But when this technique destroys the player's original character and flavor, it often can be detrimental. In a number of instances, the very element which caused a studio to sign a prospective star has been lost because of what might be described as "overgrooming."

I personally feel that the grooming process should accent, rather than impair, the original flavor and appearance of young players. Of course, when the candidate has glamour architecture, it would be folly to disturb such a setting. Professionally, that is.

In my productions, I try to bring out individuality rather than routine it to the point of extinction. Two of my projects involve legitimate theaters, one the Palm Springs Playhouse in the famous desert resort in southern California and the other a similar undertaking at Highland Park, in Chicago. Both have afforded me splendid opportunities to work with young and talented players and I have always made it my policy to stress, rather than to eradicate, their individual personalities.

One tremendous advantage, from the angle of a newcomer in pictures and show business in general, is found in working in theaters such as my playhouse at Palm Springs, which, incidentally, is a little more than 100 miles from Hollywood. Actors with their eyes on the movie business have a chance to play all sorts of roles in the course of the season, which provides them with an experience which cannot ordinarily be obtained through motion picture work. In contrast to pictures, in which actors and actresses are seldom required to learn long scenes with many "sides," legitimate theater work is much more demanding. Players, of course, are compelled to go through a show which runs approximately two hours, with two intermissions, with their entire part in their memory, as compared with the short "takes" common in motion pictures.

Motion pictures more and more are turning to theater-trained players as they develop new personalities. Not only are such players better processed, by arduous experience but they also have developed greater individuality than often found among players whose careers originated and unfolded in the film business. They are expert in sustaining a performance, which has the effect of giving it a validity and smoothness not always found in Hollywood - grown talent.

The basic ingredients in many a Hollywood screen success is provided by the performances of character players, most of whom are far removed from the glamour department. Intent upon developing their talents regardless of looking pretty or not, these splendid troupers have generally maintained their individuality — and their work has benefitted enormously from this legitimate flavor, undiluted by excessive grooming and generally pretzying - up. And the public, smart in recognizing real quality, is aware of the fact that these players look and act like genuine people, not counterfeits out of a studio makeup and wardrobe department.

Briefly, be yourself, professionally, at least, if you're ambitious to become a top screen personality. It will pay off with an individuality which has a positive commercial value, too.

Now Even 'Faust' Is Changed By Communist Radio

Subsequently, the Voice of America took note of the absence of the important final passages from the Gounod classic as broadcast direct from the state theatre in Vilnius.

"Omitted from the Vilnius radio version," said the Voice broadcast, "was the famous last chorus when Marguerite, leaving the damned and anguished Faust, is borne repentant to heaven. The opera, as written by Gounod, closes with a magnificent final paean to Christ, the Redeemer resurrected, with these words: 'Saved, Saved, Christ is Risen; Christ will be reborn; peace and happiness to the followers of the Master; Christ will be reborn; Christ is risen.' "

"This passage," the Voice continued, "was deleted by Radio Vilnius, and instead, the Vilnius version closed with Faust's agonized shout of fear and a few fading bars of music as Mephistofeles appears to take him to his eternal punishment."

Changing of the original lyrics of the Gounod opera was regarded by the U. S. information agency as another example of the Communists' efforts to suppress religious manifestations.

QUESTION: Since my husband's death, I don't care whether I live or not. What can I do to get a new grip on life? S. E.

ANSWER: The loss of a loved one is always hard to bear, but it comes to all of us sooner or later. It is useless, though, to say this lessens your grief, or that someone else is left in a plight worse than yours. It is equally futile to try to heal your wound by a busy round of meaningless activity. New scenes and new interests may help some, but they can never provide a cure for your loneliness and despair.

Instead, find a Christian friend and share your sorrow with her. Or talk to your minister. Do not try to bury your grief deep in your heart. Shakespeare was right when he said, "A sorrow shared is a sorrow halved." Never forget that Jesus is your best and most understanding friend. He knows what sorrow is. Share yours with Him.

Then find someone who is in need, and try to bring a ray of sunshine into that life. God has so made us that when we bring joy to another some of it is reflected in our own souls.

You must accept your loss, and ask God to help you bear it. The Bible says: "Thou therefore endure hardness as a good soldier of Jesus Christ." (11 Timothy 2: 3). Ask God how you can use this difficult hour to witness for Him.

Nolan was recognized for the valuable contributions that he has made to 4-H Club work.

Ed Nelson, public relations representative of United Gas company, was the guest speaker and announced that the Farmerville senior 4-H club had won, for the second year, the best community club award in the northeast district.

David Rogers, president of the club, said in receiving the award, "we couldn't have won this award without the hard work of the club members and the excellent cooperation of our leaders."

Cooper, Lancaster Star In New Film 'Vera Cruz'

The pageantry, the splendor, the intrigue and the bloody conflict that characterized Mexico under the rule of the ill-fated Emperor Maximilian, supplies the historic background of "Vera Cruz," new Technicolor-Superscope film opening today at the Paramount Theatre through United Artists release.

A Hecht - Lancaster production filmed entirely on location in various sections of Mexico, "Vera Cruz" co-stars Gary Cooper, Burt Lancaster, Cesar Romero and Denise Darcel, and introduces Sarita Montiel, a new Latin bombshell of considerable explosive force.

As a "Vera Cruz" bad man, Gary Cooper is in his element. He plays the part of Ben Trane, a deadly gunman—a role in the tradition of his brilliant portrayal of the bedevilled sheriff of "High Noon." Coop, who has played every sort of part in the book—from sophisticated drawing-room comedy to heavy social drama—admits that the role he likes best is the type he plays in "Vera Cruz."

Cesar Romero, the screen's noted Latin from Manhattan (he was born in the heart of Gotham, of Cuban parentage), appears in "Vera Cruz" as an elegant French Marquis, an agent of Maximilian.

Sarita Montiel, who makes her debut in an English-language film with her role of a lady-pickpocket in "Vera Cruz," is a twenty-two-year-old bundle of energy who appears to be the hottest thing to come out of Mexico since Lupe Velez.

'Cattle Queen' Is Story Of The West's Frontier

Director Allan Dwan and his assistants set something of a Hollywood record when they filmed an entire sequence of extremely dangerous action for "Cattle Queen of Montana" without a single injury to any participants.

Careful planning resulted in this safety record but the resulting action shown on the screen stamps this RKO-Benedict Bogeaus Technicolor production, which comes to the Jim Theater on Wednesday as one of the most thrilling in which either of its co - stars, Barbara Stanwyck and Ronald Reagan, has appeared.

The sequence focuses on a cattle stampede in which 1500 charging frantic animals participated. Platforms were built in trees for two motion picture cameras, while three others were placed in heavily boarded - over pits. Before the 23 Hollywood stuntmen and two-score wranglers from the Montana region where the scenes were filmed set the cattle off by warwhoops and shots in the air, all crew members not actually working with the cameras were taken out of the area by car. Camera crews were instructed to remain in their places until an all-clear signal was sounded, and during the action they were provided with damp gauze nose and mouth masks to protect them from the great clouds of dust raised.

In Hollywood

Good Old Days

HOLLYWOOD, January 29 — Far too many hopefuls, ambitious for careers in Hollywood and other phases of show business, in my humble opinion are trying to imitate somebody else instead of just being themselves.

Years ago, when Hollywood was lusty and young, the screen's leading personalities had an individual flavor. Even if you don't remember those "good old days," just look at some of the old - time movies, now being shown on television, and the chances are you'll realize how individual many of the early stars were in that era. Great personalities like Valentino, Fairbanks, Pickford and so on (and I'll admit this was before my time in the entertainment business) were not regimented in their appearance.

Nowadays, there seems to be a tendency, clearly expressed in Hollywood in many instances, to mold a young player in a certain approved pattern. Some of this fault, too, may be due to studio casting, which is seeking for another Marilyn Monroe or another Robert Taylor. But when this technique destroys the player's original character and flavor, it often can be detrimental. In a number of instances, the very element which caused a studio to sign a prospective star has been lost because of what might be described as "over-grooming."

I personally feel that the grooming process should accent, rather than impair, the original flavor and appearance of young players. Of course, when the candidate has glamour architecture, it would be folly to disturb such a setting. Professionally, that is.

In my productions, I try to bring out individuality rather than routine it to the point of extinction. Two of my projects involve legitimate theaters, one the Palm Springs Playhouse in the famous desert resort in southern California and the other a similar undertaking at Highland Park, in Chicago. Both have afforded me splendid opportunities to work with young and talented players and I have always made it my policy to stress, rather than to eradicate, their individual personalities.

One tremendous advantage, from the angle of a newcomer in pictures and show business in general, is found in working in theaters such as my playhouse at Palm Springs, which, incidentally, is a little more than 100 miles from Hollywood. Actors with their eyes on the movie business have a chance to play all sorts of roles in the course of the season, which provides them with an experience which cannot ordinarily be obtained through motion picture work. In contrast to pictures, in which actors and actresses are seldom required to learn long scenes with many "sides," legitimate theater work is much more demanding. Players, of course, are compelled to go through a show which runs approximately two hours, with two intermissions, with their entire part in their memory, as compared with the short "takes" common in motion pictures.

Motion pictures more and more are turning to theater-trained players as they develop new personalities. Not only are such players better processed, by arduous experience but they also have developed greater individuality than often found among players whose careers originated and unfolded in the film business. They are expert in sustaining a performance, which has the effect of giving it a validity and smoothness not always found in Hollywood - grown talent.

The basic ingredients in many a Hollywood screen success is provided by the performances of character players, most of whom are far removed from the glamour department. Intent upon developing their talents regardless of looking pretty or not, these splendid troupers have generally maintained their individuality — and their work has benefitted enormously from this legitimate flavor, undiluted by excessive grooming and generally pretty-ing - up. And the public, smart in recognizing real quality, is aware of the fact that these players look and act like genuine people, not counterfeits out of a studio makeup and wardrobe department.

Briefly, be yourself, professionally, at least, if you're ambitious to become a top screen personality. It will pay off with an individuality which has a positive commercial value, too.

Now Even 'Faust' Is Changed By Communist Radio

The closing theme of religious salvation in Gounod's operatic tragedy, "Faust," was deleted from a radio broadcast of a recent performance of the opera in Soviet-occupied Lithuania, according to the U. S. information agency.

Subsequently, the Voice of America took note of the absence of the important final passages from the Gounod classic as broadcast direct from the state theatre in Vilnius.

"Omitted from the Vilnius radio version," said the Voice broadcast, "was the famous last chorus when Marguerite, leaving the damned and anguished Faust, is borne repentant to heaven. The opera, as written by Gounod, closes with a magnificent final paean to Christ, the Redeemer resurrected, with these words: 'Saved, Saved, Christ is Risen; Christ will be reborn; peace and happiness to the followers of the Master; Christ will be reborn; Christ will be reborn; Christ is risen.' "

"This passage," the Voice continued, "was deleted by Radio Vilnius, and instead, the Vilnius version closed with Faust's agonized shout of fear and a few fading bars of music as Mephistofeles appears to take him to his eternal punishment."

MY ANSWER by Billy Graham

QUESTION: Since my husband's death, I don't care whether I live or not. What can I do to get a new grip on life? S. E.

ANSWER: The loss of a loved one is always hard to bear, but it comes to all of us sooner or later. It is useless, though, to say this lessens your grief, or that someone else is left in a plight worse than yours. It is equally futile to try to heal your wound by a busy round of meaningless activity. New scenes and new interests may help some, but they can never provide a cure for your loneliness and despair.

Instead, find a Christian friend and share your sorrow with her. Or talk to your minister. Do not try to bury your grief deep in your heart. Shakespeare was right when he said, "A sorrow shared is a sorrow halved." Never forget that Jesus is your best and most understanding friend. He knows what sorrow is. Share yours with Him.

Then find someone who is in need, and try to bring a ray of sunshine into that life. God has so made us that when we bring joy to another some of it is reflected in our own souls.

You must accept your loss, and ask God to help you bear it. The Bible says: "Thou therefore endure hardness as a good soldier of Jesus Christ." (11 Timothy 2: 3). Ask God how you can use this difficult hour to witness for Him.

Cooper, Lancaster Star In New Film 'Vera Cruz'

The pageantry, the splendor, the intrigue and the bloody conflict that characterized Mexico under the rule of the ill-fated Emperor Maximilian, supplies the historic background of "Vera Cruz," new Technicolor-Superscope film opening today at the Paramount Theatre through United Artists release.

A Hecht - Lancaster production filmed entirely on location in various sections of Mexico, "Vera Cruz" co-stars Gary Cooper, Burt Lancaster, Cesar Romero and Denise Darcel, and introduces Sarita Montiel, a new Latin bombshell of considerable explosive force.

As a "Vera Cruz" bad man, Gary Cooper is in his element. He plays the part of Ben Trane, a deadly gunman—a role in the tradition of his brilliant portrayal of the bedevilled sheriff of "High Noon." Coop, who has played every sort of part in the book—from sophisticated drawing-room comedy to heavy social drama—admits that the role he likes best is the type he plays in "Vera Cruz."

Cesar Romero, the screen's noted Latin from Manhattan (he was born in the heart of Gotham, of Cuban parentage), appears in "Vera Cruz" as an elegant French Marquis, an agent of Maximilian.

Sarita Montiel, who makes her debut in an English-language film with her role of a lady-pickpocket in "Vera Cruz," is a twenty-two-year-old bundle of energy who appears to be the hottest thing to come out of Mexico since Lupe Velez.

Director Allan Dwan and his assistants set something of a Hollywood record when they filmed an entire sequence of extremely dangerous action for "Cattle Queen of Montana" without a single injury to any participants.

Careful planning resulted in this safety record but the resulting action shown on the screen stamps this RKO-Benedict Bogeaus Technicolor production, which comes to the Jim Theater on Wednesday as one of the most thrilling in which either of its co - stars, Barbara Stanwyck and Ronald Reagan, has appeared.

The sequence focuses on a cattle stampede in which 1500 charging frantic animals participated. Platforms were built in trees for two motion picture cameras, while three others were placed in heavily boarded - over pits. Before the 23 Hollywood stuntmen and two-score wranglers from the Montana region where the scenes were filmed set the cattle off by warwhoops and shots in the air, all crew members not actually working with the cameras were taken out of the area by car. Camera crews were instructed to remain in their places until an all-clear signal was sounded, and during the action they were provided with damp gauze nose and mouth masks to protect them from the great clouds of dust raised.
